'EMANCIPATED MINORS'

Co-Eds Sue Way Back To College

By MARY LEYDECKER

A Marin Superior Court judge today ruled that College of Marin must admit two young women who had been denied entrance to spring semester classes on the grounds they are nonresidents, even though they live in Marin.

Judge Harold J. Haley stated in his order issuing a writ of mandate, however, that he was ruling only in favor of Jane Lev of Forest Knolls and Geraldine Davidson of Mill Valley and not on behalf of other would-be students.

The two 19-year olds had filed the suit on behalf of both themselves and other 18 to 21-year olds denied admission on the grounds they are nonresidents .

The young people affected claim they are "emancipated minors" and can legally have a residence different from their parents.

Miss Lev and Miss Davidson testified at a hearing Feb. 9 that they have been supporting themselves since they left home and both had documents from their parents stating they do not support their children.

The college established a policy last year giving priority for admission to county residents. College officials had excluded the young women and others in their category claiming that their legal residence was the same as their parents. Miss Lev is from New York and Miss Davidson from Sacramento.

The judge's ruling could have had a far-reaching effect throughout the state had he ruled in favor of all such young persons.

What effect the decision will have under the circumstances was not clear today.

Attorney Cecelia Lannon of the Marin Legal Aid Society, who represented the young women, said that she might appeal the part of the judge's decision excluding other such persons. "I don't think it would be a good use of taxpayer's money to go to court in separate action for each of the other persons so affected," she said.

College Supt.-President John A. Grasham declined to comment on the decision until he confers with Thomas Hendricks of the county counsel's office, who represented the college.

Tresses Or Track; Judge Backs Coach's Authority

A federal district judge yesterday upheld the school's grooming rule for athletes, refused to issue an injunction against it and vacated a restraining order which had let the four athletes continue to work out with the team.

Judge George B .Harris said he did not believe that applying the rule in "the setting of this case approximates constitutional propostions."

Requiring the athletes to obey the rule is not an infringement of their constitutional prerogatives, Harris ruled.

The judge linked the case to current turmoil among young people. "In these parlous, troubled times when discipline in certain quarters appears to be an ugly word, it should not be considered unreasonable nor regarded as an impingement of contstituional perogatives, to require plaintiffs to bring themselves within the spirit, purpose and intendments of the questioned rule," he wrote.

The decision will be appealed, said Paul Halvonik, American Civil Liberties Union lawyer who represented the four boys.

The boys worked out yesterday but could be banned from the track unless they appear with haircuts. The rule calls for hair cut above the eyes, ears and collar.

Robert J. Troppmann, Redwood athletic director, said he was pleased by the decision, which he said was for the good of athletics.

Troppman said today the four athletes can continue to work out with the team until district counsel Richard V. Godino gets copies of the court ruling and advises the athletic department how to proceed.

A district spokesman said that administrators will read the text of Harris's ruling and meet with Godino before commenting on the case.

In his four-page ruling, Harris said evidence was introduced to show "athletics provides a unique forum for developing discipline, individual sacrifice and teamwork not available in other school programs" and that long hair could adversely affect performance in certain track events, particularly for sprinters. He also wrote that excessive hair length could interefere with performance of wrestlers, swimmers, gymnasts and baseketball players.

"The record is barren of any evidence . . .that this was an arbitrary and capricious decision," Harris wrote.

The ruling does not affect the four athletes' damage suit

Coast Guard To Abandon Plans At Inverness For Point Reyes

The U.S. Coast Guard, bowing to pressure from the Marin County Board of Supervisors and West Marin residents, probably will abandon a proposed installation near Inverness in favor of a site at Point Reyes Station.

Cmdr. G. O. Lesperance, chief civil engineer of the Coast Guard's 12th District in San Francisco, said today that the agency now is surveying about 40 acres of land in the southern part of Point Reyes Station. It hopes to construct housing for 81 men who would man two radio installations in the area.

The service began looking for a new location after supervisors voted unanimously Aug. 19 to recommend that the Coast Guard "consider an alternate site in the Point Reyes Station area," Lesperance said.

Objection by residents of the Inverness area the Marin County Planning Department and supervisors centered on the high density in the Coast Guard's initial plan, a density of 3.5 dwelling units per acre where the county master plan called for 1.15 in West Marin.

Plans now call for constructing the 36 town houses for married men and four bachelor barracks on the 40 acres, nearly double the 22.5 acres planned in Inverness, with a resulting drop in density to 1.75.

"We left Inverness with our tail between our legs," Lesperance said. "So this time we decided to do it differently."

A representative of the Marin County Planning Department accompanied the Coast Guard on its search for the Point Reyes Station site, said Lesperance.

Lesperance said preliminary discussions with property owners at the site indicated they were willing to sell."We didn't run into any opposition," he said.

Construction of the housing and of the two radio installations, one at Point Reyes and one north of Bolinas, will cost about $4.5 million. Lesperance said the Coast Guard will let the radio station bids Aug. 1 and hopes to have them finished in December 1971.

Construction on the housing will start in November, Lesperance said. They should be ready for occupancy in October 1971.

The Coast Guard is now discussing water and sewerage problems with the North Marin County Water District.

'White Suspect' In Bombing Of Brown Trial Courthouse

COURTHOUSE BOMBING — An explosion early this morning tore out a corner of the Dorchester County Courthouse in Cambridge, Md. It came 24 hours after two men were killed in a bomb explosion in their car at Bel Air, Md., where H. Rap Brown is being tried on charges of incitement to riot and arson in Cambridge in 1967. (UPI Telephoto)

Link To Bel Air Studied

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP) — Maryland state police said today it has "a definite suspect who is white" in the bombing of the Dorchester County Courthouse.

Officials pressed their efforts to determine whether there was any connection between the bombing and the pending trial of H. Rap Brown. Nor was it known whether the bombing of a car in Bel Air Monday night when two Negro men were killed was in any way related.

The whereabouts of Brown, accused of inciting rioting in Cambridge in 1967 remained a mystery.

DETAILS DUE

In announcing that the state police had a suspect in today's bombing, Lt. Col. Thomas Smith said he would release more details at a later time, but for the moment would not elaborate except to say that the explosion was "definitely set." He did not name the suspect.

Brown was arraigned in the Dorchester County Courthouse two years ago on charges of arson and inciting others to commit arson and to riot in Cambridge.

The trial was transferred 70 miles away across Chesapeake Bay and preparations for it started Monday. That same night, a car blew up, killing the two Negro men occupants.

William M. Kunstler, attorney for Brown, said he thought the bombing was related to his client's trial, and a state official said he believed it connected to the car explosion.

STARTED MONDAY

Preparations for the trial had started Monday 70 miles across Chesapeake Bay in Bel Air. The charges of arson, inciting others to commit arson and to riot arose from a speech and subsequent burning of a Negro section in Cambridge in 1967.

"I think everything is related in these two towns now," said Kunstler of the Cambridge bombing, which ripped out a 30-feet section of the courthouse and scattered debris in a 30-yard radius.

THREE-MAN TEAM

A three-man team of Army experts from Ft. Meade inspected the building this morning, as one put it to "check out the other rooms."

Sheriff Ira Johnson said the device had been planted in the women's rest room on the second floor. He said it evidently was a timed explosive because the building had been locked Tuesday afternoon and the blast was at 12:14 a.m.

Cambodians Raid Viet Red Offices

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Young demonstrators protesting the infiltration of Viet Cong troops into Cambodia's border provinces attacked the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese embassies today.

Embassy cars were burned at both establishments, and propaganda documents and other papers were thrown from the office windows. Both buildings seemed to be deserted when the demonstrators appeared.

Cambodia is one of the few countries to have diplomatic relations with both North Vietnam and the Viet Cong's Provisional Revolutionary Government, and Premier Pham Van Dong of North Vietnam has been invited to visit Phnom Penh in May.

The demonstrators carried anti-Viet Cong signs. One said "Dirty Viet Cong, give up your stupid idea of Vietnamizing Cambodia."

The official Khmer News Agency reported earlier that demonstrations against Viet Cong infiltration were held Sunday in Svay Rieng Province, on the border with South Vietnam.

During the early years of the Vietnam war, when it appeared to him that the Viet Cong and North Vietnam were going to win, Cambodia's ruler, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, publicly ignored the presence on his territory of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces and repeatedly castigated the United States and the Saigon government for any intrusions by their forces across his border.

Sihanouk is visiting Paris and would not comment on the attack on embassies. But a spokesman for him said, "Inhabitants of the capital protested against the Viet Cong as they have protested against American bombing."

"That doesn't mean that we are for one camp or the other," he added. "We are neutral. We intend to remain ourselves: neither for the free world or the Socialist camp."

Reagan In Race; Begins Campaign

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan opened his re-election campaign today as a "citizen politician" seeking another four years in office on the basis of "what we have done and what we are trying to accomplish."

The Republican governor headed into populous Southern California, which has nearly 60 per cent of the vote, for his first major campaign address—a luncheon speech today on his administration's fight against smog.

The 59-year-old former actor formally announced for a second term Tuesday with a prerecorded television and radio broadcast and a press conference. The broadcast time — on 15 television and 25 radio stations — and taping cost $28,000, a campaign official said.

With Mrs. Reagan by his side, Reagan said, "The years ahead can be great ones and I would like to help as California leads the way to be a part of that effort with you . . . together we can give new luster to the magic of California."

He wasted no time in hitting at a major factor that has dimmed golden California's image: air pollution.

"It will not be an easy victory, but we are determined to help clear the air in California, and we are making progress," Reagan said in remarks prepared for a luncheon in the San Bernardino area.

In his announcement statement, Reagan said, "I still think of myself as just a citizen temporarily in public service."

He declined to pledge to serve a full four years if elected again.

"No, and I think I'd be foolish to do so," Reagan said.

Fulbright Links CIA, Laotian Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright said Wednesday "it is obvious" that a relationship exists between the foreign aid program and the Central Intelligence Agency in Laos.

The Arkansas Democrat made the comment after an official of the Agency for International Development, Robert H. Nooter, declined to tell the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in public session if the relationship alleged in recent press reports from Laos exists.

"We prefer that these matters should not be discussed—either confirmed or denied—in public session," Nooter said.

"I think it is obvious from both the article and your reluctance to speak that a relationship exists," Fulbright said. "If it is true, it is only another warning that we are in over our heads."

Nooter promised to supply the committee with a memorandum on the charges of a relationship between the agency and the CIA.

Asked if AID personnel served as forward air controllers in Laos, Nooter said "To the best

Point Reyes Bill Gains In Senate

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Interior Committee approved Wednesday a bill to authorize an additional $38,365,000 for land purchase in the Point Reyes National Seashore in California.

The committee amended the bill to remove a ban on condemnation of property in the 26,000-acre pastoral zone of the 54,000-acre seashore established in 1962.

The Interior Department requested the condemnation authority.

Two Jetliners Cuba-Bound At Gunpoint

The plane, a Boeing 727 with 99 passengers and a crew of seven, landed shortly after 10 a.m., and took off half an hour later.

The Federal Aviation Administration said the plane, Flight 361 from Cleveland, Ohio, had been given clearance to Havana. It had been commandeered near Pittsburgh. It reached Havana at 12:13 p.m. (EST)

In Cartagena, Colombia, Avianca Airline reported one of its Boeing 727s, with 78 persons aboard, had been hijacked today by four gunmen trying to reach Cuba. It soon turned back to Baranquilla, Colombia, where workmen were attempting at gunpoint to make repairs to a faulty flap.

The UAL flight was the second commercial airliner to be hijacked over U.S. soil this year.

The pilot, Capt. P.E. Gallant, radioed before landing that the hijacker was holding a pistol on him and other crewmen, and that he had told them that only persons refueling the plane would be permitted near the aircraft.

The plane taxied to the end of a runway, approximately half a mile from the Atlanta Airport terminal building, and a fuel truck was driven out to it.

Faulty Homemade Bombs Claim Two

NEW YORK (AP) —A bungling effort at producing homemade bombs has been blamed by police for an explosion that took two lives in a $100,000 Greenwich Village brownstone, a luxurious setting for a strange mystery.

The cause of the blast came to light Tuesday when a large amount of dynamite was uncovered in the wreckage of the 19th Century townhouse owned by a wealthy advertising executive.

In the building at the time of last Friday's explosion were at least two known members of the Weatherman, a militant faction of Students for a Democratic Society, and Asst. Chief Inspector Albert Seedman said of the occupants:

"I would say they were making bombs. Yes, definitely."

One of the militants was Theodore Gold, 23, whose body was recovered from the debris shortly after the blast. He was a leader in an SDS uprising at Columbia University in 1968.

The other victim was an unidentified woman, whose headless body was dug out of the rubble Tuesday.

Missing since she fled the townhouse after the explosion was another youthful Weatherman radical, Cathlyn Pratt Wilkerson, 25, daughter of the master of the house, James Pratt Wilkerson, by his first marriage. He was on a long vacation with his second wife in the British West Indies when the explosion occurred.

A fire official said that "58 to 66 sticks of dynamite and 100 blasting caps" were recovered from the Wilkerson home, enough to have leveled the buildings on either side.

As it was, one of them was condemned because of the damage that radiated from No. 18. Evacuated as a result were actor Dustin Hoffman and his wife, next-door neighbors of the Wilkersons.

Church Unity Planners Wrestle Two Issues

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Planners for a broadly united Protestant Church today were wrestling with two touchy issues—the role of bishops and the basis on which ministers in the new Church interpret God's will.

"To identify and describe the acts of God, whether recorded in the Scripture read at the service, or apparent in some other way."

At the behest of review groups working over the plan at the Consultation on Church Union meeting here, a substitute line was offered Tuesday reading:

"To interpret the acts of God according to Scripture and in the light of these, to interpret his acts in the contemporary world."

The matter was referred to a committee for further consideration.

Disagreement also arose over whether a section on bishops spells out the new Church's acceptance of the historic episcopate, considered by some Christians as the line through which Christ's authorization to the ministry has been handed on since Jesus' time.

Part of that section also was undergoing further revision. Five denominations involved in the talks have bishops. The other four do not.

The Consultation Tuesday night gave preliminary approval to several sections of the plan, including a temporary name for the new Church, "Church of Christ Uniting", or "CCU" for short.

Gaza Strip Terrorism

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab guerrillas stepped up their terror campaign in the Israeli-occupied Gaza Strip today, hurling three hand grenades at a group of Arab workers waiting for a bus. Twenty-two men were reported wounded, eight seriously.

The victims, all from refugee camps, were waiting for transportation to jobs in Israel.

On Tuesday, guerrillas bombed a labor exchange and later attacked an empty bus returning to Israel after dropping off Arab laborers. The driver was not hurt.

Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan and Army Chief of Staff Lt. Gen. Haim Bar-lev visited Gaza Tuesday after the explosions at the labor exchange. They toured refugee camps and an industrial development center being constructed in Gaza City.

Rehiring Demand Blasts Hayakawa

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Four former teachers in the Black Studies Department at San Francisco State College demanded Tuesday that the college rehire them.

Wilmette Brown and Patricia Thornton, who made the demand at a news conference, said they spoke for four of the six teachers who were told two weeks ago they would not be rehired after their contracts expired June 1.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Royal Visitor

JAKARTA (AP) — For the first time in more than 130 years, a member of the Dutch royal family is going to visit Indonesia, once the greatest prize of the House of Orange.

Prince Bernhard, Queen Juliana's German-born husband, arrives Thursday for a 15-day good-will tour.

The only other visit by a member of the royal family was in 1837, when Prince Henry arrived in Jakarta—then Batavia —as a junior officer on a Dutch warship.

New Tate Move

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Susan Denise Atkins, whose testimony before a grand jury led to indictment of six in the bizarre Tate-LaBianca slayings will not repeat the account at her trial, her newly chosen lawyer says.

"I will keep her off the stand," attorney Dave Shinn said after a motion was filed Tuesday to allow him to take over from her former attorney, Richard Caballero. "She will deny all her previous statements."

Deputy Dist. Atty. Aaron H. Stovitz, the chief prosecutor in the Tate-LaBianca case, said her change of attorneys would not affect the case against Miss Atkins.

Abortion Law

HONOLULU (AP) — A measure eliminating nearly all restrictions on abortions became the law in Hawaii today when Gov. John A. Burns, a Roman Catholic, allowed it to enter the statute books without his signature or comment.

The measure, repealing Hawaii's century-old abortion statute, permits the termination of a pregnancy with minimum restrictions:

—That the abortion be performed by a qualified physician or osteopath in a licensed hospital

—That the woman be a Hawaii resident for at least 90 days.

—That the fetus be "nonviable"—not capable of living outside the mother's body.

LBJ Is Better

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Doctors say former President Lyndon B. Johnson is rid of his chest pains and continues to make progress, but they still won't predict when he will leave the hospital.

A medical bulletin reported Tuesday that Johnson's physicians "continue to be satisfied with the president's progress" since the chest pains hospitalized him March 2.

The pains, caused by hardening of the coronary arteries, have subsided and his cold has disappeared, the doctors said.

Gulf Oil Slick

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A thin slick of oil was floating in the Gulf of Mexico seven miles from a major wildlife refuge today as firefighters prepared to cap eight gushing wells 30 miles off the southeast Louisiana coast.

About 500 bales of hay were stacked on the beaches of Breton Island to sop up any oil. Chevron Oil Co., owner of the wells, estimated that oil began pouring into the Gulf at the rate of 600 barrels a day after the month-long fire was put out.

Unions Strike The Strip In Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Two powerful unions struck the luxury hotels that line the Las Vegas Strip early today and the first pickets hit Howard Hughes' Desert Inn, where the billionaire lives in seclusion.

Most of the 14,000 members of the Culinary Workers and Bartenders unions showed up at three mass meetings Tuesday to vote overwhelmingly to strike the hotels.

Showgirls and musicians promised not to cross picket lines and union leader Al Bramlet said of the strike, "Don't think this is going to be a short one."

Hotels, in preparation, had stocked large quantities of food and beverages, mostly delivered during the last few days. Key employes had been booked into hotels Tuesday to stay there in event of a strike.

The issue: wages. The Nevada Resort Association, which represents all but three of the Strip hotels, says it has offered a 25 per cent wage and fringe benefit improvement package for the next three years. The unions demand a 35 per cent increase over three years, plus fringe benefits.

Involved are the Culinary Workers and Bartenders unions. Culinary Union member wages now range from $11.40 per eight-hour shift for a waitress to $33.95 per shift for a night chef. A union bartender makes between $28 and $31 a shift.

Only in the casinos, where dealers are nonunion, would regular workers be on the job, according to union spokesmen.

U.S. Forces Sweep Jungles Along Border

SAIGON (AP) — American forces moving through the jungles along the Cambodian border northwest of Saigon battled North Vietnamese troops Tuesday in some of the sharpest fighting U.S. troops have experienced in months.

The U.S. Command reported that men of the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment, the 1st Air Cavalry Division and supporting aircraft killed at least 135 enemy soldiers in two major clashes and several smaller actions.

Eight Americans were killed and 26 were wounded in these actions, the command said, while 11 more Americans were killed in a ground attack at the northern end of the country and in a helicopter crash.

The biggest battle occurred four miles southwest of Loc Ninh and four miles from the Cambodian border, after a reconnaissance team from the 11th Armored Cavalry left its vehicles and set up an ambush in a grove of rubber trees early in the morning.

The Americans sprang the ambush and killed an enemy soldier, then followed blood trails out of the rubber grove to a small hill in the jungle. There an estimated battalion of North Vietnamese was holed up in a bunker complex on top of the hill.

The reconnaissance team called in reinforcements.

A search turned up 47 enemy bodies, and five North Vietnamese were captured, field reports said. Six more enemy trying to flee the area were reported killed by helicopter gunships.

One source said 35 more North Vietnamese were killed by helicopters during the battle, but that report could not be confirmed.

South of that action, in eastern War Zone C two miles from the border, another unit from the 11th Armored Cavalry engaged an enemy battalion while moving out to investigate a suspected bunker complex. The enemy fired on the unit's tanks and armored vehicles with antitank recoilless rifles, rocket grenades and 82mm mortars, the U.S. Command reported. It said 32 of the enemy were killed.

The 1st Air Cavalry Division reported that its helicopter gunships killed 26 enemy soldiers later in the day.

Teachers Threaten To Sue On Novato Firing Lottery

The Novato Unified School District board yesterday was threatened with a lawsuit if it did not make public a report by the district's principals on how to save $300,000 without cutting down on the teaching staff.

Bunker said such a report was made this year, as it is every year, that it has been mimeographed and that copies are available to anyone at the district office. This year's report, he said, offers possible economies ranging from $200,000 to $400,000.

The lawsuit threat was made as approximately 150 teachers protested the lottery to determine the order in which teachers without tenure would be let go from the district if it is unable to keep the present teaching force.

George P. De Tuncq, president of the Novato Federation of teachers, said that his union would instigate the suit. He said that there was such a report, but it had not been made public.

Donald White, president of the Novato Teachers Association, speaking for the new teachers, asked that the lottery not be held.

Supt. James G. Bunker said that he felt that with the normal turnover in teachers, he did not think that the district would have to terminate any of those whose names were drawn.

Bunker said that the board would go over the entire budget to see where cuts could be made, not only in the teaching force. The district is anticipating a smaller income from the federal government next year for school districts serving military bases.

Richard V. Godino, assistant county counsel, told the teachers that the lottery was legal and was prescribed by state law.

At that point, approximately 100 of the teachers walked out of the gymnasium at San Marin High School and the lottery proceeded.

The lottery listed 74 teachers who do not have tenure in the district in the order in which their jobs might be terminated.

Today Bunker said that he would send a letter to 52 of the 74 teachers telling them that their jobs are secure for next year. This would leave only 22 whose jobs are in doubt.

Percy Seeks Freeze On Missile Stocks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Charles H. Percy said today the United States should propose at arms talks next month that the Soviet Union join in an immediate freeze on both offensive and defensive strategic missiles.

The Illinois Republican spoke out in the wake of Pentagon disclosure that deployment of land-based multiwarhead MIRVs will start in June.

"The U.S. readiness to deploy MIRV and ABM, and the administration estimates of accelerated Soviet ICBM construction, make it imperative that the arms race be stopped immediatey," Percy said.

Such a proposal, he added, "is a logical first step" when the strategic arms limitation talks resume April 16 in Vienna.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, meanwhile, called on President Nixon to postpone MIRV deployment plans pending the resumption of the arms talks.

The Massachusetts Republican also called for prompt Senate action on his resolution—cosponsored by 43 senators—urging the President to take the lead on a U.S.-Soviet moratorium of MIRV tests.

Brooke's appeal came after Secretary Robert C. Seamans Jr., disclosed Tuesday MIRV deployment will start in June with the Minuteman III land-based missiles.

"The continued momentum toward deployment of this potentially destabilizing technology is highly disturbing," Brooke said in a statement. "It could have the most unfortunate consequences for the impending SLAT negotiations."

Earlier, in an interview, he said that the announcement of the MIRV deployment date means "the genie may well be out of the bottle."

Seamans gave the date to a closed session of the Senate Armed Services Committee. His statement was released to the public.

"After a number of delays and stretchouts we will start fielding the Minuteman III in June," Seamans said, adding that "based on tests to date we have high confidence in this system." Previous statements said deployment would occur in late 1970.

The Minuteman III, a replacement for the single warhead Minuteman II intercontinental ballistic missile, will carry three of the MIRV —Multiple Independently-Targeted Re-entry Vehicle—warheads.

Its sea-based partner, the 10-warhead Poseidon, will begin to take over next January from the single warhead Polaris nuclear submarines.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said deployment of the MIRVs will complicate the effort to reach an arms limitation agreement when the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks reopen April 6 in Vienna.

But he said he is "keeping his fingers crossed and hoping we can come to some agreement."

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Joint Tenancy In The Bank

Under joint bank accounts a man and wife may put in and take out money from the same account. They may also use joint accounts to turn money over to the other when one of them dies. Until then both parties own the account.

Unless you agree otherwise, you have a joint tenancy account if when one owner dies, the other is entitled to everything in the account.

The bank cards the two signed may agree that the account is in joint tenancy.

California law no longer allows joint tenancy in safe deposit box contents. Too many unthinking people dropped bank books, jewelry, and securities into these boxes and thereby inadvertently gave them to the other box holder.

Money in a joint account is still jointly owned when one of the owners spends or withdraws it. One husband and wife had a joint account; the husband withdrew money and put it in his separate account. Later he died and willed the separate account to a friend. But the court said "nothing doing." Although withdrawn, the money was still in joint tenancy. The wife got it.

But there are problems: Although a joint account calls for the "right of survivorship," and supposedly creates a joint ownership, the law allows the person who opened the account to declare the account was only for convenience and was not meant to be a gift.

Or if he meant it to be, he can show that he meant a gift only after his death, not during life. And since he still controlled the "gift," he could also take it back.

Too few people know what can happen to joint tenancy accounts. Too many joint tenancies do not turn out right.

A joint tenancy created without advice may have costly tax results and put the ultimate ownership of the property in unexpected hands.

For example, suppose a woman had willed her whole estate to certain persons, but placed her money in a joint account with a trusted stepson to pay her hospital expenses and turn the rest over to those she had named in her will.

At the Pearly Gates she is likely to hear, alas, that the stepson had claimed the money in reliance on the fine print on the bank card she had signed.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

New Class For Blacks Outlined

WASHINGTON (AP) Presidential adviser Daniel Patrick Moynihan urged shortly before President Nixon's inauguration that Nixon work toward transforming the Negro lower class into a stable working class population.

Moynihan's memorandum of Jan. 3, 1969, made public today by the White House, estimated that half the nation's Negro population fits into the "lower class" category.

It urged Nixon to transform the poor Negroes, whom he referred to as the "low income, marginally employed, poorly educated, disorganized slum dweller," into "a stable class population: truck drivers, mail carriers, assembly line workers people with dignity, purpose and in the United States a very good standard of living indeed."

Cemetery Burglary

A burglar who kicked in a door at the office of Mount Olivet Cemetery on Los Ranchitos Road, Terra Linda, Saturday stole a color television set and bottle of Scotch whiskey, sheriff's deputies said yesterday.

In Good Condition

E. Germans Take Holidays Elsewhere

BERLIN (GF) — Until a few years ago, most east Germans had to pinch their few pfennigs and spent vacations frugally inside their own four walls. But today that picture is rapidly changing.

Spurred by a marked upswing in the standard of living the last few years, one in every two citizens of the Communist state spent vacation a way from home in 1969. And the trend seems likely to continue.

Party organizations are now taking giant strides to lend a helping hand. The Free German Trade Union Federation, for example, is offering a series of group plans at ultra-low prices — with a generous portion of Communist education thrown in. Last year, more than one million east German vacationers were put up at the union's 1,200 vacation homes, where a goodly share of time is devoted to political discussions and courses.

But more and more east Germans seem eager to "go individual", rather than take the traditional group-type vacations the state likes so much to push. This also creates some problems.

For one thing, east German officials have never become too deeply involved in tourism and the state is extremely short on facilities to satisfy individual demand. This has resulted in a strong trend toward camping and east Germany's Baltic Seacoast is becoming the favorite site.

Many east Germans would like to go beyond their borders for vacations. But figures show few can afford to. Only one in eleven left last year. The lion's share — 75,000 — went to the Soviet Union. Bulgaria was the second choice.

While east German officials are showing increasing concern about domestic tourism, they are also anxious to encourage more people from abroad to come to their country — especially from the West so they can cash in on hard currency.

But here, they have even further to go. Presently, there only 19 so-called "Interhotels" — international standard complexes — in east Germany able to adequately handle Western tourists.

Pleads Guilty To Reduced Charge

Keith Lane Hadley, 29, of Mill Valley, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a reduced misdemeanor charge of possessing marijuana at his home.

He had earlier been accused of felony counts of cultivating and possessing marijuana as had his wife, Doris Frye Hadley, 32. The charges against her were dismissed yesterday.

Judge Hadden W. Roth set sentencing for Hadley for April 10.

Police were called to the Hadley residence on Dec. 8 by a neighbor who said someone was trying to enter the house. When officers arrived, they found prymarks around the door and entered to search for a burglar. Instead they found marijuana, and the Hadleys were arrested when they arrived home a short time later.

of my knowledge, it is not true."

The Nixon administration, apparently anxious to head off charges of a credibility gap, has divulged more details about American involvement in Laos.

The latest announcement came Tuesday when the Pentagon disclosed that American military advisers in Laos draw $65 monthly combat pay.

The stipend goes to U.S. servicemen in Laos even though the neutral nation is not considered a "combat zone," the Pentagon said. A spokesman added the extra pay "reflects the fact that personnel receiving this . . . are vulnerable to hostile action in hazardous situations."

The annonucement about combat pay was "in line with our desire to make increased information available to the American public" about U.S. involvement in Laos, said Defense spokesman Jerry Friedheim.

The move to disclose more information came in the aftermath of a controversy over President Nixon's statement that no American servicemen had died in Laos in ground combat operations.

(Peking Radio said today that the United States is treading the same path in Laos as in South Vietnam.

The broadcast, monitored in Tokyo, accused the Americans of escalating the war in Laos by stepping up bombing raids over Communist-held territory in the Indochinese kingdom.

(And in Moscow the Communist party newspaper Pravda today accused the United States of conducting a "criminal military venture" in Laos and indicated there may be a negative reply soon to President Nixon's request for Soviet help in defusing the crisis.

(Nixon's March 6th statement on Laos contained "no constructive proposals to normalize the present situation," Pravda said.

(The commentary made no mention of Laotian Premier Souvanna Phouma's appeal for help from the 14-nation Geneva conference on Laos or Britain's proposal that the 14 nations consult.

(In Vientiane, the Royal Laotian government said today it welcomes the new peace proposal from the Communists "because it is the first sign of conversation and peace from the Pathet Lao."

(In a communique issued after a 2½-hour meeting, Premier Souvanna Phouma's Cabinet said it hoped the Pathet Lao proposal "came from a sincere spirit and did not constitute a maneuver of diversion in order to mask preparations for (military) operations."

(The government said it agreed with one of the Communist faction's key points: that the Laotian problem "must be resolved between Laotians without foreign interference or pressure of any kind.") against the district, in which they are seeking $15,000 apiece on grounds the rule has denied them their right to compete in athletics.

However, Harris's ruling did say there is a reasonable probability the boys would lose their suit if tried on its merits.

Trustee Frank L. Miller said today it seemed the case had been forced into court by circumstances. "It's unfortunate we can't solve our own problems, but this seemed to have gotten out of hand." There is "not much to say about" the decision, since an appeal is pending, Miller said, but he predicted that the grooming issue will be kept alive by students for "several months or years."

Godino said the ruling accorded with the case the district presented, that schools have the right to set rules with valid educational objectives.

Trustee Gloria Melbostad declined comment today, and the other three trustees could not be reached.

Proves Expensive

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The head of the Kentucky Labor Department asked, in effect, "How come you made the ceilings so low?"

Commissioner John Young asked for another $78,000 for his department and blamed it on low ceilings in a new office building. The official said he couldn't get some old file equipment into the offices because it was too tall and had to replace it at a cost of $78,000.

REAGAN

foreseen reason could force him out of office, he noted.

Reagan has no opposition in the June 2 primary. His only major declared opponent is Democrat Jess Unruh, the longtime Assembly speaker — now minority leader — who earlier Tuesday said he would ask Reagan to debate him.

Reagan replied, "I don't really believe a debate is necessary" to make the positions on the issues clear.

Asked if he were confident of re-election, Reagan said, "I always believe you run as if you're one vote behind. It's a long way to election day." Public opinion polls show him ahead of Unruh.

Reporters asked Reagan if he might be interested in trying again for the presidency in 1972 as he did in 1968.

The governor noted that President Nixon is an incumbent who can seek re-election, adding: "I think that's all buttoned up and taken care of."

Reagan said he would campaign as the head of a Republican team with Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke his chief running mate. Reinecke and Mrs. Reinecke shared the platform at Reagan's news conference in a crowded hotel conference room across the street from the Capitol.

In his Tuesday news conference, Unruh said he considered Reagan a politician "no matter what kind of gestures or antics he goes through in attempting to portray himself as the great amateur."

Asked about that, Reagan replied: "Good politics just must be good common sense."

He dismissed as "campaign rhetoric" Unruh's comments that campus unrest is 10 times worse now than when Reagan ran in 1966 promising to "clean up the mess at Berkeley."

Reagan said "all a governor can do is supply whatever is necessary to bring disorder to an end when it breaks out." He said responsibility for preventing trouble rests with campus administrators, of whom he frequently has been critical.

His opening day campaign also was to take him to Ontario, Riverside and Los Angeles where the Reagan's planned to spend the night at their Pacific Palisades home.

He tours Los Angeles Thursday and makes a major fundraising address in San Francisco Thursday night.

BLAST

before the explosive. The building was vacant.

An official connected with the Brown trial, declining identification, said without elaboration, that he thought the courthouse blast "directly related" to the two deaths in the car explosion at Bel Air.

Kunstler said he will ask for dismissal of the charges when court convenes next Monday in Bel Air, saying "I feel a pattern has developed and there may be more and more incidents."

He said neither he nor Mrs. Brown had talked to Rap since monday. Maj. W. W. Corbin, chief of special forces for the Maryland State Police, said "it is my understanding they don't know where he is."

Investigation continued into the car explosion.

John Lewis, former chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, said in Atlanta that he understood Featherstone was accompanied by William Payne.

He said Payne had worked for SNCC in Alabama and Mississippi in 1964-66. A card from the Citizens Trust Co. of Atlanta containing the name of William H. Payne and a certificate of Navy service for William Herman Payne were found in the wreckage of the car at Bel Air.

Payne's mother in Cincinnati said she last heard from him Jan. 25 and believed he was teaching in Atlanta. She said he had worked in a Cincinnati bank and entered the Navy in 1963.

Col Thomas Smith of the state police said it was believed the explosive which killed them was "being transported in the car" by the victims, but authorities did not rule out the possibility that a bomb had been placed in the automobile.

Bad Night For Thieves' Work

COLUMBUS, Ky. (AP) — Burglars came up short in their break-in at the post office in Columbus.

The intruders set off an explosive but police said it was so weak it failed to open the safe.

TROUBLE AT STATE CAMPUS

His hair flying, a demonstrator struggles with police called in to disperse a rally objecting to the presence of recruiters on campus at San Francisco State College. It was the first violence since the four-months strike over demands for an ethnic studies school last year. McCarthy In Defense Of Schrade

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, said yesterday he saw nothing wrong about the acceptance of a special interest group's $5,000 check by Senate pro tem Jack Schrade, R-San Diego.

The check, drawn on the account of the California Association of Thrift and Loan Companies, was given Schrade last June, just before he voted for a bill the association was pushing. The matter is under investigation by several district attorneys.

McCarthy, however, told the Independent-Journal that there was "no impropriety" in the acceptance of the check, which Schrade has said did not influence his vote.

McCarthy, citing published reports that the former pro tem, Sen. Howard Way, R-Exeter, had known for months about the check, but kept it quiet for use when challenged by Schrade, said that the investigation also should include Way's role in the controversy.

McCarthy, who opposed Way's election last year as pro tem, supported Schrade's ouster of Way last month.

The Sacramento County Grand Jury recessed a special hearing into the legality of the campaign contribution early today and will resume the inquiry tonight. Dist. Atty. John M. Price met with the jury in a five-hour session but declined to discuss the case.

McCarthy For Lowering Amount In Conflict Of Interest Law

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Bills to limit sharply the investments public officials will have to disclose under the state's new conflict of interest law, and to assure consumers they are getting the weight stamped on certain packaged foods, have been introduced by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

McCarthy's amendment to the disclosure requirement would limit it to investments "located within the geographical jurisdiction or the local public agency, and the ownership of shares in any corporation or the ownership of a financial interest in any business entity located within, or conducting business within the geographical jurisdiction of the local public agency."

The current law, effective April 15, will require most public officials to disclose investments over $10,000 in any entity subject to regulation by any state or local public agency, regardless of where the entity does business or is located.

McCarthy's bill also would reduce to $5,000 the amount of investments subject to reporting.

McCarthy's staff said the bill was asked by city officials in Marin, most of whom have criticized the new state law.

Other legislation to make the reporting requirements less onerous to public officials is pending in the Legislature.

McCarthy's bill on weight would bar packagers of meat, poultry and fish from including in the net weight the weight of "any free flowing moisture, juice or brine."

The bill was asked by the paper pulp industry, which has been unable to compete with the newer plastic trays being used because current law allows the net weight to include juices. The trouble, from the point of view of the pulp package manufacturers, is that these juices are absorbed by pulp, thus cannot be counted in the net weight.

The juices are not absorbed by plastic trays.

McCarthy's staff said the senator took the bill not to benefit the pulp industry, but the consumers. "Considerable" sums are lost annually by consumers who don't get what they think they are buying in the packages, McCarthy's staff said.

McCarthy also introduced a bill eliminating some of the cumbersome restrictions on disposal of abandoned vehicles. It was asked by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The county Public Works Department alone spent $1,645 in 1969 to dispose of 47 abandoned vehicles, mostly on the shores of Richardson Bay, McCarthy's staff reported. This cost did not include the sheriff's office expenses, nor costs by cities disposing of additional abandoned vehicles.

Novato Firm's Window Broken

A window valued at $150 was broken sometime Monday night or early yesterday morning at Argus Realty in Novato in what appeared to be part of current strike-related violence in Marin County, Novato police reported today.

Daniel Poliak, manager of the real estate office at 801 San Marin Drive, said the vandalism followed receipt by the firm of several letters warning it to discontinue advertising in the Independent-Journal during the strike by San Francisco Typographical Union 21.

Argus was the fourth business to be reported attacked in Novato this week.

Bella Aaron's Condition Better

Attorney Bella Aaron was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital where she is recovering from a heart attack suffered two weeks ago at her Sausalito home.

A hospital spokesman said she is "doing much better" and can now receive visitors.

Mrs. Aaron is chariman of the Marin County Personnel Commission and the police community relations committee of the Marin County Human Right Commission.

Thieves Busy In Paradise Drive Shops

Burglars roved Paradise Drive in Corte Madera during the weekend, police reported today, entering five businesses and a workshop to steal a wide assortment of loot.

Denny's House of Plumbing, 5726 Paradise Drive, was entered both Sunday and Monday nights, police said, and two radios valued at $225 were taken. The entries were not reported until yesterday afternoon.

Four wheels and tires valued at $328 were taken from a car at J and B Forod, 5860 Paradise Drive, between Saturday night and Monday morning.

Burglars entered a workshop at 5280 Paradise Drive, owner Robert Pettijohn reported, and took a battery charger and a torque wrench. Pettijohn found the equipment in two abandoned shacks nearby. He told police the theft took place between 5 p.m. Saturday and 8:20 a.m. Monday.

Police said they found a pair of pliers taken earlier from Pettijohn's workshop near a restaurant under construction at 5839 Paradise Drive, where burglars stole an exhaust fan from the roof valued at $150, plus various lights, fittings and a broom valued at another $15. The theft came between 5 p.m. Friday and 12:30 p.m. Monday.

A hundred gallons of gasoline, a pump, and assorted tools and equipment valued at a total of $97 were stolen between 5 p.m. Friday and 7:40 a.m. Monday from Rose Exterminator Co., 5788 Paradise Drive.

North Bay Lumber Company, 5776 Paradise Drive, reported a $225 chain saw was stolen from a shed between 5 p.m. Saturday and 1 p.m. Monday.

Cash Taken

Cash totaling $411 was stolen from the office of Robo Wash, 20 Bellam Boulevard, sometime between Thursday and Saturday, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Bagley Bill Would Clear Up Closed Session Rules

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to require public bodies to explain the reason for and subject of closed meetings was introduced today by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Current laws limiting closed meetings by state and local public bodies do not explicitly require an explanation for closed meetings, which generally are limited to hiring, firing and hearing charges against an officer or employee.

Bagley introduced his bill at the request of the California Newspaper Publishers Association. Mike Dorais, lobbyist for the CNPA, told the Independent-Journal it was needed because many public bodies have violated the "clear implication" in the law that they should explain the purpose of any closed meeting.

Bagley's bill would require the explanation be given before the closed meeting.

Human Rights Panel Session Is Postponed

The regular meeting of the Marin County Human Rights Commission, scheduled for tomorrow night, has been postponed a week because not enough members can attend.

Austin J. Thompson, executive director, said commissioners will meet Thursday, March 19, at 8 p.m. at the Civic Center

Arraignment On Pot Count

Bruce Michael Cohn, 20, of no known address, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of possessing marijuana when arrested earlier in the day outside Dominican College in San Rafael.

Cohn was arrested after a nun at the college called police to say that three young men were causing a disturbance behind a residence hall. Police said the youths were yelling and appeared to be intoxicated.

Officers said they found three plastic bags containing vegetable matter, seeds and stems in Cohn's jacket pockets. His companions were not held.

GM MARK OF EXCELLENCE

10 resounding reasons why you should buy a new Chevrolet instead of a new something else:

1 Higher resale value.
No other car in Chevrolet's field gives you as much back on your initial investment. Year after year. You may never want to sell your Chevrolet, but if you do, it'll be rewarding.

2 Deep down value.
When you buy a Chevrolet you get exclusive things like flush-and-dry rocker panels which help combat rust. And inner fenders that keep your outer fenders looking good longer.

3 Smooth, smooth ride.
Chevrolet springs are computer selected. Linked with Full Coil suspension and advanced body mounting system, it makes our big rider a smooth rider.

4 Impressive styling.
Reason enough alone to go with Chevrolet. The impression is that it's an expensive car, if you want to make an impression.

5 Massive interiors.
Result? Room to stretch out or to sit tall. A lot of room for people and their luggage. Chevrolet actually has more front leg room than any other car in its field.

6 Side-guard beams.
A steel side-guard beam is built into every big Chevrolet's door for added protection and peace of mind.

7 A finish that lasts.
In Chevrolet's field a new "something else" won't have Magic-Mirror acrylic lacquer finish. Which is unfortunate because Chevrolet's 15 colors sure keep their shine.

8 Exceptional engines.
Chevrolet's standard 350-cubic-inch V8 runs on regular fuel. So does an even larger 400-cubic-inch V8 that you can order. There are also four other fine performing engines available.

9 Tremendous selection.
Of colors. Of accessories. Of engines. Of transmissions. Of fabrics. Of custom features you can add. And of models to pick from. There are nine different big Chevrolets alone.

10 America's favorite.
Something else a new "something else" can't claim: America's most popular car. If actions speak louder than words, doesn't this say something to you? See your Chevrolet dealer.

Board Abolishes Lagoon Advisers

The Marin County Board of Supervisors again yesterday buried another of its own creations. This time it was the Bolinas Lagoon Citizens Advisory Committee.

The committee was dissolved by a 3-2 vote, supervisors Louis H. Baar and John F. McInnis dissenting, because of possible conflict of interest among the committee members in formulating county plans.

A recommendation by County Administrator Alan Bruce that Bolinas attorney and property owner Thomas J. Barfield be removed from the advisory committee because he testified in opposition to a county condemnation suit, led to the board's action.

McInnis criticized Bruce for his recommendation saying that Barfield, as a citizen, was obliged to tell the court what he felt a true value was for land being condemned by the county.

The condemnation case in which Barfield testified stemmed from county attempts to secure 34.5 acres of William Albright property on the west side of Bolinas Lagoon.

The county had contended the land was worth only $2,000 an acre, but Barfield testified it was worth $7,500 an acre. The four week trial ended Feb. 27 with the jury awarding $4,400 an acre.

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni said he did not object to Barfield testifying, but felt it improper that he be called as an expert witness.

"What is the effect of him being on the board when he has undisclosed interests?" Arrigoni asked.

"I think it is a conflict of interest," he added.

"How can he testify that the Albright property is worth $7,500 an acre, when the (adjacent) Francisco property was purchased for $2,000 an acre," he continued. "In my opinion they're both worth the same."

"He is an attorney, and he is entitled to an opinion" countered McInnis. "His testimony was based on his knowledge."

According to both Baar and McInnis, Barfield was appointed to the committee, along with the other committee members because they had an interest in the area.

The door being open, Arrigoni moved that the entire committee be dissolved. Supervisor Michael Wornum seconded the motion, and William A. Gnoss voted in favor.

The action followed unanimous approval earlier by the board that $153,792 ($4,400 an acre) be paid for the Albright property.

Pleads Innocent

Mary Elizabeth Nybo, 22, of Boyes Hot Springs, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of possessing marijuana when arrested by Novato police during a routine traffic stop March 3. A preliminary hearing was set for April 7.

Flood Aid Deadline Is Next Week

Marin County property owners victimized by the recent floods have until March 18, to apply for federal reimbursement for the cost of debris removal, the Marin County Board of Supervisors announced yesterday.

Public Works Director Donald R. Frost reported that the federal reimbursement is permitted under new federal legislation that was explained at a meeting in Lake County on Feb. 20.

Residents in unincorporated areas who incurred costs for flood debris removal should apply immediately to the County Department of Public Works at the Civic Center for application forms. Those in city areas should apply to their respective public works departments, the supervisors pointed out.

McNears Beach Site Purchase Is Approved

Purchase of McNears Beach, which carries a price tag of $535,000, was approved by the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

Owner of the property, Sixty Trust, agreed to sell the land and all improvements last week, and will be paid April 1.

A $280,500 grant from the Department of Interior will help pay for the new park, which will be used for swimming, tennis, picnicking and other water-oriented activities.

Obviously pleased with the acquisition, board chairman John F. McInnis said that this will be the first major recreational facility in Eastern Marin. He did not say when the area would be ready for public use.

It is the second public access to the bay in Marin. The only other bay frontage owned by the county is at Paradise Beach Park in Tiburon.

Bagley Pens Bill To Curb Timbermen

I- JSpecial Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill empowering Marin County and its cities to regulate logging operations was introduced today by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The bill was asked by the Marin County Board of Supervisors in the wake of a long hassle over logging on Bolinas Ridge. The county contended that existing state regulations of logging were too lax.

The bill, which also would apply to San Mateo County, would allow local regulation by "stricter standards" than those in the state Forest Practices Act. Local regulations may include flood control and prevention, soil erosion control, reforestation methods, location and grade of logging roads and skid trails, excavation and fill requirements, fire prevention methods, slash and debris disposal and performance bond requirements, under Bagley's bill.

His bill also declares it essential to the people of the two counties that the timber lands "be protected and preserved." Because of the proximity of timber lands in the two counties to an urban center, such a special law was needed, the bill states.

Unstated was the fact that by limiting the bill to two counties, it will avoid a statewide fight over toughening the existing state act.

Burger Goes Home

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger has left the Bethesda Naval Hospital after five days of treatment for a virus ailment.

Two More Probation Officers Are Viewed

New state legislation, adopted last year, requires an immediate investigation to determine whether a jailed misdemeanor suspect can be released on his own recognizance without posting of bail, the county administrator's office reported yesterday.

Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows estimated that two more probation officers would be needed at an annual cost of about $25,000 to handle the quick investigation of each misdemeanor suspect jailed.

Marin County Baord of Supervisors decided that spending an additional $25,000 should be taken up at budget time. Chairman John F. McInnis asked the county administrator to see if cities can make more use of the citation system instead of actually jailing misdemeanor suspects so that the workload at the county jail booking desk can be reduced.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

MODEL ROCKETS—Denied Vallecito School's request for use of the Civic Center fairgrounds for launching of model rockets because of dangers that the rockets might pose in the populated areas.

PUBLIC WORKS—Postponed action on Public Works Director Donald R. Frost's request for a reorganization of his department, until after recommendations are made by the building industry and by the Board of Building Code Appeals. Among changes recommended by Frost is that the chief building inspector be renamed assistant chief building inspector, directly responsible to the public works director.

LOW-COST HOUSING—Approved the wording of a housing measure to be placed on the June 2 ballot. Voters will be asked to approve up to 600 low-rent housing units to be developed by the Marin County Housing Authority, with federal financing, but no units to be located in cities without city council consent.

COURTHOUSE LEASE—Induced the Citizens Committee on Low-Rent Housing to withdraw its request to lease space in the old Courthouse as campaign offices for three months for $1. The county administrator said there are too many legal and cost problems involved.

WELFARE OFFICE—Turned down a request by the Department of Public Social Services to lease office space in Novato to be used by social workers in the field. Supervisor Louis H. Baar warned that such "branch offices" can sprout in various areas and become permanent fixtures requiring full time staff and supervisor.

LUNCHEON—Received an invitation to have lunch with the Marin Property Owners Association at Holiday Inn in Terra Linda on March 24.

SOCIAL SERVICES—Appointed Mary LaVassaur of San Anselmo and Donna Lile of San Rafael to the Family and Children's Advisory Committee. They replace Patricia Nelson of Novato and Alice Brown of San Rafael, who were unable to attend meetings regularly because of other commitments.

FERRY SERVICE—Approved a resolution asking the Golden Gate Bridge District to buy and operate its own ferry from Tiburon to San Francisco, if Harbor Carriers, which now leases a ferry to the bridge district, insists on reducing the ferry runs.

COMMUTE FARE—Heard from Michael Wornum that the Golden Gate Bridge District directors plan to reduce the bus tolls so that Greyhound Lines will drop the 90-cent (per 20-ride commute book) increase in Marin commute fares, just approved by the state Public Utilities Commission on March 3. Greyhound won a fare increase because the bridge district raised bus tolls from 13 cents to $1 beginning in January.

SAN ANSELMO—Recommended that the Ross Valley Flood Control District board budget $2,800 as a contribution to San Anselmo's proposed $114,000 comprehensive planning study to be undertaken with federal aid, noting that drainage problems are included in the study.

HUMAN RIGHTS—Accepted the resignation of George E. Higgins, Fairchild Semiconductor Co. executive being transferred to New Mexico, from the county human rights commission. Higgins, appointed last November on the recommendation of the Marin County Chamber of Commerce, said he will recommend to the chamber that it nominate fellow Fairchild employee Dal eR. Jackson to reployee Dale R. Jackson to re-

RICHARDSON BAY—Heard chairman John F. McInnis warn that rejection by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission of the county's plan for development of Richardson Bay might prevent any development of the area and make the waterfront at Waldo Point a permanent eyesore. McInnis said the Marin Conservation League and Save the Bay Association, opponents of the plan, "should come up with a constructive plan to save the bay instead of saying the plan is no good."

STRIKE—On a motion by Michael Wornum and a second by Peter R. Arrigoni J., voted unanimously a resolution asking that "the Independent-Journal and the Typographers Union No. 21 meet and negotiate with one another in good faith." Wording of the resolution is identical to the one passed by San Rafael City Council last week.

Larkspur May Set $150 Fee

The Larkspur Planning Commission last night recommended a $150 application fee for planned unit development in the city, with other charges for city engineering or planning services required by the developer.

Under existing ordinances, no charged has been set for planned development applications, reported City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst. The recommendation was forwarded to the city council.

The commission also discussed improvement of sidewalks on the west side of Magnolia Avenue between Madrone Avenue and King Street, and told city staff to see what is feasible.

A variance request by Helen V. Busse to conduct a nursery business at 1000 Magnolia Avenue was withdrawn.

Two Crashes Leave Four Slightly Hurt

Four persons received minor injuries yesterday in two Marin accidents, and all decided to seek private medical aid, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Stephen L. Burdick, 18, of 320 Glen Park Avenue, San Rafael, received cuts and bruises when his motorcycle collided with a car driven by Frank C. Sindelar, 57, of 2074 Huckleberry Drive, San Rafael.

The patrol said the accident occurred on College Avenue south of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Kentfield about 7:55 p.m. as Sindelar attempted to pull into the street from the curb lane.

Berniece W. Conklin, 46, of San Francisco and Bert J. Hasselberg, 50, of 26 West Brae Drive, Fairfax, complained of pain after the autos they were driving were involved in a three-car crash at 5:35 p.m. northbound on the Golden Gate Bridge.

A passenger in the Hasselberg car, Gail Bingham, 45, of 2382 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax, also complained of pain after the accident.

Driver of the third car was Dale C. Heinen, 50, of 170 Via La Paz, Greenbrae, according to the patrol, which could give no details of the accident.

Missile Launched

VANDENBERG AFB (UPI)—An Air Force Minuteman I intercontinental ballistic missile was launched Tuesday in an operational test under simulated combat conditions.

Haerle Will Lead Drive For Reagan

Paul R. Haerle of San Rafael has been appointed by Gov. Ronald Reagan to lead his Northern California campaign for reelection.

Haerle, an attorney, chaired Reagan's Marin County campaign in 1966, and then served as the governor's appointments secretary. His appointment was reported today by James L. Placak of San Rafael, publicity chariman for the Marin campaign.

Placak also reported appointment of campaign committee officers: Col. William S. Richards of San Rafael, finance chariman; Mrs. Charles F. Story Jr. of Novato, assistant finance chairman; Mrs. William P. Gage of Belvedere, women's vice chairman; Bert D. Inman of Greenbrae, field operations chairman; John A. Lord of Ross, secretary-treasurer, and Melville Owen of Kentfield, counsel.

John Wayne, Academy Award nominee, Best Actor in True Grit.

You can't please 150 people with one movie.
They've seen it. Or they don't want to see it. Or they don't want their 8-year-old to see it. Or something.

So, bowing to public demand, TWA becomes the first and only airline to offer a choice.

On our movie flights to the East Coast we'll have three separate theatre sections.

One section will be for general audiences and will show G-rated pictures. Like True Grit with John Wayne. Or Viva Max with Peter Ustinov.

And the other two sections will show an M or R-rated film. Like Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid. Or The Sterile Cuckoo.

We are now offering a choice of movies on East Coast movie flights.

And as soon as we get our equipment ready, we'll also be offering a choice on all our overseas movie flights.

Call TWA or your local travel agent. And try to be on time. No one will be admitted to the theatre once the movie has begun.

SOMEHOW, YOU FEEL MORE IMPORTANT ON TWA.

Senate Bond Proposal Alarms Hub Council

The San Anselmo City Council did a little viewing with alarm last night and agreed to take stands against three bills now in the Legislature.

Councilmen expressed shock at Senate Bill 13, which would require bond issues to get a majority not of votes cast, but of total registered voters.

Such a concept is against democratic or republican government, Councilman Duane C. Ragan said. Kenneth L. Anderson said it would reward the stay-at-home voter by counting his nonvote as a "no."

The council also opposed SB/56, which would forbid cities to alter their general plans for six months after their adoption. Councilman James F. Reed said such a rule would stifle development and freeze planning.

Another bill opposed was Assembly Bill 98, which would require cities to submit police and firemen's salaries to an arbitration board whenever the public agency and the employees could not agree.

The council supported AB/430, which would amend the disclosure of assets law and only require public officers or employees to disclose interests and specify if they are more or less than $5,000.

Summaries of the pending legislation and recommendations on some of the bills were sent the council by the League of California Cities.

The San Anselmo City Council also:

DRAINAGE—Held a long debate with residents of Floribel Avenue over responsibility for drainage which now dumps silt and debris on the street, but delayed action until the April 28 meeting.

PLANTER—Denied a request to place a planter box on the sidewalk at the Aquarian Princess shop, 1527 San Anselmo Avenue.

SERGEANT—Promoted Patrolman Edwin Silva to police sergeant to replace Robert White, who has joined the San Francisco force. Silvia will start at $862 a month.

LIBRARY—Appointed Theresa Phillips to a half-time job as junior librarian at $235 a month, and advanced Shirlee Benedict from 20 to 30 hours a week as librarian.

YOUTH—Received a report on last week's organizational meeting of a proposed youth commission, and was told that Mayor Woodrow V. Capurro and Ragan will meet with young people again at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall.

MORNINGSIDE FLOODING—Received a report from City Engineer Charles R. Leitzell saying flooding in Morningside Court stems largely from inadequate drainage, and little can be done until Sleepy Hollow Creek is improved. The city has rejected the Army engineers' plans for the creek as incompatible with preserving the environment. No action was taken.

CARS—Set a public hearing March 24 for proposed removal of three dismantled cars at 972 San Anselmo Avenue owned by Carl H. Setterberg.

DISASTER MONEY—Authorized applying for federal aid under the disaster act to repay costs of clearing storm debris.

COMMISSIONS—Approved an ordinance giving the council instead of the mayor power to make all appointments to city boards and commissions.

BUSINESS LICENSES—Approved an amendment setting effective dates of penalties for failure to pay business license fees at the end of March and the end of April this year, and at the end of February and March in future years.

DEED—Accepted an easement granted by Felice D. Guasco for property on Center Boulevard and in exchange returned to Guasco a land sliver he gave the city for street widening further east on Center.

STREET—Accepted a deed to a portion of Kenrick Drive for acceptance into the public street system.

HUB—Approved a partial payment of $3,136 to Ghilotti Brothers, Inc., for work on the Hub intersection improvements.

Phone Rate Hike Request Pending

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pacific Telephone Co. is expected to ask next week for rate increases totalling close to $200 million annually, a California Public Utilities Commission source disclosed today.

It was reported that the request probably will be filed next Tuesday.

The source said he understood Pacific Telephone is still ironing out certain areas before moving ahead with its request.

Last month company officials indicated at a news conference that a rate increase was in the offing, helping to pay for a $740 million construction program for 1970.

PUC member A .W. Gatov of Kentfield and PUC president William Symons Jr. also had said they anticipated a rate increase request of around $200 million.

Chicago Bows Out As Hog Butcher

CHICAGO (AP) — Within three months the Union Stockyards in Chicago will discontinue handling hogs and this city will be "hog butcher to the world" no more.

In recent years the high cost of bringing the hogs to Chicago and increased efficiency in refrigeration has driven much of the nation's butchering business to smaller cities nearer the farm sources of supply.

The number of hogs arriving in Chicago has declined steadily in the past five years. The Union Stock Yard and Transit Co. gave this Tuesday as the reason for discontinuing hog butchering and packing.

Builder Temporarily Off Hook Until Next Meeting

The San Anselmo City Council last night flayed a contractor who violated a hatful of city ordinances in building a house last year, but then let him off the hook until the March 24 council meeting.

According to city officials, contractor Charles E. Daly of Mill Valley completed the house at 7 Hillcrest Court last summer, but with several deficiencies which the building inspector ordered corrected.

Some were corrected, some not, and then Daly let a lease-purchase tenant move in although the city had never issued an occupancy permit.

"Why did you allow it to be rented in the absence of an occupancy permit?" demanded Councilman Duane C. Ragan.

"We aren't renting," Mrs. Daly said. "We have sold it."

Daly said the gas and electricity were turned on and he didn't know an occupancy permit was required after that. "I've been building since 1922 and I never had to get an occupancy permit once the electricity and gas were turned on. . .I have never seen anything about an occupancy permit in my life and I have built 4,500 homes in my time."

Street said Daly filled the property and heaped fill against his fence, caving it in, then only partly repaired the damage.

An entry landing was shifted to another side of the house contrary to plans, and a window was inserted that overlooks Street's window and robs him of privacy, Street complained.

After several fruitless attempts to get the deficiencies corrected, the city ordered Daly to appear last night to show why legal action shouldn't be taken.

A variance is being sought to legalize the remaining problems, Mrs. Daly said. Forcing the occupants to leave would "put us up against the wall," she said.

Daly's only support on the council came from Robert M. Scott, who said "I fail to see any criminal intent, or any damage. . .I don't like witch hunts, and I don't like what's going on."

The council finally relented, and in a 3-2 vote referred the problem to the planning commission, to be returned to the council March 24.

Innocent Plea To Marijuana Charges

Lester Patrick Pendleton, 23, and Emily Link Killebrew, 25, both of San Francisco, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to charges of possessing marijuana and a pipe for smoking it. A preliminary hearing was set for April 7.

The couple was arrested Feb. 21 when they were found sleeping in a makeshift tent behind an Inverness summer residence.

Guilty Plea To Felony Charge

A 20-year-old AWOL Army man who joined in the riot outside the Independent-Journal building in San Rafael on Feb. 14, has pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court to a felony charge of assaulting a police officer and a misdemeanor count of unlawful assembly.

Judge E. Warren McGuire dismissed Monday another misdemeanor count of participating in a riot against Robert Henry Watkins, of Lynn Haven.

He set sentencing for April 6 for the youth, who is being held in jail.

Volunteer School Corps Wins Backing

San Rafael Board of Education last night backed formation of San Rafael Volunteers in Education, an organization of residents who will provide volunteer service in the schools.

There are now 290 volunteers and the new organization would extend the program said Mrs. John Levinsohn of 21 Lunada Court, spokesman for the organizing group.

Volunteers would serve as aides in four broad categories, instructional, supervisional, clerical or community service.

The tasks cover a wide variety from lending a special talent in a classroom, to escorting students on field trips, to typing or serving on citizen committees.

Lee Heise, coordinator of special education, said there is an existing corps of volunteers, which has been assisting teachers, students and office staff.

The aims of the new group, according to organizers, are to:

"Relieve the professional staff of non-teaching duties.

"Provide needed services to individual children to supplement the work of the classroom teacher.

"Enrich the experiences of children beyond what is available in school.

"Build better understanding of school problems among citizens and to stimulate widespread citizen support for public education.

Educational demands require more funds and personnel than are presently available and the volunteer group will provide needed services at minimal cost, the organizers said.

Mrs. Levinsohn asked that the group be given official recognition by the board to proceed with formation, and it was granted.

Anyone interested in serving as a volunteer may notify Mrs. Heise at the San Rafael City Schools office.

Horsepower Fading

OSLO (UPI)—The number of horses on Norwegian farms has dropped 60 per cent in the last 10 years to a total of about 40,000, according to the Norwegian Horseowners Organization. During the same period, the number of trotting horses increased from 1,500 to more than 2,000.

Flournoy's Hat In Ring Again

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—State Controller Houston I. Flournoy announced today that he would seek election to a second term and pledged to make the abolition of the inheritance tax appraiser system his No. 1 goal.

Flournoy labeled the appraiser system "the last vestige of the spoils system in California government."

Flournoy also threw his support behind Proposition 7 which would authorize a new interest rate ceiling on California bonds.

San Rafael Board Of Education Gets Teacher Salary Hike Plan

Teachers' salaries in San Rafael schools are "rather low" in comparison to other districts in the Bay Area, the San Rafael Board of Education was told last night.

Ronald W. Shafer, chairman of the subcommittee on staff and salaries of the Citizens Advisory Committee, pointed out that San Rafael's salaries in 1968-69 ranked 56th in the Bay Area.

He said salaries should be in the upper 25 per cent in the area particularly since Marin is in "the upper 5 per cent in the cost of living."

Shafer reported that in 1967-68, the San Rafael salaries ranked 25th, and have slipped "down on the list" since then.

With higher salaries, the school districts, elementary and high school, would attract more highly qualified applicants and could ask more of the teachers, Shafer said.

Board member Paul L. Jones questioned whether higher salaries would result in better applicants. "You can't overpay a good teacher, but you can overpay a lousy one," he said.

Shafer also recommended that the better teachers be rewarded financially. The subcommittee's report recommended setting up a rating system for teachers, with extra pay for extra responsibility.

The subcommittee also recommended that the board consider having schools operate year-round, that teachers be given professional growth credit for work with youth outside the school, and that teachers entering the system be given salary credit for all their experience.

Persons entering teaching from other occupations also should be given credit for their experience, the subcommittee said.

The San Rafael Board of Education also:

FLOOD FUNDS—Authorized application for federal funds to cover flood damage in winter storms, estimated at $29,782 at the San Rafael High School gymnasium and $4,696 at Short School.

SUMMER SCHOOL—Approved the secondary summer school schedule, June 19-July 31, and the course offerings, with a plea by board member Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. for more experimental programs and approved the elementary summer school schedule, June 19-July 24.

ADULT EDUCATION—Approved the adult education courses for the spring quarter, March 30-June 4, including new courses in high school chemistry, creative stitchery, the technical approach to investment and introduction to commodity trading.

CIVIL DEFENSE—Approved an updated civil defense and disaster plan for San Rafael schools as required by law covering all disasters ranging from nuclear attack to civil disobedience.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignation of Patricia O'Brien, English teacher, San Rafael High School, effective June 30 after 31 years with the city schools, with special recognition; and the resignations of Pat Mazzini, nurse, San Rafael High School, effective June 30; Jo Anne Bottini, Ann Carr, Cheri-Lee, and Joan Raab, all teachers currently on leave; Bryan Castner, bus driver, and Judith Lauter, director, Terra Linda Cooperative Nursery School.

DEPARTMENT CHAIRMAN—Accepted the resignation of Miriam Chown as chairman of the English department at Terra Linda High School and appointed Candido Santogrossi to the post for the remainder of the school year.

GIFT—Accepted as a gift a projector for Sun Valley School donated by the Sun Valley Parents and Faculty Club.

Shopping Center Permit Draws Fire

Two weeks ago the Novato City Council approved a use permit for a shopping center at South Novato Boulevard and Diablo Avenue, and last night was bombarded with protests against it.

The council had overruled the city planning commission and granted the shopping center for a Lucky Store, Thrifty Drug Store and drive-in restaurant on four acres which had been zoned commercial for more than three years.

After nearly three hours of arguments and legal discussion between City Atty. Clark M. Palmer Jr. and attorney Robert Carrow, who would not state whom he represented, the council postponed the matter until 8 p.m., March 24, to get further legal opinions.

Palmer told the council that its action was legal because the application had been made prior to the council passing an interim ordinance on Feb. 10 requiring use permits in the downtown area. He said that this application had been legally advertised and heard before the planning commission. The council had heard an appeal on that commission denial.

Carrow countered that the council had not found justification for granting the use permit, as required by ordinance, even though it was in a commercial zone.

Palmer said that the developer and property owners had "vested rights" in the work done in getting the use permit. If the city reversed itself, it would be liable for damages, Palmer said. He said that to reverse itself, the council must show a change of circumstances.

A crowd of about 50 people came to protest the shopping center.

Betty London of 40 Eames Court told the council that it was not good planning, and protested the granting of the permit to the shopping center while the city was making a $40,000 study of the downtown area.

E. D. King of 590 Sunset Parkway, said that the action was too hasty.

Gail Wilhelm of the beautification committee asked why the city had to grant the permit to the first applicant in a commercial zone.

Councilman Babe Silva asked John Benedetti, representative of Sutter Hills, if he would consent to another public hearing on the matter on March 24. Benedetti said he would have to consult the firm's attorney before he could commit the firm.

At that point, Palmer asked for time to research the legal questions. The council postponed a decision on whether to reopen the matter.

Lindbergh To Publish Diary Of War Years

NEW YORK (AP) — Charles A. Lindbergh is going to publish a diary he kept in the years leading up to World War II and during the conflict.

The publishing firm of Harcourt, Brace & World Inc. said the diary would come out in September, entitled "The Wartime Journals of Charles A. Lindbergh."

Czech Maestro To Take Podium

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Karl Ancerl, famous Czech maestro, will begin a two-week debut as guest conductor of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra March 18.

Former prisoner in a Nazi concentration camp and conductor of the Czech Philharmonic from 1951 to 1969, Ancerl is currently music director of the Toronto Symphony.

At Toronto he succeeded Seiji Ozawa, who takes over as regular conductor of the San Francisco Symphony next season.

Machine Stolen

A $245 dictating machine was stolen Feb. 21 or 22 from a car owned by Peter R. Davidson and parked in his garage at 48 Marina Court, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Use Of Plastic Pipe Finally Wins Approval

Use of plastic pipes in residential construction not higher than three stories was approved last night by the Novato City Council by a 3-2 vote.

The decision culminated two years of arguments before the city council on the use of such pipes for drains, waste and vents. It had been recommended earlier and again last night by Carl Brown of Associated Home Builders and a member of the city's building code committee.

He was opposed by Samuel H. DeLisle, executive manager of Plumbing Heating and Cooling Contractors Association.

The council had turned down the use of plastic pipe the last time on Nov. 12, 1968.

Muskie Urges Guidelines To Check Economy

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Declaring "we appear headed straight toward a recession," Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, suggested today that "guidelines might be established for both wages and prices."

The 1968 Democratic vice-presidential nominee, however, emphasized he was not recommending wage-price controls.

He told a convention of skilled tradesmen from the United Auto Workers that guidelines "could be developed by the (Nixon)administration in specific terms through consultation and agreement with the affected parties."

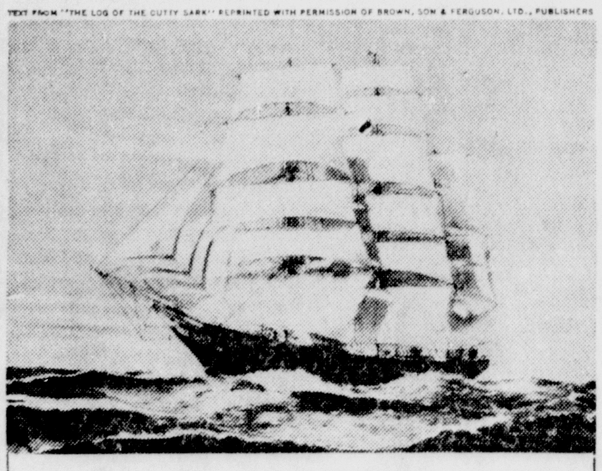

Muskie repeatedly criticized inflation control measures of the Nixon administraiton in a speech he entitled, "Republican Economics."

Damage Is Only $1,500 To Store

Cox's TV and Sound Center in Northgate Shopping Center, San Rafael, received $1,500 damage Monday night, not $15,000 as reported yesterday in the Independent-Journal.

Total amount of damage caused by Monday's "night-riders" was listed at about $10,000. As numerous windows were broken without an estimate for each, the exact total can not be determined.

Garage Wins Permit After Split Over Parking On Second Street

Six San Rafael planning commissioners last night approved a use permit for a garage and automobile repair shop at 1002 Second Street after a heated exchange over who had the right to park on city streets.

Commissioner Thomas R. O'Toole, lone dissenter, challenged a condition confining parking of all cars under repair and owned by employees to inside the building.

"We have no right to control parking on Second Street," O'Toole argued maintaining the garage owners had "the same right as any citizen to park in the street."

Pointing out that curbrside parking of cars under repair could lead to dead storage, Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner said this situation could cost taxpayers money to increase street capacity.

Robert Hopps, speaking for owner Global Enterprises, also questioned the parking restriction stating customers or employees might be forced to park outside if the building were full.

Hopps also questioned limiting access to the building to the Brooks Street side and suggested a curb cut on Second Street to allow another doorway to the building.

Hotchner pointed out a curb cut could reduce traffic flow on the street and O'Toole agreed that it would be a "public hazard."

Hotchner added that the question of a curb cut for the site was not on the agenda.

The commission approved a suggestion of Commissioner Jorgen V. Lunding allowing employee parking in the street but confining cars under repair to inside the building.

Hopps, taking exception with the ruling, said he would appeal the matter to the San Rafael City Council.

The San Rafael Planning Commission also:

Marijuana Case Is Under Study

The case of Michael David Martin, 18, of Pacifica, yesterday was referred to the probation department for possible transferral to juvenile court from Marin Municipal Court.

Martin is accused of possessing and giving away marijuana and having a device for smoking it when arrested by Novato police Feb. 27 for a traffic violation. Five juveniles in the car with him were cited to juvenile authorities.

Two Appointed College Trustees

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Gov. Ronald Reagan today announced two appointments to the board of trustees of the California State Colleges.

The first was Robert A. Hornby, 69, retired president of the Pacific Lighting Corp., Los Angeles. He will succeed James F. Thacher, San Francisco, whose term has expired.

The second was Phillip V. Sanchez, 40, Fresno county administrator, and a members of the board of governors of the California Community Colleges.

Sanchez succeeds Earle M Jorgensen, West Los Angeles, who has retired. Sanchez is also a graduate of Fresno State College.

Dope Addict, 12, Sent Home Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Ralph de Jesus, the 12-year-old addict who shocked a legislative hearing last month when he described his use of heroin, has returned to his family's home in a slum filled with drug pushers.

Dr. Judianne Densen-Gerber, clinical director of the Odyssey House for narcotics rehabilitation, said Tuesday that Ralph had been sent home because he did not fit in with the teen-age addicts the center was designed for.

"He literally needed 'The Three Bears' told to him every night," she said.

Suspect Missing; Warrant Issued

A bench warrant with bail set at $5,000 was issued yesterday in Marin Superior Court for Joe George Hauser, 22, of San Rafael, when Hauser failed to show up Monday for setting of a trial in marijuana charges.

The case of a codefendant, Fred Charles Martin, 21, also of San Rafael, was continued to April 6 for trial setting.

Both are accused of sale, possession for sale, possession and conspiracy to sell marijuana. They were arrested by narcotics agents in a raid on an Irwin Street residence last July.

Each year between January and February gray whales migrate from the Bering Sea to Lower California where their young are born.

Dixie Trustees Cut Additional Posts

Additional steps were taken last night by the Dixie School District trustees to trim next year's budget to a balanced level by eliminating a staff psychologist and a librarian from the payroll.

According to Supt. Clifford W. Campbell, the positions will go unfilled next year even if the district's 50-cent increase in the general operating tax rate is approved by the voters on April 14. The present tax rate is $3.25 per $100 assessed valuation.

The district already has approved the reduction of 12 teaching slots if the measure passes, and 25 positions if it fails. A lottery was held Feb. 25 by the district to determine which teachers must go.

Campbell said the board's elimination of positions was due to an expected loss of $500,000 in federal and state aid to the district.

Campbell said the positions will not be eliminated until the end of the current school year, and added that the psychologist's position will be vacated anyway due to a maternity leave request.

The board also approved staggered sessions for two kindergarten classes at Bernard Hoffman School on a trial basis, Campbell said.

Classes currently run from 9 a.m. to noon, but under the new schedule, half the students will attend from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. allowing a closer teacher-student relationship for an hour with each group.

Campbell said the board will study the results of the program at the end of the current school year.

Sunday Concert Set In Tiburon

The newly formed Marin Chamber Players will present the first of what is expected to be several free public concerts on Sunday at 8 p.m. in Lyton Hall, St. Hilary's Church, Tiburon. Music by Beethoven, J.S. Bach and Svendsen will be performed.

Featured will be the Marin Double Duo, a Mill Valley Husband-wife team consisting of Charles ND Robaline Meacham, Charles and Robaline Meacham, violinist and pianist respectively, and Lucien and Jean Mitchell, violist and cellist, respectively.

Other members of the Marin Chamber Players are violinists Ezekiel Amador, Fernando Claudio and Michael Gerling, violist Asbjorn Finess and cellist Eugene Winkler.

Detective Hired In Shooting Case

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Police Chief Al Nelder has promised to cooperate with a private detective hired to conduct an independent investigation of the killing of a young black man by an off-duty policeman.

Private eye Hal Lipset was hired Tuesday by Youth for Service to investigate the shooting death of Miles Beaver, 25, who was killed March 3 by Patrolman Eugene Larsen of the Tactical Squad.

Nelder, while promising cooperation with the independent investigation, said his department's probe has sofar shown that the offcer had no choice but to shoot. He added that the official inquiry was not biased, as suggested by Youth for Service.

Lobster Law

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (AP) — In Newfoundland, where a lot of lobsters originate, the law says a lobster cocktail must be more than half lobster. The remainder can be "some wholesome fish."

Economies May End Four Posts

The San Rafael Board of Education in closed session last night authorized Supt. John F. Plank to notify four schools administrators that uncertainty as to funding may wipe out their present posts.

Affected are Jack Kirby, director of administrative services; Philip McAtee, work experience coordinator; Floyd Peterson, adult education coordinator, and Adrian Van Herwynen, more able learner consultant.

The positions total about $50,000 in salaries, according to Plank, who said that whether they are continued will depend on availability of funds at budget time.

The four men, who have credentials and tenure, will be reassigned if the posts are dropped, he said.

The board also authorized Plank to eliminate one counselor-administrator at each high school, part of that work load to be picked up by the assistant principals.

Plank said the discussion of economizing in administration was taken up in closed session, though there was no charge against any of the office holders and no prospect of any being fired.

(The Ralph M. Brown Act, which governs the holding of closed sessions, does not include discussion of finances and economies among permitted reasons for such session.)

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO —Harbor Carriers yesterday won theoretical authority to schedule trips — with one-way fares — between Tiburon and Alcatraz.

The authority, voted by the state Public Utilities Commission, was for a service that cannot be provided at present. The federal government bars landing on the island —and the Indians who took it over last year won't let anyone else land.

The PUC order set both round-trip and one-way fares, with adults paying $1.50 to go both ways, and 80 cents one-way. Children under 12 would be charged 75 and 40 cents, respectively.

The proposed service would operate June 1 through Sept. 10 on a daily schedule, leaving Tiburon at 11:05 a.m. and arriving back at Tiburon at 4 p.m. — for those who choose round trips.

Harbor Carriers has been idled by a strike since June, but also is authorized to operate between Tiburon and San Francisco and between Alcatraz and San Francisco. Plans for the island include its conversion to a public park.

The basis for settling the nine-month strike apparently was reached this week when members of the Marin Engineers Beneficial Association approved a new contract with Red Stack and Bay Cities Transportation Co., operator of tugboats on the bay.

The new contract increased engineer's pay more than $300 a month to $1,050, and deck hand's pay by $275 to $300 to $850. It also gave engineers five days on and nine days off, and improved other fringe benefits.

Settlement of the strike probably would end the Golden Gate Bridge District's charter with Horbor Carriers for the Tiburon-San Francisco service, which the district has been providing during the strike.

Homes For Students

Families in the Redwood High School attendance area interested in providing room and board for one of three German exchange students should contact Mrs. Ross Ashley of Greenbrae, not the school as reported Friday in the Independent-Journal. The students will be attending classes at the school for a year.

Couple Hurt In Auto Crash

A San Rafael couple was injured yesterday at 8:20 p.m. when their car struck a guardrail on Highway 101, four miles south of Petaluma.

Eric Papenfuss, 57, of 910 Lincoln Avenue, was reported in good condition at Marin General Hospital with multiple scrapes and bruises. His wife, Frances, 57, was reported in fair condition with fractures of a right rib, right hip, right leg and face cuts.

Area Rezoned For Shopping Area Center

Rezoning for a proposed Gemco shopping center at Tamalpais and Paradise drives has been approved by the Corte Madera Planning Commission.

The commission approved changing the zoning from industrial to commercial at its Monday night meeting, secretary Betty Long reported yesterday.

Another application by Gemco's parent organization, lucky Stores, Inc., for a gas station at the center, was held until the commission's April 13 meeting for review of design plans.

The commission also recommended approval of an amendment allowing up to three years for development of design review projects. At present, design review approval lapses at the end of one year. The commission recognized that some developments, such as the Gemco plan, need more time because of site dificulties, Mrs. Long said.

The Corte Madera Planning Commission also:

LIBRARY—Approved in concept the design for a town library on Sanford Court. The design has been approved by the town council and the board of design.

RENT SUBSIDY—Supported a concept proposed by Town Mgr. Ronald B. Usher that the town subsidize the Marin County Housing Authority's leased housing program by budgeting money to make up the difference between the authority's maximum paymnts and actual rentals charged in the market, which Usher said ranged from $10 to $25 a month. The town council has authorized 17 units of leased housing in Corte Madera.

TREES—Approved a plan by Dan Monaco of San Francisco to remove eucalyptus trees at 21 Buena Vista Avenue and replace them with other types of trees.

PARKING—Postponed a public hearing on proposed new parking space standards to the April 13 meeting.

DECKS—Approved plans for proposed decks submitted by Terres A. Ronneberg, 38 Mariner Green Drive, Jams A. Grosskopf, 69 Prince Royal Drive, and Fred J. Cameron, 13 Mariner Green Drive.

Two Released, Six Charged In Marijuana Raid

Six of the eight persons arrested by narcotics agents in a marijuana roundup Saturday were charged yesterday in Marin Municipal Court with felony violations, but the other two were released.

Not charged because of lack of evidence were Marie Agnes Dellowe, 27, of Kentfield, and Richard Nickerson, 27, of no known address.

Accused of selling and possessing pot for sale were Richard D. Smith, 25, of Kentfield, and Lynn Gray, 28, of San Rafael. William N. Kirsch, 37, and Phyllis Ellen Farrel, 23, both of Gate Five, Waldo Point, were charged with possession of pot and possessing the drug for sale.

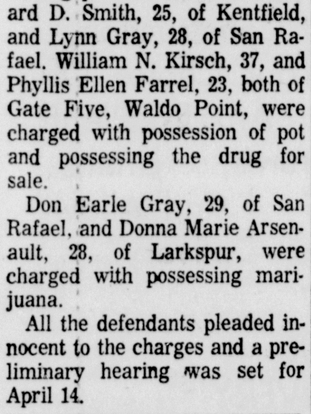

Don Earle Gray, 29, of San Rafael, and Donna Marie Arsenault, 28, of Larkspur, were charged with possessing marijuana.

All the defendants pleaded innocent to the charges and a preliminary hearing was set for April 14.

Health Plans Board Tables Nominations

Amidst criticism that the Marin Comprehensive Health Planning Council board was not representative of the community, the board today tabled the recommendations of its nominating committee for filling four vacancies on the board.

Mary Lee Brooks of 131 Drake Avenue, Marin City, a consumer representative on the board, said the board was not aware of the problems of the community.

"All I see here," she said, "is highfalutin people."

She urged the board to get poor people involved and to find out what the health problems of the poor are.

Robert Lomax, executive director of the Marin Economic Opportunity Council, also said he was concerned that the board was not representative of a broader segment of the community.

"I think we're getting too many of the same type of people," he said.

Dr. Howard Levensen, San Rafael optometrist and chairman of the nominating committee, said he had tried to find other persons to recommend to the board, but could not.

Lomax said that Levenson has never asked him to suggest some names, and Levenson said that he had, although in a very casual manner.

Anne L. Ellinwood, Tiburon city councilman, moved that the recommendations be tabled and the nominating committee be directed to produce new names. The board agreed.

The nominations tabled today were: C. Paul Bettini, San Rafael mayor; Harrold R. Cochran, San Rafael engineer; James F. Reed, San Anselmo city councilman, and Elenor Rogers, San Rafael physical therapist.

He is to appear in court Monday for arraignment.

Marijuana Arrest For Two Youths

Two San Rafael youths were arrested yesterday on suspicion of possessing marijuana after a police search produced two red capsules, a rolled cigarette, a pipe and a plastic bag containing green vegetable matter, San Rafael police reported today.

William Frederick O'Bayley, 22, of 18 Latham Street, also booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of being in a place where marijuana was used, was held in lieu of $1,875 to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Dennis Kirk Smith, 17, of 1034 Las Pavadas Avenue, was booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall.

Both youths were passengers in a car driven by Scott Vern Hier, 18, of 248 Laurel Place, San Rafael, and seen by a patrolman at 4:33 p.m. at a cul de sac at Tilden Circle, police said.

The officer becoming suspicious, searched the car and discovered the rolled cigarette, capsules and a tin-foil covered pipe, all of which O'Bayley identified as his.

A plastic bag containing what appeared to be marijuana was found in Smith's pants pocket, according to police. A roach holder was also founding hanging from a hunting knife attached to Smith's belt, police said.

Churches Prowled

Burglars broke into two Santa Venetia churches Saturday, sheriff's deputies said yesterday. Nothing was missing from the Jewish Community Center at 200 North San Pedro Road but a $10 speaker had been taken from the Presbyterian Church at 635 Adrian Way.

Break-In Foiled

A burglar attempted and failed to break into a rear door between 2 p.m. Monday and 9 a.m. yesterday at First Church of Christ, 1618 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael police reported today.

Sonoma Supervisors Set Petaluma Building

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA—The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors yesterday agreed to build a new county office facility in Petaluma adjacent to the city hall.

Funds for construction will be included in the 1970-71 budget. The county owns 22 per cent of the city hall, for which Petaluma will pay the county $72,000 and donate land for the new building.

Space in the new building will be provided for the Southern Sonoma Municipal Court and other offices. The building will be constructed in front of the city hall where the present open porch may be enclosed to form a common entrance.

Sonoma County Board Of Supervisors Also:

APPEAL—Set March 31 at 4:30 p.m. to hear an appeal from Virginia Hechtman and Jenner property owners from the granting of a use permit for Northern California Aggregates Co. to dredge gravel from the mouth of the Russian River. Residents had requested that the hearing be delayed until April and held in the Veterans Municipal building rather than the supervisors meeting room to accommodate a larger audience.

BONDS—Awarded the sale of $950,000 in bonds from the Petaluma High School District to Crocker Citizens Bank at an interest rate of 5.49 per cent.

REZONING—Denied the appeal of Josef Krsul of Cotati to rezone his property in Penngrove to permit a single mobile home.

SALARIES—Approved a 4 per cent salary increase for county employees effective in July and a 2.5 per cent increase next March if the cost of living rises by more than 4 per cent. The increases will account for $1,059,000 for the 1970-71 budget.

$2 Billion Military Construction Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon asked Congress Wednesday to authorize $2 billion for new military construction, including 8,000 family housing units here and abroad.

The request would provide for new construction at 260 U.S. installations and at bases in the Caribbean, Europe, Pacific Islands, Japan and Korea.

Four Quizzed On Assassination Try

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Three members of the special investigation department of the Cyprus police and a former policeman were detained for questioning today by police investigating the assassination attempt against President Makarios, police sources reported.

A government spokesman declined to confirm or deny the report. Gunmen fired into Makarios' helicopter on Sunday.

Funds Pinch Hits Schools In Cotati

Larger class loads and fewer teachers were recommended last night to the Cotati School District board as a means of saving money.

The finance committee of the board said that although figures are not firm, the district will have to reduce costs for the 1970-71 school year because of decreased revenues.

The committee recommended that class sizes in grades one, two and three be increased to an average of 30. An average of 33 students was recommended for third, fourth and fifth grades.

The committee said that the increased loads will reduce the number of teachers need by four or five. Miriam Horne, board secretary, said that the board noted that no teachers will be dismissed but that those leaving the district may not be replaced.

By increasing class sizes, the committee said the district would also save $4,000 to $5,000 when rented classrooms above the Rohnert Park library are not needed.

Foreigners Banned

Judge Rules Enough Murder Case Evidence

By MARY LEYDECKER

A municipal court judge yesterday ruled that there was enough circumstantial evidence to hold Merrill Brandon Fields, 41, of San Rafael, for trial on charges of murder and felony assault which stem from a bloody melee at his apartment last Wednesday night.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. made the decision after hearing testimony by six prosecution witnesses at a preliminary hearing. No defense witness was called.

Fields, who owns a small labeling company, is charged with fatally shooting Julian Emmett Waters, 36-year-old San Rafael plumber. He is also accused of inflicting severe injuries on Nancy Boyer Gibson, 36, of Greenbrae.

Yesterday Inspector Gerald R. Souza of the San Rafael Police Department told the court that Fields had given him several versions of what transpired during evening preceding the shooting.

All the versions included liquor, sex and a gold-plated derringer pistol. The inspector, however, said that Fields smelled of alcohol when interviewed after the shooting but seemed lucid.

The inspector said that Fields first told him that he picked up Waters and Mrs. Gibson, who were hitchhiking on Highway 101 when he was on his way to San Rafael from a Sausalito bar. After a visit to a San Rafael tavern, the three went to Fields' apartment at 9 Warner Court, the inspector said Fields told him.

He said Fields related that "the man and the woman immediately began to make love on the couch. Waters later found the gun which went off after the man made a homosexual pass at him.

Second, Sousa said that Fields told him that he left the couple at his apartment for a visit to a liquor store and when he returned he noticed the gun lying on his living room floor. He said that a fight started between him and Waters when the dead man suggested he commit "improper sex acts" and that both of them dove for the gun. He said he couldn't remember what happened after that, according to the inspector.

Still another version had Waters standing over the man holding the gun in his hand when Fields returned from the liquor store, according to Souza.

Other officers testified that they had come to the apartment after a complaint of noise by a neighbor and found Fields lying nude on the floor, Waters, apparently dead, with his seminude body intertwined with Mrs. Gibson, who was unconscious.

Officer Harold E. Pennington said that Fields said, "Oh my God, oh my God—what happened? Help me," when they arrived.

Another policeman, William A. Mohler, testified that Fields said, "That's my gun," and reached for the derringer on the floor.

The neighbor, Charles P. Spurrell of 7 Warner Court, said that he called police after hearing a woman either laughing or crying and a noise he described as a "bang."

A doctor told of injuries to Mrs. Gibson, who was in court yesterday with a bandaged eye, but who did not testify. She underwent surgery after the melee for facial and head cuts as well as the eye injury.

The officers said there were broken bottles in the apartment.

At the conclusion of the hearing, Fields' attorney asked that the defendant be released on bail so that he could return to his work. Judge Goldstein denied this motion.

Bagley Introduces Proposal For Curbing Welfare Abuses

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill requiring the parents of an unmarried minor who has a child to reimburse counties for welfare payments under Aid to Families with Dependent Children has been introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The bill was asked by the Marin County Board of Supervisors to eliminate what it cited as a legal abuse of welfare.

The bill, however, also states that it would not relieve the unmarried minor "of any legal obligation to support his children."

Another bill introduced by Bagley would allow school districts in Marin to lend their buses to the Marin County Transit District when not needed for school purposes. The same bill has been defeated annually by the California Highway Patrol, which argues that yellow school buses should be used only for school purposes. General use of the buses would undermine drivers' habits of respecting laws requiring them to stop for school buses, according to the Highway Patrol.

Also introduced by Bagley was a bill providing that grand juries shall not spend or incur obligations in excess of the amount budgeted by county supervisors unless approved in advance by the presiding judge of the superior court after the supervisors have been advised of the request.

Hat Into Ring

BOSTON (AP) — Kenneth P. O'Donnell, a special assistant to the late President John F. Kennedy, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor of Massachusetts.

School Bonds In Oxnard Defeated

OXNARD (AP) — A bond issue totaling nearly $4 million dollars for new facilities in the Oxnard Elementary School District drew a turnout of only 24.6 per cent of the 14,729 eligible voters and failed.

School officials had been apprehensive that integration issues would work against a successful election Tuesday.

A final tabulation from all 13 precincts showed that of the 3,622 persons who cast ballots, 1,913 votes favored the measure and 1,701 opposed it. A two-thirds majority was required for passage.

HONOR ST. PATRICK

Bake Irish Soda Bread To Serve On Tuesday

Irish stew, Limerick ham and corned beef and cabbage are well known Irish dishes, but the most popular Irish food among visitors to Ireland remains the traditional Irish soda bread.

Theodora Fitzgibbon, noted Irish cookery expert and author of "A Taste of Ireland", has the following suggestions for giving your St. Patrick's Day table an Irish flavor.

IRISH SODA BREAD

4 cups whole-wheat flour
2 cups plain white flour
1 cup buttermilk, sour milk, or fresh milk; if the last, 1 teasp. cream of tartar is added to dry ingredients
1 teasp. bicarbonate of soda
1 teasp. salt

Mix all the dry ingredients together and make a well in the center. Add enough milk to make a thick dough. Stir with a wooden spoon; the pouring should be done in large quantities, not spoonful by spoonful. The mixture should be slack but not wet and the mixing done lightly and quickly. Add a little more milk if it seems too stiff.

With floured hands put on to a lightly floured board or table and flatten the dough into a circle about 1½ in. thick. Put on to a baking sheet, and make a large cross over it with a floured knife. Bake in a moderate to hot oven (375-400°) for about 40 minutes. The bread should not be cut until it is quite cold and "set". This takes from 4 to 6 hours.

PORTER CAKE

4½ cups sifted flour
2½ cups brown sugar
3 cups seedless raisins
1½ cups sultanas
1 teasp. bicarbonate of soda, melted in warm Guinness
4 eggs
1 cup butter
1 cup glace cherries
1 cup blanched chopped almonds
1 cup mixed chopped peel
½ pt. Guinness, warmed juice and grated rind of 1 lemon pinch of mixed spice.

Rub the butter into the flour and add all the other ingredients. Blend very well. Beat the eggs with the lukewarm Guinness and add the bicarbonate of dry cake mixture, and turn into a greased and lined cake tin, measuring 9 in. in diameter and 3 in. high. It should be covered with a greaseproof paper, and baked in a slow oven (200-250°) for about 3-3½ hours, removing the paper for the last half-hour.

TUNA IS ONE of the economical foods as meat prices continue upward, and it goes well in combination with green vegetables, such as string beans. Try the salad for a luncheon treat and the casserole for the dinner dish.

Green Beans, Tuna Combine In Casserole Dish Or Salad

Tender, crunchy green beans pop with nutrients and a delicate flavor welcomed throughout the year. Their pop art is a special crowd-pleaser! You can cook like an expert with fresh green beans used in scores of ways. Weight watchers relish the pod with its scanty sheath of calories.

Early explorers frequently found climbing beans planted with maize over the Americas. Snap beans apparently originated in tropical areas in Central America.

Preparation of green beans is simple: wash them; snip off the ends and let your imagination frolic for different put-togethers. Beans enjoy a wide circle of escorts on the food scene. Perhaps they'll be squired to the table with a gourmet touch of Hollandaise or an exciting cheese sauce. They may prefer a romp with bacon or tomatoes or turn up in a salad.

GREEN BEAN TUNA CASSEROLE

2 pounds fresh green beans
2 cans (6½ ounces each) tuna, drained
½ cup butter or margarine, melted
4 teaspoons prepared mustard
2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt

Cook beans in a small amount of boiling salted water, covered, until just tender. Drain, if necessary. Arrange alternate layers of green beans and tuna in lightly buttered 2-quart casserole. Combine butter or margarine, mustard, lemon juice and salt. Drizzle over ingredients in casserole. Cover and bake in 350° oven about 20 minutes or until thoroughly heated. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

TUNA GREEN BEAN SALAD

½ pound fresh green beans
1 can (6½ ounces) tuna, drained
⅓ cup thinly sliced celery
3 tablespoons salad oil
2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
1 teaspoon minced fresh onion
½ teaspoon salt

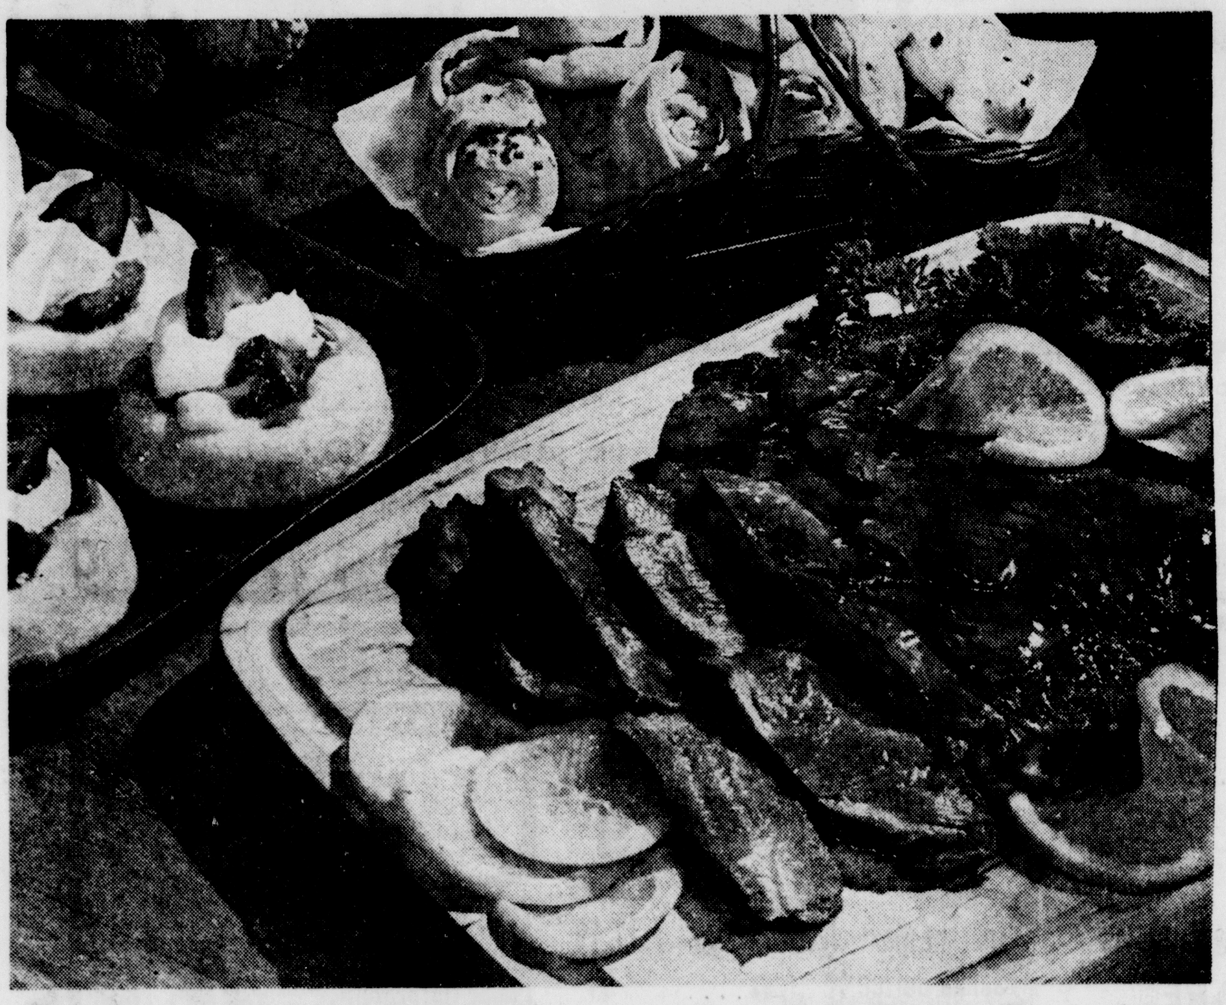

Cut green beans into 1-inch pieces. Cook, covered, in small amount of boiling salted water until just tender. Drain, if necessary; cool. Combine beans with tuna and celery. Mix together remaining ingredients; toss lightly with green bean mixture. Chill about one hour. Mix lightly before serving. Makes about four servings.

Skim Milk Powder

Instant skim milk powder makes it possible to get more milk into your meals in an economical and convenient way. It may also be added to various foods not usually made with milk to increase the food value.

Inventory Kitchen Cupboard

The inventory, a regular review of food in refrigerator and cupboard, guards against waste. Not only can leftovers in the refrigerator be made into tasty madeovers, but regular checks of food in the cupboard will remind the homemaker to use the supplies while still fresh.

A Sausage-Apricot Idea

When you want to serve your family something special but don't have time to prepare an elaborate dish, try this recipe for Sausage-Apricot Treat, suggests Reba Staggs, home economist.

Pork sausage takes only about 10 minutes to precook and brown. Then it's quickly combined with mushroom soup, milk, spices and apricot halves; topped with refrigerated rolls and baked for 30 minutes.

How's that for quick and easy, yet satisfying, service!

SAUSAGE-APRICOT TREAT

2 pounds fresh (bulk) pork sausage
¼ cup water
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed mushroom soup
2 tablespoons milk
¼ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon curry powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 can (16 ounces) apricot halves, drained
1 package (8 ounces) refrigerated butterflake dinner rolls, if desired

Place sausage and water in cold frying-pan. Cover tightly and cook slowly 5 minutes. Pour off drippings. Cook slowly, stirring occasionally, until lightly browned, about 5 minutes. Combine sausage, mushroom soup, milk, ginger, curry powder and salt. Carefully fold in apricot halves. Pour into a 2-quart casserole. Separate dinner rolls and arrange in three overlapping rows over sausage mixture. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) 30 minutes. 6 servings.

Dice, Mince Or Cube

Know the difference between dicing, mincing and cubing? Dicing means to cut into small squares that are from ¼ to ½-inch. Mincing means to cut as small as possible. Cubing means to cut into pieces that are ½-inch or larger.

Marinate Low-Cost Cuts For Barbecue

Have you ever investigated the less expensive cuts of meat as a barbecue choice? With meat tenderizer and a snappy marinade the cuts can be just as tender and more flavorful than expensive steak.

Take Pin-Money Barbecued Steak, for instance. Sprinkle chuck steak with meat tenderizer then allow to marinate for at least an hour in a garlicky marinade made from canned tomato sauce with mushrooms.

Garnish the steak with orange slices lightly grilled in garlic-flavored oil. Make a marinated bean salad and serve with crispy Biscuit Pinwheels made from refrigerated crescent dinner rolls.

For dessert fill packaged sponge cake cups with canned vanilla pudding and crown with a fresh strawberry glaze. So simple —but so good and pretty.

PIN-MONEY BARBECUED STEAK

1 Chuck steak, cut 1 inch thick (about 2-½ pounds)
Meat tenderizer
1 unpeeled orange, thinly sliced
1 clove garlic, crushed
2 tablespoons pure vegetable oil
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce with mushrooms
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

If desired, sprinkle steak with meat tenderizer, according to label directions; place in shallow non-metal dish. In skillet lightly brown orange slices with garlic in oil; set slices aside. To skillet add remaining ingredients; bring to boil. Pour sauce over steady; turn steak to coat with sauce. Let stand at room temperature at least 1 hour. About 35 minutes before serving drain steak, reserving sauce.

Place steak on grill 4 inches above glowing coals; brown on both sides. Continue cooking, turning and basting frequently with sauce, until steak reaches desired doneness (allow a total cooking time of 25 minutes for rare, 30 minutes for medium). Remove steak to cutting board; allow to stand about 5 minutes before slicing. Garnish with orange slices; serve with remaining sauce. Makes 6 servings.

BISCUIT PINWHEELS

Preheat oven to 400°. Unroll dough from package (8 ounces) refrigerated cresent dinner rolls; Brush the thet he thet het he separate dough into 4 rectangles. Brush rectangles with melted butter; sprinkle with 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley. Starting at short side, roll up each jelly-roll fashion. Cut each roll crosswise into 3 slices, Place slices, cut-side up, on ungreased baking sheet; brush with additional melted butter. Bake 10 to 13 minutes. Makes 12 rolls.

Lobster-Emerald Salad

A little fruity white wine in the salad dressing makes a connective link of flavors with the same wine sipped with the salad. The result is that the wine to drink and the salad to eat complement one another superbly.

LOBSTER-EMERALD SALAD

¾ pound cooked and chilled lobster meat (or ¾ pound cooked, shelled, and deveined shrimp), cut into bite-size chunks
3 tablespoons dry white wine
3 chilled oranges, peeled, sliced ½ inch thick, and each slice quartered
½ cup finely sliced celery
3 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley
2 tablespoons finely sliced green onions with part of green tops
About ¼ cup mayonnaise
Salt
Leafy salad greens
Freshly grted or ground nutmeg

Place lobster in a bowl, sprinkle with dry white wine and chill for 1 hour, turning once or twice. Pour off any excess wine. Add oranges, celery, parsley, and onions to lobster, and gently toss all ingredients with enough mayonnaise to moisten and salt to season. Arrange in a chilled shallow bowl or platter lined with salad greens or in individual lettuce-lined plates or salad bowls. Grate nutmeg over the top. Makes three to four luncheon salad servings.

A Block Plan For Child Safety

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Barbara Cymanski, having succeeded in persuading the Tamalpais Valley Parent-Teacher Association to participate in the nationwide block parent juvenile protection program, is eager to see it adopted throughout Marin.

"The major purpose of the program is to offer homes as refuges to children who are ill, lost, injured, frightened or otherwise in need of help. But it also has proved valuable in discouraging child molesters and other undesirables in neighborhoods," she explains.

"It provides additional eyes and ears for local police in juvenile protection."

"J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, says that only constant vigilance against the child molester can prevent attacks by these vicious criminals" she noted, adding that this is a national problem that can and does happen in all types of neighborhoods.

Many law enforcement officials say that this problem has been significantly reduced and in many cases eliminated from an area where the block parent program is in effect.

"The objective," Barbara says, "is to have at least two block homes per block, which are designated by a black and orange poster displayed in a window. Homes are those of people, usually women, who have agreed to undertake, the responsiblity by submitting applications, which are filed in the sheriff's office. All information is held in strict confidence.

"The main idea in requiring applications," she explains, "is to provide the opportunity to check such things as social security numbers and physical descriptions on drivers' licenses or other identification to make sure the applicants are who they say they are and have no police record."

Lt. Harvey E. Teague of the juvenile bureau of the Marin county sheriff's office screens the applications. He has stated that he too is eager to see the program adopted countywide.

Once it is known that some screening is required ,it is not likely that an undesirable person will apply to be a block parent, Barbara observes.

What are the other requirements for block parents?

They should be people who will be at home during the hours of heaviest traffic to and from school. Likely candidates are the parents of pre-schoolers, elderly people, hosuewives without children and, of course, parents having children in school.

Volunteers are not expected to do anything for a child that they wouldn't ordinarily do. The difference is that they have a sign in the window indicating to children that in this home they can get emergency help and that an adult is probably at home.

Many parents teach their children not to go into strange houses, but children should be encouraged by parents and the schools to use the block homes when needed, says Mrs. Cymanski.

"Some people," Barbara admits, "may be concerned about their liability for whatever happens in their homes. They must remember that the mere posting of a sign in their window does not change their responsibility a bit. If they would have taken in a frightened child before they joined the block parent program, there is no reason why they should hesitate afterward because of this fear. It is entirely up to the consicence of the block parent."

Barbara, who is Mrs. Ronald Cymanski of Tamalpais Valley, is the mother of two children, Mike, 5, and Amy, 2. When on attempting to volunteer as a block parent she learned that the program was not established, she obtained materials through the police department in Fairfield, where her brother-in-law is a teacher. She found that the All State Foundation in Menlo Park furnishes free the block parent home posters.

Barbara is urging more people in the Tamalpais area to become block parents, since she says there cannot be too many. She also says she will be glad to tell anyone wishing to start such a program elsewhere in the County how to proceed.

Retired Need Housing, New Interests, Guild Women Hear

By PAT BALMES

"Thirty-four percent of the men in their first year of retirement die," says Edward Ryken, director of Marin Senior Citizens Coordinating Council. His talk on the "Frustrations of Retirement" was the last in a series of Marin Mental Health Association speakers to address the St. Stephen's Guild of Belvedere.

Economic, physical and psychological frustrations are the cause of the shocking death rate, he said.

"When you realize these men come from a generation when the only meaningful thing in life was work, you can almost understand the tragedy of a 65-year-old man jumping off the bridge. We need to change this attitude in our culture to an equal acceptance of the leisure ethic by pre-retirement planning starting in a man's 30s."

HE EXPECTS the 32-hour work week to be commonplace in 10 years. A plumbers union in New York has an 18-hour week, but requires its members to do six hours of volunteer community service weekly, according to Ryken.

"We need to establish this balance between leisure activity and work, so a retiring man can make the transition of emphasis from work to leisure."

"The adage 'You can't teach an old dog new tricks' isn't true," according to Ryken. The new generation of social workers call for training about retirement problems as part of an employer's retirement program. Retraining for parttime jobs may be an answer, he said.

DISCUSSING MARIN, he said, "There are 21,000 epople over 65. Marin is the wealthiest county per capita in the nation today. It has the highest educational level in the state and second highest in the nation. The majority of those over 65 have incomes of about $7,000 a year. But we have 6,000 elderly people on an income of about $1,700 a year. This is existence, not living! This condition results from no retirement funds, only social security. Lack of money and lack of activity are contributors to death."

In 1964 low cost housing was approved by the voters: Housing of Marin Elderly (HOME).

"The results are delightful, beautiful small units, sometimes better than the rest of the neighborhood," says Ryken proudly. "But 200 units are not even a start. Council for Adequate Shelter for All (CASA) will submit a measure to voters for 600 small units for elderly and low income families. Dignified, decent housing, with friends their own age can rehabilitate a failing senior citizen. This kind of housing chips away at frustration."

Speaking about bad health that plagues some elderly persons, Ryken remarks,

"OLD PEOPLE don't notice their slow deterioration in seeing and hearing. Everybody diminishes in hearing ability as they grow old. They turn the television louder and because they can't hear well, they think people can't hear them so they shout. When eyesight fails, they fight getting new glasses. Some will furitvely buy cheap glasses, which only speed deterioration. Properly prescribed glasses could arrest the failing eyesight. Cataracts are common. These old people need help to work out physical problems." says Ryken.

"Retirement should be a reward," says Ryken. "The community has to be ready to use old people's talents. Marin sets the trends because of the master plan set up 20 years ago and the creation of the Senior Citizens Coordinating Council."

Contrasting achievements today with "the time when old people's recreation was only window shopping", he pointed out that the Greyhound Bus Station in San Anselmo has been run by senior citizens since April, 1969. Rafael Convalescent Hospital has hired senior citizens as recreational directors, who were specially trained for the job. During tax season, the county treasurer's office works around the clock. He hired and trained older people for the graveyard shift with good results. A training program in parliamentary procedures has been given senior citizens to encourage their leadership ability in the community.

"We can only fill one-fourth of the job requests of the elderly," says Ryken. "And we have some dynamic senior citizens," he concluded, referring to a group who want to buy the Marshall Hotel and employ only older people to run a "Gay Nineties Hotel".

STELLA LEACH, a spokesman for the Indians occupying Alcatraz, discussed the plight of the American Indians and the current situation on Alcatraz with a group of San Rafael High School students yesterday at the school.

Indian Woman's Plea For Her Peoples' Dignity

By JOAN LISETOR

When Stella Leach spoke to a group of San Rafael High School students yesterday she remained seated, explaining that according to her native American religion no man is elevated above another.

Mrs. Leach is a member of the council of Indians of All Tribes, Inc., and one of the chief spokesmen for the Indians occupying Alcatraz Island. She spoke to American history students at the invitation of Lynn Bagley, a senior at the high school, who is heading a drive for donations of goods for the Indians on Alcatraz.

"I PREFER speaking to high school students, rather than establishment groups, because it is the younger people who can make the changes," the Indian woman said.

She explained that the Indians landed on Alcatraz to establish a system to educate their own people because the system set up by the government has demolished their young people.

"We want to make changes. Our death rate is the highest as is our suicide rate, unemployment, which has reached 87 per cent, and the life span of a male Indian is 40 years." she said.

"We gave you this country in good faith, and you raped it. There is no ghetto in any city as poor as our reservations where the average size house has one and a half rooms. Our religion was outlawed by a nation that promised religious freedom and was forced to go underground for 100 years. Now we are going to bring it out in the open and restore dignity to our people," she said.

THE INDIAN woman discussed plans for an ecology exchange student program, which she said, would not be for Indians alone.

"We want changes for all people and fresh air. The corporations are ruining the country, and money mad men have siezed up all the land" Mrs. Leach said. "Madison Avenue has survived by making you believe you need appliances in your home. We are using wash boards on Alcatraz, and the average weight loss of our girls has been 12 pounds."

Mrs. Leach believes that the Indians are the most mistreated of all minorities.

"The first treaty signed between the government and the Indians was when Washington was president, guaranteeing land for the Indians. That treaty was broken by the government, and no land has ever been given back to the Indians.

"WE CLAIMED Alcatraz so the white man could show what a piece of paper meant."

She said the Indians do not

By HELEN BOTTEL

Smokers Need To Consider The Care And Feeding Of Non-Smokers

DEAR HELEN:

Won't you please write something about the care and feeding of non-smokers?

Why must people light up during a meal, or the minute they gulp the last bite, whether others are finished or not? I can take cigarette smoke when I'm not at the table with it, but confined to a small area, trying to eat, and getting air pollution right in your face — it's too much.

If I want my food smoked I'll buy it that way, and I prefer hickory flavor.

Also, why can't smokers be more careful? We have a burn on our tile floor and one on an expensive table. I quake every time we have friends over. They don't notice, but we go out of our tree as they drop hot ashes, let cigarettes burn themselves out of the tray, or near-miss a dress or coat, or tablecloth.

As host and hostess, we're willing to put up with smaze (smoky haze) and dirty ash trays, but as guests, shouldn't smokers exercise a little caution and etiquette? — NON-SMOKER WHO IS SMOKING HOT

DEAR NSWISH:

They certainly should. Smokers, hear this: Puff with care, where these's air to spare. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

You're from California. Tell us is a "dissolved" marriage (by your new law out there) any easier to take than a divorce? — EASTERNER

DEAR EASTERNER:

An axe by any other name cuts as deep. Whether marriage ends by dissolution or divorce the hurt is still there, although California's modernized laws make settlements easier—sometimes.

(At other times—until the kinks are ironed out—they make for confusion.) — H.

DEAR HELEN:

With the Pill under fire, about twice the usual number of men are asking about vasectomies lately. I'm surprised at how little people know about this simple operation. I realize you don't conduct a doctor's column, but a few facts might relieve marital worries. As follows:

1. A vasectomy makes a man sterile but not impotent. It is minor surgery usually done in minutes in the doctor's office. Discomfort is slight. There is no loss of manhood, unless the patient is psychologically uniftted for the operation—and this is a matter for for his family doctor to judge. Few exerience any problems here—and a surprising number have had the operation.

2. The operation is 99 per cent successful. When the vas deferens tube is tied and cut, it seldom rejoins naturally, but because this can happen, two sperm counts should be required. A lawsuit is currently being fought against a doctor who assured a patient he was safe without the proper tests. After his wife produced their second post-vasectomy baby, the couple filed charges.

3. One should be very sure before he makes his decision, for the operation is only about 50 percent reversible. This may change in a few years as medical science advances.

4. Why the man instead of the woman? Mainly because the tying of the (female) fallopian tubes in major surgery, much more expensive and involving more risk. Otherwise, it's a matter of choice. — DR. W.M.

DEAR HELEN:

My wife said she was getting too fat. She asked me to tell the truth. So I said "Yes," which is the truth. How come the thing women ask for is what they least want to hear? — BAFFLED HUSBAND

DEAR BAF:

For the same reason they gravitate to slenderizing mirrors and scales that weigh light. Truth is too broadening. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Plain Water Outperforms Leading Detergent In Tests

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON—It is just possible that the oldest and most common laundry aid known to man may turn out to be the miracle to end all the more highly publicized washday "miracles."

It is plain water.

No kidding. In a recent series of tests at Marquette University, plain water outperformed the country's biggest selling detergent and a special laboratory detergent in getting soiled diapers clean.

Four dozen white cotton diapers were used in the experiments. Three were set aside for comparative purposes. The rest were soiled thoroughly with mud and dried, then stained at one corner with barbecue sauce. Three dirty diapers were also set aside.

The remaining diapers were divided randomly into three piles of 14 each and washed separately in automatic washing machines for 14 minutes with a warm rinse, then dried for 40 minutes in a gas dryer.

A team of six observers (three men and three women) compared the three piles of washed diapers with the six unwashed diapers on the basis of three factors: whiteness, general cleanliness and stain removal. Results were rated numerically, the lowest number indicating best results.

In the matter of whiteness, none of the washed diapers matched the whiteness of new diapers. The load washed in Tide rated a score of "1," the best; water was next with a "2" and the special detergent got a rating of "3."

In the matter of general cleanliness, or removal of dirt all methods were given the same rating of "1".

In the matter of removing stains, plain water scored "1," Tide was given a "3" and the other detergent a "2."

Total scores add up to 4 for plain water, 5 for Tide and 6 for Brand X. In summary, therefore, water was the most effective over-all. It did second best in getting diapers white, it tied for the best in removing dirt, and was the best in removing stains.

AAUW Branches Plan Community Action Conference On Saturday

DR. JOHN A. GRASHAM

"Community Action for the Seventies" is the theme of a conference to be sponsored by the Marin, Novato, Mill Valley and Petaluma branches of the American Association of University Women beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

Guest speaker will be Dr. John A. Grasham, superintendent-president of College of Marin. His topic will be "New Look on Campus" one of four study topics undertaken by AAUW women this year.

Dr. Grasham, formerly president of Los Angeles Southwest College, received the Ph.D in speech from the University of Southern California and at one time was an announcer and writer for a Phoenix, Ariz., radio station.

Six workshops will be held in the morning followed by a buffet luncheon at 1 p.m.

"American Foreign Policy-Focus on Southeast Asia" will be directed by Mrs. Russell Wallace of Mill Valley, national and state AAUW chairman for world affairs. She is a past president of the Mill Valley branch.

Mrs. Marjorie Mowat, AAUW state division representative for cultural interests, will conduct the session, "New Directions for Cultural Interest." She is a past president of both Novato and King City AAUW branches. She is president of Novato Friends of the Library.

A workshop on Marin County community issues entitled, "How Can Humans Relate" will focus on multi-ethnic studies and flood control versus beautification. Mrs. Daniel Deedy, trustee of College of Marin and Marin County AAUW branch community interests representative will preside.

"This Beleagured Earth" will be discussed with Mrs. William Bohn of San Mateo as chairman. Mrs. Bohn is a member of the AAUW state division beleagured earth committee.

Mrs. Joseph Monroe, AAUW state representative for education, a trustee of San Carlos School District and past president of the San Carlos AAUW branch, will preside at the "Education for Tomorrow" session. Some of the new educational programs in Marin County will be discussed in the hour and a half workshop.

"How to Have an Effective Branch Legislative Program" is the topic of the sixth session. Helen Van Deinse of Novato branch and former legislative chairman for the Oakland branch AAUW will lead the discussion.

Chairmen for the conference are AAUW branch presidents. They are Mmes. Raymond Kaufman of Marin; Harry Moore of Novato; Elgar Hill of Mill Valley; Jack Froom of Petaluma, and John Hess, director-at-large of Mill Valley branch.

THE FIRST annual dinner for the North Marin Federation of Homeowners and Improvement Association will be held at the Officers Club at Hamilton Air Force Base Friday.

A social hour at 7 p.m. will be followed by dinner at 8. Entertainment will be vocal solos by Lee Gerner and Denise Woomer and the Octet group from San Marin High School will sing.

THE LEAGUE of Women Voters of Southern Marin will combine all units to meet tomorrow at 9:45 a.m. in the Mill Valley Public Library gallery for a program on human resources and discussion of national program planning.

Highlight of the program will be the showing of parts of the film "The Exiles," a Mac Kenzie production, which shows American Indians living in Los Angeles. The film will be followed by a presentation by the human resources committee on the plight of the American Indian on welfare.

According to Mrs. Richard Park of Tiburon, chairman of the committee, becoming aware of the needs of Indians is the first contribution anyone can make.

Recommendations for the league's proposed program for study on a national level will be discussed.

THE ROHNERT Park Garden Club has approved a project to spearhead the planting of a circle in front of the Rohnert Park Community Center with the plans depending upon alterations to the underground watering system.

Mrs. Roy Tignor, chairman, will be assisted on the project committee by Mmes. John Dolan, George Nechak, A. O. Revard and Bruce Sherrod.

Joining the club in the execution of the plan will be the Rohnert Park Department of Public Works.

MRS. DONALD Miller, chairman of the Tamalpais District of the Golden Gate Council of Camp Fire Girls, has announced new officers for the district, which covers Southern Marin.

They are Mmes. Robert Praetzel of Kentfield, secretary; Henry Bigall of Corte Madera, training chairman; and Donald Forbes, Blue Bird leader chairman.

THE CREATIVE Living Center of Sonoma has elected officers for 1970. They are Mmes. Donald Usher, president; Blanche Morgan, vice president; Waldron Parker, secretary, Harold Hewitt, vice secretary; and Melvin Hunter, treasurer.

The center, in operation each Monday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the United Methodist Church in Sonoma, offers non-sectarian programs of arts and crafts, creative writing, discussion, cooking and social fellowship for all interested persons, particularly for those who have emotional or other problems.

Several activities are in need of voluntary leadership. Mrs. Parker is available for details.

Mrs. Frank King of Novato is treasurer. The other new officers are Mmes. William Roddy, vice president, and David Cody, secretary, both of San Francisco.

Mary E. Henschel Becomes The Bride Of Donald Roys

Aldersgate Methodist Church in San Rafael was the setting for the wedding of Mary Eileen Henschel of Napa to Donald Allyn Roys of San Rafael Feb. 28.

The bride's sister Rose Henschel of Santa Monica was her honor attendant, and the bridesmaids were Sandra Valent of San Rafael and Catherine Eager of Sierra Vista.

MR. AND MRS. DONALD A. ROYS

A reception followed at the Oakview Club in Terra Linda. The couple left on a wedding trip to Carmel and San Simeon and are living in San Rafael.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Henschel of Venice and the sister of Mrs. Eager, Michael Henschel of Mar Vista, and Joseph and Edward Henschel of Venice.

Mary is a graduate of St. Monica High School, Santa Monica City College and St. John's Hospital School of Radiolic Technology. She is an X-ray technician at Queen of the Valley Hospital in Napa.

"Why pay to play?" she asked.

MRS. LEACH discussed a bill that was passed last week in Sacramento saying that as far as California was concerned the land should be given to the Indians. She said they have a promise from Robert Robertson of the Urban Indian Affairs Bureau that the Indians will have a decision from Washington this week on whether the government will allow them to keep Alcatraz.

This is the reason, she said, that she wishes the kids in Seattle could have cooled it another week, but, she added, she could understand why they could not wait.

"Alcatraz is a spiritual symbol for all Indians," Mrs. Leach said. "We intend to remain there peacefully, but we intend to remain."

The Indians need many things to maintain Alcatraz, she said, but the most immediate needs are money, foood and gardening and carpentry tools. Donations can be left at the Alcatraz Supply Depot at 536 Third Street in San Rafael through Monday.

detergents and whiteners and brighteners and enzymes and other assorted laundry aids, you should understand that the Marquette tests were very limited in scope.

In reporting the results to the Milwaukee Sewerage Commission earlier this month, the Marquette researchers pointed out the necessity of testing many other variables, such as other stains, fabrics, temperatures, etc., before conslusive evaluations could be made.

The purpose of the experiment was primarily to determine the washing ability of the special detergent, which contained a substitute for phosphates, a common ingredient blamed for water pollution.

The report was given to a House subcommittee headed by Rep. Henry Reuss (D-Wis.) during recent hearings on the role of phosphates in pollution.

The surprising superiority of plain water to the detergents was an unexpected dividend, which, if eventually confirmed by later tests, could rinse away a lot of washday blues.

LIBRARY PLANNED IN CORTE MADERA

This architect's model shows the clerestory roof of the proposed new Corte Madera branch of the Marin County library system. The roof is designed to admit daylight and reduce the need for artificial lighting. The 10,300-square-foot building is to be built without interior columns, with natural wood used extensively inside and out. The library, to serve as a southern Marin regional branch, will be built on the F. R. Sanford property at Meadowsweet Drive and Sanford Street. Architects for the $390,000 building are Neill Smith and Associates, San Francisco. Schematic drawings have been approved by the Corte Madera Town Council.

KRON Slapped With Another Big Lawsuit

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO—A second invasion of privacy suit, identical in outline to one filed Friday in Marin by a Marin County former television cameraman, was filed yesterday by a woman opposing renewal of the license of television station KRON, operated by the Chronicle Broadcasting Co.

Blance Streeter is asking for $150,000 in damages in a suit filed in San Francisco Superior Court.

Mrs. Streeter charges that detectives invaded her privacy by questioning her former in-laws and friends about her.

Named as defendents were General Service Investigators Inc., a San Francisco detective firm; its owners Gerald A. Neilson and Michael Hamel-Green; the Chronicle Publishing Co.; the broadcasting affiliate and the law firm of Cooper, White and Cooper, which represents the Chronicle.

The Federal Communications Commission is to hold a public hearing Tuesday on renewal of the station's license.

Tam Hiring Session

The Tamalpais High School District board will hold a closed meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the district office to consider hiring employees and to meet with the salary negotiating team.

Coffee For Younger

A public coffee for Los Angeles Dist. Atty. Evelle J. Younger, candidate for the Republican nomination for state attorney general, will be held at 2:45 p.m. tomorrow at the San Rafael home of John A. Busterud, 102 Mountain View Avenue.

Planners Ask Staff Report Timing Shift

The Cotati Planning Commission last night requested that staff reports on requests for architectural approval be ready prior to meetings so that continual postponments will not be necessary.

The move came after three agenda items were postponed to the March 24 meetings for reports from Melvin Pedersen of the Sonoma County Planning staff.

The commission said it felt that the time of the commission and the applicants would not be wasted if advisory work were done before the meetings.

Postponmenst included a request for architectural approval for a Fastgas service station at 7898 Redwood Highway; for a cannery sales store at 7646 Redwood Highway; and an application from Margaret Illias to subdivide a lot at Maple Avenue and West School Street into three lots.

MUSIC REVIEW

May Curtain Never Fall On The 'Fiddler'

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

SAN FRANCISCO — "Fiddler on the Roof," will likely run forever someplace. Its music is the type that lingers in the mind long after the final curtain.

The old friend arrived last night at the Curran Theater for a two-week run with chances of a sellout.

There are so many things that make this musical one of the all-time favorites. In this national touring company revival it surely has to be Harry Goz as Tevye, one of the most memorable characters to grace a musical stage.

Goz, who has played the part more than 100 times, still has that freshness of character. Last night he was a splendid Tevye—the kindly father and a philosopher of sorts who communes with his God for strength. His rich baritone comes across neither harsh nor too soft as he muses to himself in "If I Were A Rich Man." Coupled with his vocal ability, his facial gestures and stage movements are theatrical gems.

For those who have forgotten the story line based on a book by Joseph Stein with music and lyrics by Jerry Bock and Sheldon Harnick, it is simply a story of a poor father and mother who want their three oldest daughters to marry well.

It is set in the small Russian village of Anatevka, on the eve of the revolution of 1906.

Goz has an excellent cast supporting him in Laura Stuart as his wife, Golde; Charlotte Jones as Yente, the matchmaker; the three marriage-age daughters, Doreen Dunn as Tzietel; Mary Ann Chinn as Hodel, and Alexandra Stoddart as Chava.

Also winning nods in the key supporting roles are Stacy McAdams as Motel, the tailor, Sidney Ben-Zali as Perchik, the revolutionary student; Joel Wolfe as Lazar Wolf, the butcher, and Sanford Seeger as the Rabbi.

One of the successful keys to this long-time popular musical is its choreography, executed by Jerome Robbins, who has done so many outstanding Broadway productions, including West Side Story. Of all, "The Bottle Dance" is the major highlight of "Fiddler."

While the stage setting may be a little on the shabby side, it fits perfectly with the time the musical is set. The costuming is bright, but not too overpowering in pointing up the poverty of the times.

Last night, the only troublesome thing was a little too exhuberant pit orchestra. Without the help of well-placed microphones, some of the lovely melodies would have been lost.

Old Nazi Film Showing Slated

"Triumph of the Will," a film that helped vault Nazism onto the world's center stage, will be presented Friday at 8 p.m. in the Sausalito Youth Center, 180 Harrison Avenue.

The movie was filmed in Germany in 1934 when more than 750,000 of Hitler's followers met for one of the largest political rallies in this century. Hitler's deputy, Paul Joseph Goebbels, commissioned a young woman director and film maker, Lenie Riefenstahl, to make the film, designed to introduce Hitler to Germany and the world.

Car's Occupants Face Pot Counts

Two young persons arrested in Marinwood Friday night were arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on drug charges but two other companions were not charged.

Lisa Ann Nance, 19, of Lucas Valley, was accused of possessing marijuana, and James Stephen Maring, also 19 and of Lucas Valley, was charged with possessing a restricted drug, stelazine.

Released were Sandra Lee Smith, 18, and Robert Sullivan Morris, 19, both of Lucas Valley. The district attorney's office said there was insufficient evidence against them.

The young people were arrested after their car was stopped and sheriff's deputies noticed an aroma of marijuana.

Miss Nance and Maring are to return to court next Tuesday to enter pleas.

A westerner may now visit Burma but for only 72 hours.

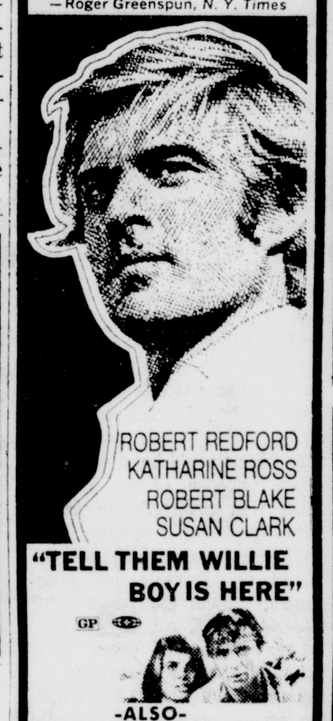

Exposure Report

A man in his late 40s sitting in a light blue sedan yesterday at 365 Third Street indecently exposed himself to a woman passing by, San Rafael police reported today. The incident occurred between 1 and 3 p.m., police said.

Auto Stolen

Daniel Meyerson of 89 Magnolia Avenue, San Anselmo said his 1951 maroon Packard convertible with unknown license was stolen between Saturday and yesterday from a parking lot at 745 B Street, San Rafael police reported today.

Redwood In Fast Company At Tourney Of Champions

By GARY TISCHLER

Beginning tomorrow, Redwood High School's basketball team, which has been having a great time of it in winning the Marin County Athletic League title for a second straight year, will be moving in some very fast company.

Tomorrow is the day the classy Tournament of High School Champions kicks off action at the Oakland Coliseum Arena with an eight-team field that is probably one of the best ever at the venerable tournament.

117 WINS

The eight teams entered in the tournament, all champions, have a combined record of 171 wins, 34 losses. Three of them, including Redwood, are rated among the top five teams in Northern California. All of them can score well and often.

Opening day action will see Wilson, 21-5, the San Francisco Triple A champ, meet Amador, (15-7), the East Bay Athletic League champ at 4:30 p.m.

Redwood (25-3) follows by battling Catholic Athletic League champ Bishop O'Dowd, 27-7, at 6 p.m. Top-seeded Berkeley (29-0), the Alameda County champ, meets Mission San Jose (18-5), the Mission Valley Athletic League champ at 7:30 p.m. And second-seeded Castlemont (18-2), the defending champ of the tourney and the Oakland Athletic League champion, takes on Hayward Athletic League champ Arroyo (18-5) at 9 p.m.

TOUGHEST

Of the seeded teams, Redwood has probably drawn the toughest nut to crack in taking on O'Dowd, a team representating a school that is super-strong in basketball tradition, having been the top-rated team in California three years ago.

The Dragons last visited the TOC two years ago, and the visit wasn't exactly a pleasant one. After barely getting by Tamalpais, by seven points, the Dragons were taken to the cleaners by Wilson of San Francisco, the eventual champion, and by McClymonds, 98-74, in a game that set two tournament team scoring records.

FINE DUO

Will and Pete Roberts make up one of the finest shooting duos in the tourney, with Will averaging 15.9 points a game and Roberts 16.8.

The Dragons, who won a tough playoff over St. Mary's for the CAL title, are small, with the biggest man at 6-4, but it obviously hasn't hindered their scoring punch. They're averaging 72.4 points per game and have allowed 65.4.

If Redwood gets past O'Dowd, the Giants will more than likely meet Wilson, which had to over come a surprisingly tough Poly team in the San Francisco playoffs.

Wilson, which won the tourney title two years ago with an unbeaten team, is probably one of the bigger all-around teams in the tournament. The Warriors are headed by a front-line of 6 foot 7 Wayne Snelgro, 6 foot 6 Bob Pruitt and 6 foot 3 Andy Goodin. All three are averaging in double figures, headed by Goodin with 17.2 points per game and followed by Snelgor at 14.6 and Pruitt at 13.8. All three are also averaging more than 10 rebounds a game. The Warriors have wins over O'Dowd and Amador, their first-round opponent, but have lost to Castlemont.

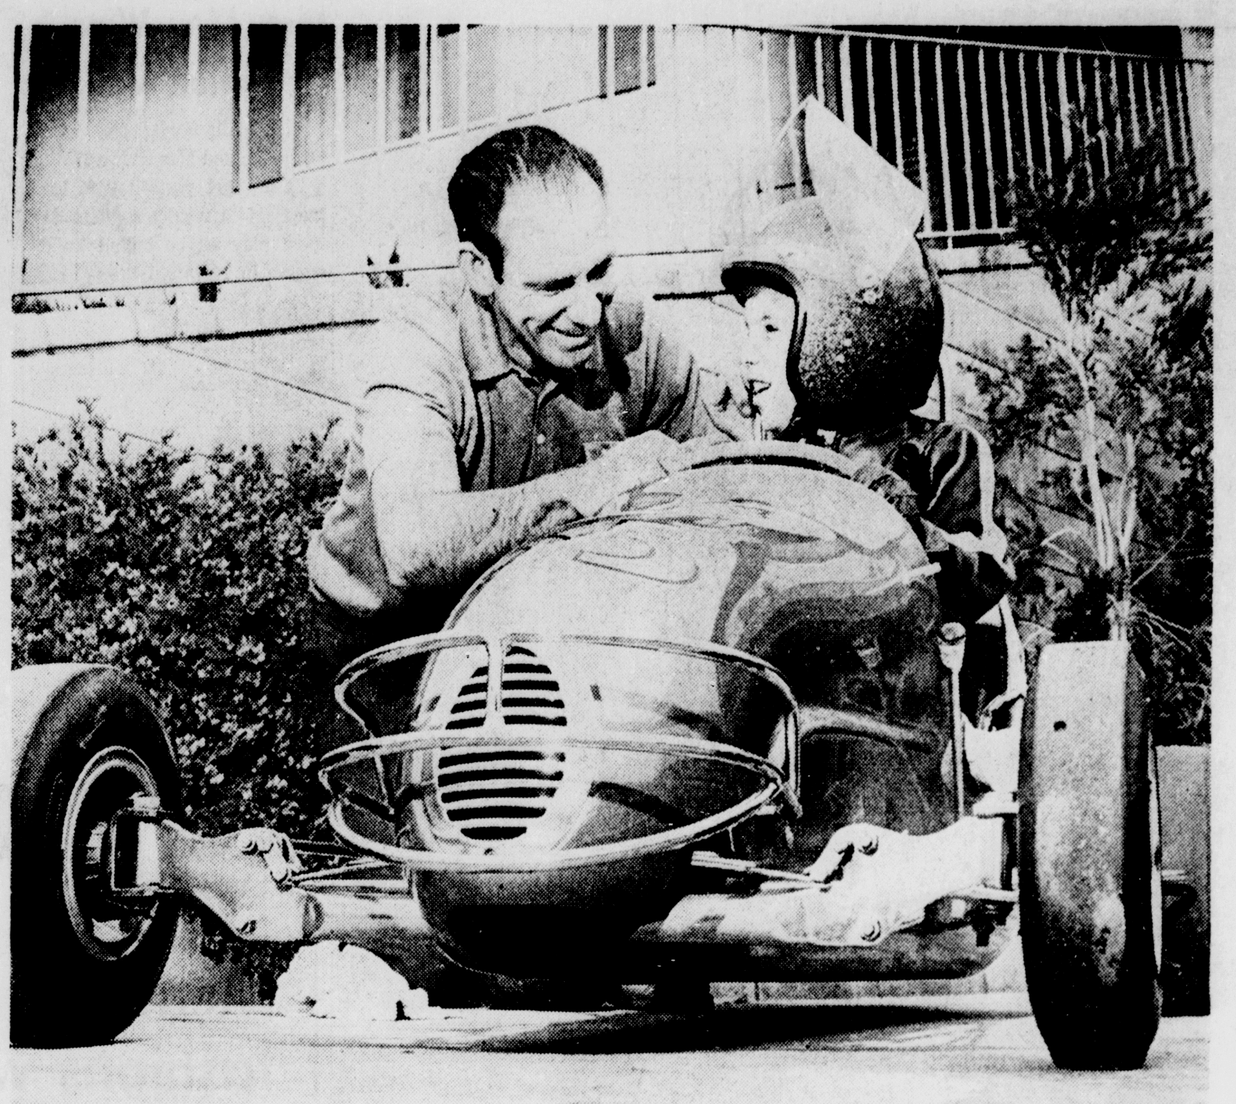

LATE START

Amador is a late-bloomer as far as champs are concerned. Picked to finish fourth in their league, they ran true to form, losing six of their first seven games, then won 14 in a row to win it all. Top scorer is guard Jeff Carter, averaging 19 points per game.

By one of those quirks of fate that seems to hit this tournament fairly regularly, the top-seeded teams find themselves in the same bracket. That would be Berkeley and Castlemont, who will probably meet in the second round.

They're all but conceding Berkeley the tournament title on a silver platter. The Yellow Jackets, who have sent teams to the tournament six times, are rated No. 1 in Northern California and they're just awesome.

Young Men Going For Short, But Fast, Ride

A whole mess of young men are going to go for a ride in the country this weekend.

It is an event that will shatter the tranquility of southern Sonoma County. The noise itself will shake up more than a few horses, cows and sheep.

Unlike you and me going for a leisurely spin in the spring greenery of the Valley of the Moon, with the kids and picnic baskets in the back seat, these young men will be in a hurry.

In the first place they will wear fire suits. And gas masks. And helmets. And the rear compartment of their cars will contain parachutes.

And, while you and I tool into the friendly neighborhood service station for a dollar's worth of regular, these characters will load their tanks with a Nitro-Methene mixture. Try THAT in the family flivver.

Those Chutes Better Open

And their ride in the country will be much shorter than ours—exactly one-quarter of a mile. From a standing start ,they will attain speeds of 140 mph in the first 100 yards and will cross the finish line at approximately 220 mph, about 7 seconds after they started. And if their braking chutes don't work they're liable to wind up at the Rustic Inn at Glen Ellen or in a self-made cave in Schellville.

Pardon the jibberish, but it's that time of year again. Sears Point Raceway opens its 1970 schedule Saturday and Sunday with the San Francisco National Open Drag Championships which will attract more than 300 entries, some of the most explosive machines in the country.

The fuel burning dragsters, always the big hit of any drag show, fit the aforementioned description of speed and equipment. It also should be noted that they go so fast their front wheels kiss the asphalt only every 20 feet or so and the tires, fighting centrifugal force, grow four inches. That's why tires are so expensive, I guess. Inflation!

It's A Colorful Show

The drags appeal more to the now generation, but those of you in the "then" group might get a charge out of the two-day speedfest that will display some of the darnedest machinery known to man. It's a colorful show and, while races that last only 7 to 10 seconds may not be your cup of TNT, officials of the National Hot Rod Association keep things moving to keep you awake. At that rate they can run 360 races an hour.

Drag races are won and lost at the starting line. The sport grew out of street races in which young hot rodders would zip from stop light to stop light, taking a few pedestrians along the way. The idea is to get the jump at the green light.

Well, when Ralph Nader was still in kneepants, the kids were urged to move off the streets into safer environs and the controlled sport has grown quite popular.

Christmas Tree In March

The starting line is fascinating for, instead of the corner traffic signal, they use what they call a Christmas Tree, due to the myriad of lights that flash in varied colors. Located in the center of the track about 20 feet down from the starting line, the Tree has small staging bulbs that indicate when the car in each of two lanes is in its proper starting position.

Then, the countdown begins as amber lights start flashing at half-second intervals until the green ignites the automotive explosion. The trick, of course, is to get moving between the last amber and green. The champions are the ones that get the split second jump.

You and I do it every day. So do women drivers.

Gates open at 9 a.m. both Saturday and Sunday with final eliminations scheduled to start at noon Sunday.

Baseball Victory For San Rafael

San Rafael High School was the only Marin County Athletic League baseball team to come home a winner yesterday when the Bulldogs whipped McClymonds of Oakland, 5-2.

San Marin lost a close one, bowing to Sacred Heart of San Francisco, 2-1, while Marin Catholic came through with 12 walks, one hit batsman and five errors in losing to Terra Nova of Pacifica. Berkeley whipped Redwood, 5-2, and Tamalpais was blanked by Sonoma, 8-0.

Petaluma got three-hit pitching from Walt and Ned Sweeney and upped its season mark to 2-0-1 with a 3-1 win over San Leandro.

Terra Linda's game at Bishop O'Dowd in Oakland and Drake's game at Santa Rosa were postponed until Wednesday because of wet grounds.

In Marin County Athletic League swimming action yesterday, water polo champ Terra Linda whipped Redwood, 58-37; Drake nicked San Marin, 52-42; Tamalpais stopped San Rafael, 56-39 and Novato swamped Marin Catholic, 43-16.

In a North Bay League One swim meet, Napa dunked Petaluma, 68-27.

THE SPORTING GENTRY

Race Veteran At Age 6

BY RALPH CHATOIAN

He sits there looking at you with those big eyes, not appearing particularly different than any other little boy 6 years old.

He fidgets, as do other boys of that age.

But then he zips up his jacket (with the help of mom), gets dad to help him put on his gloves, dons a sparkly red crash helmet and jumps behind the wheel of a little race car. A REAL race car.

He's Doug Endy, a first grader at Mary Silveira School, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard R.P. Endy of 330 Ellen Drive, Marinwood. He'll be going into his second year of quarter-midget auto racing next month.

HARD TO BELIEVE

It's hard to believe he drives race cars up to speeds of 40 miles per hour around a 1/20th mile track. But he's got seven trophies and 24 ribbons from weekly racing last year to attest to his ability.

The Endy family is a member of the Hayward Quarter-Midget Racing Association which holds races every other week on its track in Kennedy Memorial Park, next to the Hayward Airport. Doug started the training school at the minimum age, 5, and received his diploma to race in novice events. Before his first season was over, he was promoted to junior races, competing against boys up to 9 years old.

The racing association makes sure the youngsters understand the lessons learned in training school before giving them the green flag to drive in competitive races.

"They really stress safety," said Doug's father, assistant civil engineer for the City of San Rafael. "It's a very safe sport. I've seen accidents, but I've never ever seen any of the kids get hurt."

Doug recalls a race last year in which another car bumped him and both cars ended up in some hay bales. "All I had inside my car was hay," he giggled. Was he scared? Heck no.

HAD HOPES

Richard Endy, who had seen quarter-midget racing earlier in Santa Rosa, had hopes of a son racing in it even before Doug was born. He introduced Doug to the sport and says that as long as Doug wants to race in it, it's okay with him. "If it stops being fun for him, we'll quit." he said.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Endy feel that quarter-midget racing is very safe. "It's just like any other sport, say like baseball," says Richard Endy. "Although it is an individual sport rather than a team sport, we make it into a family sport."

"He does the coaching and I pack the lunch and lead the rooting section," said Mrs. Endy. They make it a family day at the races, from about 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and that includes Doug's little sister, Debbie, 3.

LOUD 'NO!'

Mrs. Endy says she's not worried when her four-foot, 52-pound son is out on the track. "I have confidence in that safety equipment and the boys' safety training."

Injuries? "I think he's safer in that race car than on a bicycle," said Mrs. Endy. "I think quarter-midget racing is a nice sport for kids."

Total cost of Doug's racer, No. 35, is $350, according to his father, and then there's the safety equipment, especially the helmet. "You can probably get by on $200 for a car," he said, "but you don't cheat on the safety equipment." All the quarter-midgets are powered by one cylinder engines.

Looking down the long list of technical rules in the quarter-midget racing association, it sounds a lot like any adult operation, until you come to the rule that says no candy eating while the driver is in the car.

"It's all fun," said Richard Endy. "I just wish there was quarter-midget racing in Marin County. It's a long drive to Hayward and Sunnyvale every Sunday."

And before I left the Endy home and the race car put back in the garage, I asked Doug if he liked baseball, too. "I don't know," he said. "I've never tried it."

Warriors Drop A Heart-Breaker

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — If the Baltimore Bullets should find themselves clobbered tonight at Civic Auditorium by the San Francisco Warriors, they can blame the Los Angeles Lakers.

Led by Jerry West's 42 points — including 33 in the second half capped by a 25-foot jump shot with two seconds left — the Lakers Tuesday night wrested a heart-breaker from the Warriors 106-104.

The Bullets, at 46-30 in third place in the National Basketball Association eastern division ordinarliy should deal routinely with the Warriors, who are sixth in the western division with a 24-50 record.

Tonights' game is at 8 o'clock.

After overcoming a first-quarter 30-25 Laker lead, the Warriors were ahead 54-53 at the half thanks to a couple of cliff-hanger shots by Jerry Lucas and Al Attles. Lucas was high for San Francisco with 24 points.

Meet Cancelled

The San Rafael-McClymonds of Oakland high school track and field meet scheduled yesterday was cancelled because of wet grounds at San Rafael.

TWO BIG DATES COMING

Marin Alumni Honor 'Dutch' Clymer

Aug. 19 will be a big day for College of Marin vice president Paul "Dutch" Clymer. So will March 14.

Clymer, who has been teacher, coach and administrator at the Kentfield school at various times during a 35-year span, will be 62 on Aug. 19. And on that day his announced retirement will take effect.

That other date, this coming Saturday, is when Dutch is honored by so many of his former students at the College of Marin Alumni Association's annual dinner-dance, at the Elks Club in San Rafael. The alumni group is starting an annual Paul Clymer Scholarship for College of Marin students.

Although with no specific plans yet laid out, Clymer and his wife, Margaret, figure to do a lot of traveling when his retirement days start. "We'll make some specific plans this summer," said Clymer. "We're thinking maybe of buying a camper truck or van."

He hopes to visit the New England states and make trips to parts of Canada. His reactions to the proposed scholarship in his name: "It was quite a surprise. I hadn't expected anything like this."

Although he's been out of coaching for 24 years, Dutch has attended about 90 per cent of all the Marin home football and basketball games. He definitely has not lost his love of sports.

Born in Stillwater, a small town along the Hudson River in New York, Clymer was a son of a Methodist minister. He came with his parents, two brothers and four sisters to Berkeley, and went through school there, including University of California. Quite an athlete, Dutch went out for frosh football, basketball, swimming and track, and lettered in football and basketball.

FAMOUS RUN

Dutch was on the 1929 Rose Bowl team at Cal that lost to Georgia Tech, 8-7. That was the game in which Roy Riegels ran the wrong way and led to a Georgia Tech safety, which proved to be the difference of winning and losing. Clymer remembers that play very well. He was a roommate of Riegels on that trip to Pasadena.

After graduation from Cal, Clymer, now married, and wife went to Modesto where Dutch taught math and history at Modesto Junior College and was also head basketball coach. A little later Clymer studied for a master's degree in education at Columbia Teachers College in New York.

He came back to California in 1935 and started his career at College of Marin, teaching math, orientation, and helping with football and basketball coaching and taking over as head coach for the track and field team. There were 360 students at Marin then, somewhat different than today.

He became head basketball coach in 1941 and his team promptly won a conference championship, quite a fine debut.

Clymer became vice president of Marin J.C. in 1939 when Ward Austin left to work with the San Francisco schools. In 1942 Dutch left to work at Massachuetts Institute of Technology's experimental laboratories on short-wave radar research. At war's end, he returned to College of Marin to teach math and astronomy and continue coaching. He again took over as vice president in 1946.

The Clymers, who live in Kentfield, have one daughter, Barbara. Her husband, Dan Glines, is basketball coach at San Jose State College.

About his retirement travel plans, Dutch says he's playing it by ear. "I know one thing. We're going to continue living here."

THE COLLEGE SCENE

Marin Athletes May Have To Buy Own Underclothes

College of Marin athletes may have to buy their own athletic supporters.

That's what the current budget cut on athletics now in effect at College of Marin may come down to, among other things, according to COM athletic director Harry Pieper, who explained a little more in detail what the belt-tightening means.

The athletic budget has been cut by some 40 per cent, and to get around it, COM athletes may have to buy at least some of their less exorbitantly-priced equipment, including, no doubt, supporters, in addition to T-Shirts, socks, underwear, and perhaps even track, baseball and football shoes.

WASH UNIFORMS

Athletes may also have to wash their own uniforms in the future, unless some miracle mother lode turns up.

"Understand now," Pieper said. "The athletic department is not being punished for anything. This is a general cut, which also affects other departments."

It will also affect the near-future of College of Marin's brand new and beautiful track and football field.

"We still have no bleachers or lights," Pieper said. "I guess this is something that will have to be done one thing at a time but eventually we would like to have a regular complex or stadium there."

Right now, the lights are still where they were originally, only now they're lighting the new science building.

"We'll have the best-lit science building around," Pieper joked. "But actually, we'd like to have what we had. The stadium was a center for many activities, not just our own. The high schools used that field, and so did other people."

DICK READ, who wasn't all that optimistic about his COM tennis team at the beginning of the year, might have a good one after all.

His squad is 2-0 in Camino Norte competition so far, after blanking Skyline, 9-0, last Friday, although Reads contends that Santa Rosa and DeAnza of Cupertino will offer the toughest competition.

It's an all-freshman team, headed by No. 1 man Rich Bernard. Also outstanding are Tim Morgan of Tamalpais, French transfer Alain Devise from Paris and Rod Menzies, the sports editor of the College of Marin Tower Times.

COLLEGE OF MARIN swimming coach Bob Justice isn't exactly complaining, just a little worried. His team is potentially a good one, when all of it shows up.

"When everybody is there for a meet," Justice explained, "I don't know of too many teams that could beat us. But sometimes, some of them just don't show up. I guess maybe I'm supposed to get with it, changing times and all. But I just don't understand it."

MARIN'S GOLF team, as usual, didn't win the second annual Sonoma State Invitational Junior College Golf match last week. Santa Rosa did for the second straight year, with Napa finishing second and Solano of Vallejo and the Tars tying for fourth. Jeff Manley topped the Tars with a 78, followed by Craig Ballantine and Dave Crowford with 82s and Todd Ellinwood with an 85.

SONOMA STATE'S baseball team, off to a flying start with a 3-1 record, came down to earth Friday, dropping a doubleheader to University of San Francisco, 2-1 and 3-0.

The Cossacks of Rohnert Park are now 4-4 after splitting a doubleheader with St. Mary's Saturday, losing in 13 innings, 2-1, and winning behind pitcher Gary Neville, 9-3. Jim Dunbar singled home a pair of runs in the winning game.

All other Sonoma State spring sports won't get underway until this week, with the track team holding unofficial time trials last week.

An Optimistic Report On New Giant Pitcher

PHOENIX—First time Clyde King saw Frank Reberger he admired the way Reberger pitched. That was in 1968 when Reberger was with Tacoma, Pacific Coast League farm team of the Cubs, and King was managing the coast league team of the Giants at Phoenix.

Now King is manager of the Giants and Reberger also is with them. King, with Horace Stoneham's approval, gave up three players for Reberger in a winter trade with the San Diego Padres who selected Reberger from the Cub roster in last year's major league expansion.

"WHAT DID I like about him?" said King "First of all his fast ball. That's the first thing you look for in a pitcher. Reberger's fast ball is alive. I also liked the way he hides the ball from the batter, showing it only a moment before releasing it. And his release is quick.

"I liked, too, his agile footwork in fast throws to first base whenever he had a runner aboard. He not only looks like an athlete, he acts like one."

REBERGER, 6-5, is a streamlined 200-pounder who made his debut as a Giant last weekend at Tucson against the Cleveland Indians in a Cactus League exhibition game. He was most impressive as he no-hit the Indians through the opening three innings.

Reberger's fast ball had so much action on it that it moved in and out. On several occasions it hit the outside corner, moving away from batters. It looked like a hard curve but Larry Jansen, pitching coach of the Giants, said: "It just looked that way—it was his fast ball."

BUT SURELY the changeup he used was a soft curve, or was it? "No, he was just easing up on his fast one," said Jansen. "He gives the changeup all the motion he does the fast ball. It looks like he could reach out for it with his big stretch and pull it back if hewantedto."

Jansen, like King, also was impressed with Reberger's footwork. "Only two men got aboard on him, one on an error, the other on a walk," said Jansen. "He reminded me of Don Drysdale in his quick moves to first base."

REBERGER NOT only has a fast pickoff move but he knows how to cover the bag on right side rollers that compel first basemen to leave the bag. Reberger springs off the mound in leaping strides.

Of course, one good spring outing doesn't mean Reberger is going to be one of the starters King needs to backup Juan Marichal, Gaylord Perry and Mike McCormick. But if Reberger isn't in the team's starting rotation this season, he most assuredly will be in the bullpen.

"THAT'S WHERE I'd like to see him," said Jansen. "Why? Because if he is in the bullpen it will mean that we have found the starters we need among Rich Robertson, Ron Bryant, Jim Johnson, Mike Puente, Jim Willoughby, Bob Garibaldi and the other young men in camp."

REBERGER WAS used ezclusively in relief by San Diego last year. He signed his first pro contract with the Cubs in 1966. He is 26, a native of Caldwell, Idaho.

Redwood To Begin Play In Tourney Of Champs

FAST BREAK

They fast break everywhere and any time, use a zone press, jump like crazy. Their only weakness may be an eagerness to give up points just so they can get the ball. With them, you can score 80 points and lose by 30.

Top player seems to be Glenn Burke, only 5-10, but a forward, a tremendous leaper and good outside shooter averaging 23.2 points per game. The most intimidating Yellow Jacket is 6-10 junior center John Lambert, who is averaging 17 points per game. Also at 17 per game is Marvin Buckley, a 6-2 senior forward.

Castlemont is probably not as good as the team that won the TOC last year, after getting a scare from Redwood. But the Knights are still impressive, headed by TOC veteran Brady Allen, who is averaging 14.1 points per game; Walter Lewis, averaging 20.4 points per game and Selmon Marks, averaging 17 points per game. All three can shoot, run and jump.

21 AVERAGE

Arroyo once was the TOC cinderalla team, winning the crown in 1966. The Dons have averaged 72 points a game, with an offense revolving around hot shooter Mike Soto, who's averaging 21 points per game. Norman Gough, also a guard is hitting for 16 a game. The Dons have beaten O'Dowd and lost to Mission San Jose.

The tournament's most likely sacrificial lamb is Mission San Jose, despite an imposing 18-5 mark. Along with Amador, Mission is a TOC virgin, having never played in the tourney. They've knocked off Arroyo, lost to O'Dowd. Top players are front liners Ken Faria, Roy Stevens and Dave Chappell, all standing around 6-4. Mission San Jose has to play Berkeley, right away.

A.L. Meeting Called Off

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Amid threats of multimillion-dollar law suits, court injunctions and antitrust challenges, the American League abruptly called off its scheduled meeting yesterday on the Seattle baseball franchise.

A.L. President Joe Cronin, from the proposed meeting site at Tampa, Fla., said he'll consult with league lawyers before setting a new date and site for the special meeting.

There were rumors that the franchise would be moved to Milwaukee, while Seattle Mayor Wes Uhlman said in Washington he would again go into court for an injunction to keep the financially troubled Pilots in Seattle.

In other baseball news yesterday:

Slugger Frank Howard signed with the Washington Senators for a reported $125,000. "The contract makes Howard the highest paid player in the American League," said Bob Short, owner of the Seantors.

In Arizona exhibition baseball, the California Angels snapped San Francisco's four-game winning string, holding the Giants to five hits in a 10-0 rout. The Angels belted Giants starter Rich Robertson for seven hits and four runs in four innings. Willie Mays had a double for S.F.

The Oakland Athletics automatically renewed the 1969 contract of holdout Reggie Jackson yesterday. A club spokesman said this had to be done by March 10 to prevent the right fielder from becoming a free agent at the end of the season, if still unsigned by then. The new contract called for $45,000 instead of the $20,000 he earned last year. Jackson is asking for $60,000.

Meanwhile on the field, the A's lost 3-2 yesterday to the Cleveland Indians and also lost pitcher Chuck Dobson for a few days after the hurler complained of a sore arm.

Basketball

The New York Knicks clinched at least a tie for the NBA eastern title yesterday by whipping Seattle 117-99, and the proud Boston Bruins were eliminated from playoff contention by losing to Detroit, 115-112.

Golf

PENSACOLA, Fla. — A strong field will tee off tomorrow in the Monsanto Open, including Gary Player, Arnold Palmer, defending champion Jim Colbert and all but three of the winners this year, including Bob Lunn, Pete Brown, Lee Trevino, Ron Cerrudo, Bert Yancey, Dale Douglass and Bruce Devlin. Only top names missing were Jack Nicklaus and Bill Casper.

Football

NEW YORK — The sale of the New York Jets to a syndicate supposedly including Allie Sherman, awaits only formal approval of the National Football League, a team official said yesterday. "Details have been worked out and now it's up to the league directors at the meeting in Honolulu next week," said Townsend Martin, chariman of the board of the N.Y. team.

Tennis

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Australian John Newcombe defeated Stan Smith of Pasadena, 7-5, 6-3, then joined Fred Stolle of Australia and pounded out an 8-6, 4-6- 10-8 victory over Americans Clark Graebner and Arthur Ashe to give Australia a 3-1 lead over the U.S. in the best-of-7 U.S.-Australia World Title team tennis match.

Commission Proves Case For Abandoning Draft

There likely will be a lot of debate during the next few months over whether the military draft should be abolished, but most of the answers already are available in the report of the President's Commission on an All-Volunteer Armed Force.

This group, known as the Gates Commission for its chairman, Thomas Gates, who was President Eisenhower's last defense secretary, held unanimously that "the nation's interests will be better served by an all-volunteer force."

IN ITS REPORT, it discussed and countered most of the objections raised by big-army devotees to returning to the United States' traditional reliance on volunteer military forces.

Along with abandoning the draft, it recommended increased pay for enlisted men, especially during their first enlistment period, to help recruit sufficient volunteers. And to those doubters who believe America's young men simply will not volunteer in sufficient numbers to provide the necessary military protection, it pointed out that two-thirds of the present armed strength is made up of volunteers — even with the starting pay disproportionately low and with the draft itself tending to turn young men away from military careers.

TO THOSE who express fear that an all-volunteer army would mean growth of a military clique that might threaten civilian control — in the pattern so familiar in South American countries — it pointed out that history shows the opposite in both the United States and Great Britain.

"The truth is," commented the commission, "we already have a large professional armed force amounting to over two million men. The existing loyalties and political influence of that force cannot be materially changed by eliminating conscription in the lowest ranks."

TO OUR WAY of thinking, though, the commission's most telling point was made in rebuttal to those who claim that creation of such an all-volunteer and therefore professional army would lead the nation into reckless military adventures.

Said the report: "The important difference between the two forces lies in the necessity for political debate before returning to conscription."

With the draft abolished, the commission pointed out, the President would have to ask Congress to restore it in case of war. With the present system, he has only to increase draft calls to put the United States into undeclared wars — as was done by President Johnson for Vietnam.

THE IDEA of a volunteer army resulting in reckless military ventures is belied by our history. In no previous period since the founding of the republic was there such a succession of costly, ill-advised and often needless military adventures abroad as we have seen since 1948, when the draft was resumed after a brief hiatus following World War II.

The lesson appears obvious: It is all too easy to go to war when all that is necessary is to increase the draft call by presidential order.

That reason alone is sufficient cause for returning to the traditional American policy of volunteer fighting forces.

Marin's Weather

Have you heard that Northern California is entering a 13-year cycle of very wet weather? Or a seven-year cycle? Did you believe it? We used to, too.

The idea that weather comes in predictable cycles is an old one. Several years ago a friend of ours made a graph of Marin's rainfall records, all that were available. Then he searched the graph in vain for some kind of pattern. Then he brought it to us and dared us to find one.

The only thing predictable about California year-to-year is its unpredictability.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Lots Of 'Consumer Protection' —But Then, It's Election Year

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

WASHINGTON (CNS)—It's surprising, but still rather normal, the great sympathy and concern the politicians have for the consumer about election time. Votes are needed.

Gov. Ronald Reagan is no exception to this rule. Election time is approaching, and while the governor is in no serious trouble at the moment, it's still a good political move to declare steadfastly for the protection of the little man who ought to know better, but still can't seem to realize the difference between fraud and honesty.

So the governor has gone "all out" for consumer protection against fraud, his right to know the goods he buys are safe for himself and family, the establishment of more bureaucracy to give the consumer places to air grievances, and education to help buyers exercise free choice among the goods and services available.

THE GOVERNOR has spelled out his recommendations to the state legislature, and advised that all kinds of bills to achieve these ends will be pushed by his office.

He indicates he will seek laws which will make the sale of mailing lists by tax consultants unlawful on the grounds of privacy invasion.

It was the governor, when he was campaigning more than three years ago, who was going to relieve business of oppressive laws.

Then the governor wants to help the public buy its auto tires by setting high safety standards for all tires, used or new. The standards are probably necessary, but who is going to enforce them in the case of used tires? Another bureaucracy of inspectors?

Another measure which would regulate sellers of franchises and spell out their obligations to the purchasers is in the mill. This measure in one way is almost an insult to the intelligence of the public, which has had millions of dollars spent on its educations. If the buyer of a franchise is ignorant enough to spend several thousand dollars for the privilege of selling sandwiches or some other item, then some millions of educational money has been wasted.

ONE REALLY good measure in the program, however, is a proposal for forcing insurance companies to carry out the terms of their policies without cancellation for causes beyond the control of the insured.

The governor says some companies cancel without giving a reason, in cases of fire and riots. It is a known fact that some of the health insurance companies make big promises and then refuse to pay. Strengthening the laws in this respect would cost the state but little and at the same time, protect the consumer against the machinations of the insurance lobby.

High School Band Needs Trip Money

Since so many find so many things wrong with our students I'd like to remind San Rafael citizens about a fine group of students at San Rafael High School. I refer to Mr. (Terry) Summa (teacher) and his symphonic band, his marching band, etc.

This group is working hard to try and earn money to pay their way to Disneyland in May. There are 100 of these students. They need $3,000 for this trip. They have been invited to represent Northern California with their band. If one attended the program on Feb. 26 you would feel proud of this group. They are not permitted to have sales, etc., to raise this money—but did have a pancake breakfast and the concert on Feb. 26. Can't some of our citizens help this group? I know it would be appreciated. Contributions can be sent to Mr. Terry Summa, San Rafael High School.

San Francisco raised over $40,000 to help their students attend the Expo 70 in Japan. If we could raise $1,000 it would help.

Leaders Too Should Eschew Violence

The statement on violence by Bank of America, printed in the Independent-Journal March 6, was thoughtful, reasonable, and necessary. One paragraph in particular stood out.

"We believe the time has come for Americans to unite in one cause: a rejection, total and complete, of violence as a means of political dissent."

The answers seem obvious, still I must ask. Isn't war violence? Isn't it true that political leaders kill innocent people in order to construct a society based upon a particular political ideology? Is it not true that sides of governments take sides, dissenting, if you will from the other, by sending men and arms to help defend the warning faction they agree with?

If it be a crime to engage in riots, to cause injury to others, to wantonly destroy property; then is it not a crime for heads of government to do the same?

The time has come not only to end violence as a means of political dissent, but to cease making the distinction between youthful violence and adult violence. The young must be free to walk towards a future unburdened by a past that is not theirs. Only when adults — leaders — carry out their lives in a peaceful manner, can youth be expected to follow.

Non-Jews Also Condemn Arms Sale

In answer to Mr. M. H. Durr's letter (March 7) I would like to point out that not only world Jewry, but also the majority of the American and French non-Jews oppose Mr. Pompidou's sale of arms to the Arabs. If Mr. Pompidou's Mirages and Mr. Kosygin's Migs will enable the 120 million Arabs to crush Israel and its million Jews, then history will consider Pompidou and Kosygin as the men who completed Hitler's "final solution" for the Jewish people.

Pompidou sells arms to the Arabs for the sake of profit and oil concessions in competition with U. S. oil interests.

As long as the Arabs get weapons, they will refuse to negotiate peace with Israel.

Mr. Pompidou's arms trade endangers peace on earth.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

The principle of spending money to be paid by posterity, under the name of funding, is but swindling futurity on a large scale. — Thomas Jefferson.

It may be incredible that one creed is the truth, and the others are relatively false; but it is not only incredible, but also intolerable, that there is no truth in or out of creeds, and all are equally false.—Gilbert K. Chesterton.

It is impossible to make great largesses to the people without great extortion; and to compass this, the state must be subverted. . .Petty tyrants arise who have all the vices of a single tyrant. The small remains of liberty soon become insupportable; a single tyrant starts up, and the people are stripped of everything, even of the profits of their corruption.—Baron de Montesquieu (1689-1775).

The task of grappling with chaos in the courtroom cannot be that of the individual judge, however strong and skillful and subtle he may be. It is the task of the legal profession as a whole, which must discipline the lawyers and judges who are its own problem children, and organize order in its own household.—Max Lerner.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A glib night club favorite was barreling along the New Jersey Throughway some nights ago when a traffic cop caught up with him and demanded to see his license. The comedian thereupon tried every soft-soaping bit of schmaltz in his repertoire to avoid a ticket—but to no avail whatever. For a final shot he pointed to the photo of a blue-eyed baby pasted onto the gas tank of the cop's motorcycle and murmured tenderly, "What a beautiful baby, officer! It's the spitting image of you." "It should be," snapped the cop, handing him a summons. "It was me—when I was two years old!"

A renowned lady gardener in the New Haven area, her living room festooned with blue ribbons she had garnered, decided to plant some special fronds and anemones last spring. The fronds turned out in spectacular fashion, but the anemones, to put it mildly, were a distinct flop. The lady, unaccustomed to failure, was lamenting this minor setback, but a good friend hastened to bolster her sagging spirits. "Remember, Debbie," she counseled, "that with fronds like this, you don't need anemones."

THE DRUMMONDS

Democrats In Congress Find Themselves Following Nixon

By ROSCOE AND GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

On the crucial issue no modern President has gained such command of a Congress controlled by the opposite party as Mr. Nixon is achieving.

Herbert Hoover didn't, despite the compulsion to act on the depression. Harry S. Truman didn't, although he called the Republican Congress into special session to put it on the spot on the eve of the 1948 election—and got nowhere. Dwight Eisenhower didn't, despite his massive personal popularity.

But Richard Nixon is doing it.

The Democrats don't relish it. They expected to call the tune most of the time, but they find that most of the time they are playing the music written in the White House.

The most vivid example of Nixon effectiveness with the Democratic Congress—and with the country—is what is happening to his sweeping innovative reform of welfare, long overdue but never near to being undertaken by the Democrats.

MR. NIXON set up his proposals last October and every evidence suggested the Democrats would let them lie inert indefinitely.

But the administration began prodding gently, tactfully, then more bluntly and things began to change. Ways and Means Committee chairman, the powerful Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., moved from hostility to open-mindedness to active support and now nearly the whole Democratic Party is saying that Richard Nixon's big step toward a guaranteed annual income is what they wanted all along.

Some leading Democrats are now mesmerizing themselves into believing that their decision to support the Administration's welfare reform is a shrewd political coup for them. They suggest that they are "trapping" Richard Nixon by giving him his own welfare package—this on the theory that it will prove perilously unpopular with his conservative supporters and will hurt him.

Not true and it began to be proved not true when the Ways and Means Committee voted 21-to-3 to report the bill to the House. How many Republicans, including conservative Republicans, voted against it? None. Only conservative Democrats—three in all—voted against it. It isn't Nixon who is "trapped." It's the Democrats who are finding that it is politically imprudent for them to partisanly go against the President on the biggest issues.

THE DEMOCRATS are not a little surprised at what they're doing. They are surprised because:

1—They had vastly misjudged that man Nixon whom they thought to be so mired in the past that he couldn't possibly outsmart them. It was their unchanged image of him which was mired in the past.

2—They couldn't imagine Nixon offering such a break-with-the-past, humane welfare program, particularly since they had so persistently neglected to do anything about it themselves. They failed to realize how a conservative administration can safely do many liberal things for which a liberal administration would be sharply criticized.

3—Finally, the Democrats and also many of Mr. Nixon's admirers simply didn't believe that the President had or could acquire the talent for persuasive advocacy to rally public opinion behind him on two such controversial matters as Vietnam and welfare.

MR. NIXON has now done it twice.

In one speech he turned the country around on Vietnam at a time when opinion was rushing pell-mell against him.

Over the opposition of organized labor he created decisive support in the nation and in Congress for radical welfare reform.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Nixon Warned Safeguard Must Be Compromised

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — The White House and Pentagon are being advised, by congressional strategists, to decide now on an acceptable compromise for President Nixon's proposed expansion of the Safeguard anti-missile system.

The first congressional skirmishes on the controversial ABM are still weeks away. Advance surveys indicate, however, that the President's expansion proposal would fail in the Senate if a showdown vote were held today.

MR. NIXON'S initial Safeguard deployment survived by the narrowest of margins in the Senate last year. One attempt to junk it failed by a 51 to 49 vote; another, on a 50 to 50 tie. Now the proposed expansion, justified in part on the basis on the Chinese nuclear threat, is commanding even less enthusiasm.

There is also some concern among the President's supporters that an administration defeat on the ABM might open the way for turn-downs on development of new military aircraft and the advance funding for a new nuclear aircraft carrier.

The ABM expansion is believed to have significant support in the House. If a modified proposal of some sort passes the Senate, the President should get a final Senate-House compromise which provides most of what he has requested.

If the President's expansion plan is rejected in the Senate, however, the compromise shaped by a House-Senate conference committee might leave a good deal to be desired by Mr. Nixon.

THERE IS NO certainty that the President and his aides will be willing to compromise on the full expansion plan, which provides for one additional Safeguard site, additional short-range Sprint missiles at the two sites authorized last year, and advance land acquisition for five more sites which would have to approved later.

Anti-Safeguard forces in the Senate claim that there have been no defections from their ranks since last year, when the shift of a single vote could have given them the victory. Safeguard supporters make no such optimistic claim.

THERE HAVE, in fact, been at least four changes of position in the previously pro-Safeguard ranks:

—Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., led the fight for the President's Safeguard plan last year. He says he will support only that part of an expansion plan which is designed to meet a Russian—rather than a Chinese—nuclear threat.

—Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., strongly urged approval of the deployment plan last year. He wants to work awhile with the present plan before expanding it.

—Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., voted for the Safeguard deployment last time. He has been ill and probably will not be present for the new showdown.

—The late Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., supported the Safeguard program in the voting last August. His seat has since been filled by Sen. Ralph E. Smith, who has not committed himself on Safeguard.

Less widely known than the California School Boards Association is a second organization of school trustees called the Association of California School Districts.

Until a few years ago, this group was known as the California Small School Districts Association. It is remembered by the public principally (if at all) for its battles against unification legislation when it was under that name.

Last weekend, the ACSD held its convention in San Jose. Most notable difference between this and a typical CSBA convention was in the resolutions adopted by the executive committee, headed by James C. Voss of Santa Rosa, association president.

ONE OF THEM calls on the legislature to remove all statutory provisions for automatic teacher tenure. It declares that California teacher tenure laws "have been overly protective of the rights of teachers without sufficient regard for the right of students to be instructed by the best teachers available."

It goes on that these laws "have for all practical purposes resulted in abolition of the authority of school boards to dismiss incompetent, ineffectual and disruptive teachers and have forced school boards to increase the annual salary of such teachers from year to year, thereby rewarding them for their incompetency and ineffectiveness."

It asks the legislature to remove all automatic tenure provisions and give school boards the right to review teachers' effectiveness every four years.

Nothing resembling this has come out of the California School Boards Association — although last October the New York State School Boards Association adopted a resolution calling for repeal of New York's teacher tenure laws.

THE "ALQUIST COMMITTEE": Garey D. Larson of the California Junior College Association staff wrote the author to protest inaccuracies in a column three weeks ago regarding proposed changes in credentialing of junior college teachers.

The column said the changes were being discussed by a subcommittee headed by Sen. Alfred E. Alquist, D-San Jose.

"There is no such subcommittee," wrote Larson.

Further, he said Senate Bill 221 of last year, by Alquist, "provides major credential reform for the junior college system."

LARSON WAS RIGHT on the first point. The committee drawing up the bill, although referred to as "the Alquist committee," is one appointed by the chancellor of the California Community Colleges, pursuant to Alquist's SB 221 of last year.

The proposed bill runs to 37 typewritten pages. It sets up a whole new division of the Education Code beginning with Section 52000 and running through Section 52703. The committee has held several meetings on it in Sacramento, without public announcement.

It provides, among many other things, that a credential for a junior college instructor may be issued to a person having a master's degree, a bachelor's degree with subject matter major, a high school diploma plus six years experience in the subject area to be taught, or an associate degree and four years experience in the subject area to be taught. Presumably the last two are intended for vocational teachers; but the bill does not specify this.

IT SAYS that a person meeting any of the criteria may (1) teach any course in which he has a major; (2) teach any adult course; (3) teach any course in which he has a minor; (4) "teach in any subject area in which (he) has established his occupational experience as a partial basis for the issuance of his credential."

While Alquist reportedly has agreed to the committee's going beyond preparing the "minimum requirements" called for in his SB 221, there is no assurance that he will introduce the measure exactly as it is given him.

GM Plans Kit For Pollution

FLINT, Mich. (UPI)—Owners of pre-1966 General Motors cars may soon be able to reduce exhaust emissions with the aid of a packaged kit.

The nation's largest automaker announced Monday it will market a "package of engine modifications and maintenance requirements" within the next few months.

"If widely used, (they) should have an immediate and significant effect on lowering the level of pollutants attributable to the automobile," said Edward N. Cole, GM president.

Hub Traffic Signals To Begin Next Week

Traffic signals at San Anselmo's Hub intersection should be in full operation by Tuesday or next Wednesday, but getting the bugs out of the system may take a little longer, City Engineer Charles R. Leitzell said yesterday.

Leitzell said during testing early next week, the signals will be flashing red or yellow instead of going through the stop and go cycles.

The four-way signals will be demand-operated, with wires buried in traffic lanes. "It's a very fast signal," Leitzell said, like the ones at the entry to the Marin Civic Center.

"You always expect problems to develop during the first weeks of operation," Leitzell said, "so we'd like to ask for public forbearance during the early period."

The game of soccer or association football has been played in Britain for centuries, probably since before the Norman conquest.

Constitution Talk Slated By Busterud

John A. Busterud of San Rafael, attorney and member of the California Constitutional Revision Commission, will discuss the commission's reccommendations at a joint meeting of the League of Women Voters at 8 p.m. next Tuesday at the Kentfield home of Mrs. Paul Holmer, 40 Diablo Drive. Reservations are being handled by Mrs. John Barrows of San Anselmo.

The league has been urging revision of the state constitution, the fourth longest in the world, for the past 20 years. Revision will appear on the June 2 ballot as Propositions 2, 3, 4, and 5.

Fairfax Youth Eye Commission Goals

Should the City of Fairfax legalize marijuana and abortion, and provide more dances, better recreation facilities and freedom of speech for children?

The 89 youngsters, ranging from seventh graders to age 20, were asked to write down suggestions, anonymously, on what the goals and projects of the youth commission should be. They recieved 26 replies, some with several suggestions.

More and improved recreation facilities were the most often cited suggestions. The ideas ranged from putting a clock for basketball games in the pavilion and keeping the pavilion open more at night, to having more dances and better bands.

The general goal of cleaning up Fairfax followed recreation as being most important in the eyes of the young people. None of the young people had detailed ideas on how to do it, but some suggested organizing a cleanup day.

Next came dope, and in particular marijuana. One youngster, who called for stairs on Manor hill from Tamalpais Road to Scenic Road, also asked for legalized marijuana. He misspelled both Tamalpais and marijuana.

Another ecology-minded youngster wrote: "Legalize weed so we can have good pollution."

With all the suggestions in, the youth commission decided to help the park and recreation department boil 75 dozen eggs for the Easter egg hunt.

Why Consumers Are Displeased

Poor delivery service, defective merchandise, faulty workmanship, and billing errors have been listed by the Better Business Bureau as the major causes of consumer dissatisfaction in the Bay Area.

In a month-long consumer survey, based on 1600 complaints, the bureau reported business fraud and deception was not a major factor. In fact, it said, only 7 per cent of the complaints concerned advertising.

Of the complaints studied, 13 per cent came from Marin County, 56 per cent from San Francisco County, and 31 per cent from all other areas, according to the bureau.

Mail order and magazines were the two top business categories in complaints, followed by home furnishings, appliances and automobiles, the bureau added.

Corte Madera Candidates Will Appear On Show

Candidates for the Corte Madera Town Council will be the first in a series of "political Sounding Boards" at 9 a.m. tomorrow on radio station KTIM.

The six candidates for the council's three seats up for election will participate. They are: Mayor Edward W. Colthurst, Holmes S. Norville and Harold B. Wagstaff, all seeking reelection, and David I. Freed, Patricia Friend, and Herber C. Leney.

Listeners are invited to phone in questions during the live broadcast. The program will be rebroadcast by tape at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

Candidates for elections in Mill Valley, Sausalito, Novato and San Anselmo, will participate on the show in coming weeks.

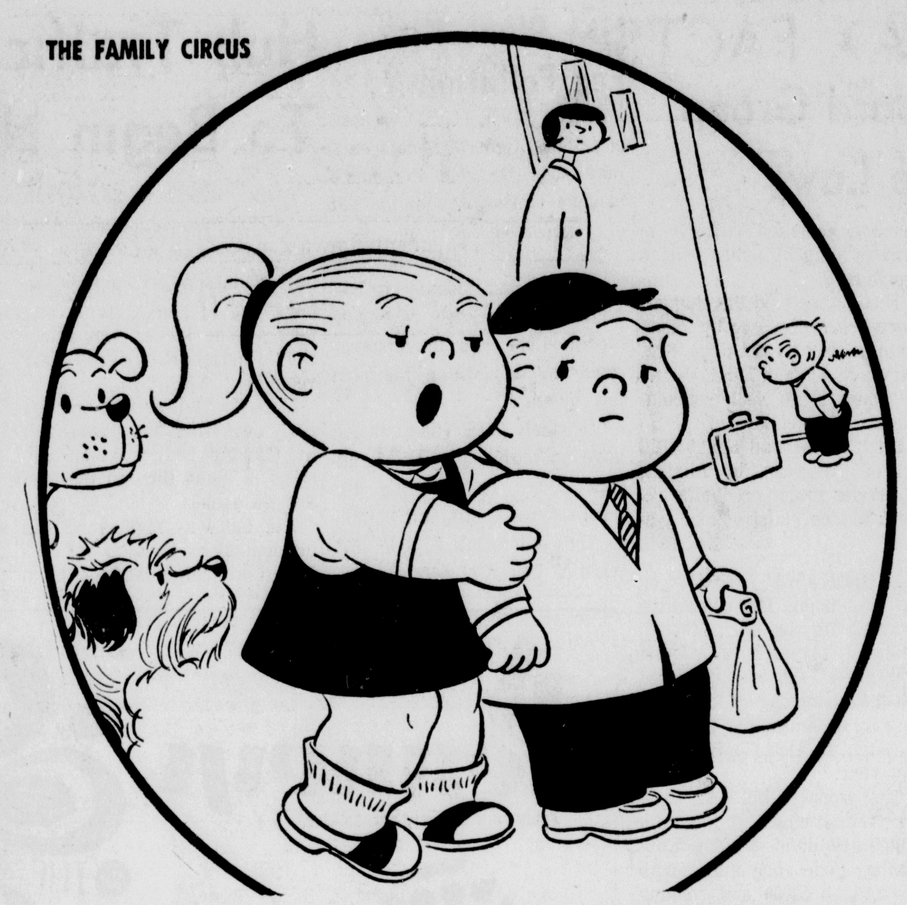

Correct Location

It was at a meeting with Marin high school students at Brown's Hall in Mill Valley — not at Tamalpais High School, as reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal — that Leon Olson, president of San Francisco Typographical Union 21, said, "A strike is like a war."

Today is Wednesday, March 11, the 70th day of the year with 295 to follow.

The moon is between the new phase and the first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1888 more than 200 persons died when a four-rday snowstorm crippled New York City.

In 1930 William Howard Taft became the first president to be buried in Arlington National Cemetery.

In 1941 Prersident Franklin D. Roosevelt signed the land-lease bill, which gave nations fighting the Axis powers rcertain military equipment.

In 1959 the Senate approved Hawaii as the 50th state.

Prison Ordered For Burglary

James Harold Jackson, 33, of San Francisco, has been sentenced to state prison by Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court for burglarizing a Sausalito residence Dec. 31.

Judge McGuire turned down a plea Monday by Jackson's attorney that the man be sent to the California rehabilitation centre for treatment for narcotics addiciton. A probation report had termed Jackson a heroin addict but recommended against a commitment because of Jackson's long criminal record.

Always Look For The Worm In The Apple, Even If Sure

When your first glance at the dummy tells you that you have enough tricks for your contract, look for the worm in the apple. Ask yourself: What can my enemies possibly do to destroy me? And then look for a way to frustrate their knavish tricks.

TEN OF SPADES

West opened the ten of spades. South looked approvingly at the dummy and won the first trick with the jack of spades in order to lead a trump at once.

East obligingly stepped up with the ace of hearts, dispelling South's faint fear of running into A-10-7-2 of trumps in the West hand. But then East led an unobliging spade, and West defeated the contract by ruffing the ace of spades.

"Hard luck." North remarked with forced cheerfulness. And since he was a good player, North mentally took some of the blame on his own shoulders because he could have bid and made six no trump.

FULLY DESCRIBED

North didn't have to reproach himself. It was reasonable to let South choose the final contract since North's hand was fully described but South's hand was a mystery.

The blame properly rested on South's shoulders for failing to see the possibility of a spade ruff. After winning the first trick with the jack of spades declarer should cash the king of clubs and then lead the ace of clubs in order to discard the ace of spades.

TRUMP LEAD

After this spectacular trick declarer could safely lead a trump from the dummy. East would take the ace of hearts and lead a spade, but South could then ruff with an honor and draw trumps. The rest would be easy.

DAILY QUESTION

You hold:
S - 10
H - 10 7 2
D - J 9 4 3
C - 8 7 5 3 2.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs.

American Held In East Berlin

BERLIN, (AP) — A 21-year-old American has been held under arrest in East Berlin since early January, it was learned today.

It brought to three Amricans now known to be held in East German jails.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

Averaging Over Four Years Could Save Many Tax Dollars

Was your income last year much more than you made in 1965, 1966, 1967, and 1968? If so, there is a chance that you are eligible for income averaging. The rules are complex, but it's worth looking into for if you are eligible, you may save many tax dollars by computing your tax under the income averaging rules.

To be eligible for the averaging provisions, you must:

1. Have either been a citizen or resident of tthe United States during 1965, 1966, 1967, 1968 and 1969.

2. Your income must have been subject to United States tax during 1965, 1966, 1967 and

3. You must also provide 50 per cent or more of your own support to qualify during 1965, 1966, 1967 and 1968. This support requirement is not necessary if you are at least 25-years-old during 1969 and have not been a full-time student for at least four years since age 21.

DOES NOT APPLY

The support requirement does not apply if over half of your adjusted taxable income for 1969 is substantially the result of work you did in two or more of the base period years.

If you are eligible, be sure to study the rules carefully before making the computations. Get a Schedule G, Form 1040, from the IRS and follow the instructions—step by step. They are confusing, but if carefully followed, will bring you out with the right answer.

Be sure to use this Schedule G and attach a copy of your tax return.

SEE TAX ADVISER

If there is any doubt, you should consult your tax adviser early or purchase the book "Your Federal Income Tax for 1970" for 60 cents from the District Director of Internal Revenue or from the U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

California also allows income averaging if you were a California resident during 1965, 1966, 1967 and 1968. Use the California form available from the office of the Franchise Tax Board to make the computation.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Good Growth Is Seen For United Utilities

BY ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Could you give me information on United Utilities? I inherited these shares and wonder if it has growth possibilities.—K.M.

A. United Utilities, the second-largest independent (non-Bell) telephone company, is trading at the lower end of its four-year price range. Price action is similar to that of other telephone and utility issues and reflects money conditions rather than an internal weakness.

Revenues, earnings and dividends have moved ahead each year in the last decade. In 1969, $1.32 a share was reported, up 9 per cent year-to-year. Analysts are looking for a similar gain to $1.40-$1.45 a share this year.

Q. Certain Treasury bonds are acceptable at par in payment of federal estate taxes. How long must these be held prior to death to be used for this purpose?—F.M.

A. There are a number of attractive Treasury bonds selling at discount to yield as high as 7.5 per cent to maturity which are acceptable at par for estate-tax purposes. There is no limitation—or penalty—on the length of time they must be held to be used for this purpose, as long as they are actually owned by the decedent at the time of his death.

All bonds used for payment of estate taxes will be valued at par but those held in excess of tax liability will be valued at market. Treasury bonds for this purpose are available with maturity dates up to 1998. Your selection should be influenced, in part, by your age.

Wall Street Early Gains Whittled

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market clung to a fractional lead late this afternoon in light trading.

Earlier in the session the Dow industrial average had been ahead 2.24. The gains made in the session were a continuation of the upturn that developed near the close of trading Tuesday.

Analysts said that most of the activitity in the session involved professional traders and that many institutional and individual investors had withdrawn from the market. It might take some favorable news before buying activity quickens, according to the analysts.

Mining issues led the session's advance. The stocks were benefiting from the expectation that world interest rates would decline and that money would move into gold bullion while awaiting new investment opportunities.

Prices of mining issues earlier in the session included Homestake, up 1¼ to 21½; Dome Mines, up 1½ to 54½; and Campbell Redlake, up 1⅛ to 20¼.

Prices on the New York Stock Exchange included CBS, up ¼ to 44⅞; Kresge, up 2 to 47¾; Cities Service, up ⅝ to 38½; and FMC, up ⅝ to 24½.

Proposed Barrier On Bridgeway Draws Fire

The Sausalito City Council took under consideration last night a proposed renovation of Bridgeway after a member of the capacity audience called one aspect of the plan "a little Berlin Wall."

The $40,000 project, as outlined by Norman C. Wohlschlaeger, city engineer, would include widening of a two-block portion of Bridgeway between Princess and Anchor streets, elimination of on-street parking, new plans for merchants' disposal of rubbish, sidewalk widening, tree planting and a barrier between sidewalk and street to prevent jaywalking.

Wohlschlaeger said he hoped the renovation would bring about decreases in traffic congestion, jaywalking, littering, double parking and truck traffic.

It was the barrier proposal that brought the most criticism. "This sounds like a little Berlin Wall to me," said Sally Sanford, candidate for the city council, owner of Valhalla Restaurant.

Councilman Wyman Hicks suggested the city hire another policeman to issue jaywalking citations and approach the pedestrian problem that way.

He said he thought the barriers "would give the impression of having a cattle trough and running the tourists through."

Applause greeted his remark that "the whole concept is offensive to me. It would destroy the peaceful, residential appearance of this town."

Mayor Earl F. Dunphy said he thought the basic idea was good, though he opposed constructing the barriers out of concrete or a similar substance.

But Wohlschlaeger made it clear that his proposals weren't binding on the council, and that they were merely preliminary recommendations.

Other portions of the plan also drew fire. Mrs. Sanford threatened to sue the city and state if the city undertook to ban truck deliveries after noon, as Wohlschlaeger suggested.

"If you do this you might as well close the whole city to traffic," she said. "You're just trying to put everyone out of business."

The councilmen agreed that building temporary barriers might give an idea of how much the plan would decrease traffic congestion. "Before we spend thousands of dollars we should test the results of at least part of the project," vice mayor Alexander R. Imlay said.

Wohlschlaeger suggested several possible means of financing the project, including federal funds, gasoline taxes, city reserves and assessments of property owners along Bridgeway.

The Sausalito City Council Also:

TRAFFIC—Approved a traffic survey to be conducted March 28 and April 4 and 5 to determine the feasibility of prohibiting vehicles in the downtown area and running shuttle buses from staging areas in other parts of the city.

LIBRARY BOARD—Appointed Stephany Kline to the Library board.

ARBITRATION—Voted to send a strong telegram to the Assembly opposing AB 98, which provides for binding arbitration between cities and police and firemen in wage disputes.

BOND ISSUE—Deferred action on proposed purchase of six choice waterfront lots for $570,000 until a city-hired appraiser can determine the value of the property.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to the regular meeting at 8 p.m. April in memory of Christine Simpson and Stanley C. Kelly, retired police sergeant.

BCDC Approval Is Needed On Wider Avenue

Plans to widen Miller Avenue from Mill Valley to Shoreline Highway will require approval by the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission, the commission's staff has found.

The proposed new road will cross tidelands claimed by the Bothin Real Estate Company, which previously has maintained that it was exempt from BCDC jurisdiction.

The company had argued that because it diked and filled part of its holdings in Richardson Bay before the BCDC was created in 1965, all of its holdings were exempt.

Alvin H. Baum Jr., deputy director of the BCDC, has advised Mill Valley, Marin and Bothin officials that the BCDC staff "has concluded there is no basis for exemption" of BCDC jurisdiction over the undiked and unfilled portion of the Bothin property.

Some telephone companies are now using phones without letters on the dials where exchange names have been eliminated.

Hub Woman Booked As Pot Suspect

A San Anselmo woman was jailed on suspicion of possessing marijuana after a policeman noticed pot in her house while trying to serve a warrant on someone else, San Anselmo police reported today.

Marcia Lynn McIvor, 22, of 55 Scenic Avenue, was booked at Marin County Jail on suspicion of having narcotics and possessing narcotics paraphernalia.

Patrolman David Oliva went to 55 Scenic yesterday afternoon to serve a warrant from San Bernardino County on a Larry Creech, reportedly living there.

Oliva reported a woman answered the door and said no one there knew Creech. However, Oliva saw a yellow box on the table full of what appeared to be marijuana.

Oliva got a search warrant signed late in the afternoon by Marin Municipal Court Judge Hadden W. Roth, and returned with two other officers at 7:10 p.m.

The only person found in the house was Miss McIvor. Police said they found approximately two ounces of marijuana in tobacco tins and a hypodermic needle, a folded paper of white powder, three marijuana cigarette butts, and a 25-pound scale.

Bill To Ease Sewer Board Takeover

I-J Special report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation designed to help the City of Novato absorb the Novato Sanitary District has been introudced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The bill would change from 80 to 70 per cent the area of taxable or assessable land of a district which must be within the boundaries of a city so that the district may be established as a subsidiary district to the city.

The bill was requested by George A. Barnwell, publisher of the Novato Advance, Bagley's staff reported. The 10 per cent cut in the area would tailor the law to meet the Novato situation.

Bagley Blasts Demos' Tax Relief Proposals

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A Democratic tax relief bill introduced Monday was assailed yesterday by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, as "an attempt to forestall tax relief rather than to achieve it."

The bill, intorduced by Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, would shift $709 million from property taxes to new and increased taxes on business, liquor and cigarettes. Moscone said it was a Democratic alternative to the $654 million tax package introduced last week by Bagley, chariman of the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee.

Bagley said his preliminary analysis of Moscone's bill had turned up "fatal defects," including a $30 million deficit by 1972, an apparently unconstitutional gift of public funds by making cash payments to renters, and failure to limit future expenditures.

Bagley declared the Moscone package was "conceived in desperation and calculated toward obfuscation." Its calculations were branded "mathematic machinations" by Bagley.

Bagley said his won package "is a balanced program which gives homeowner and renter relief, business inventory relief, shifts the welfare burden from all property taxpayers, and equalizes the school support."

Golfer's Equipment

Golf equipment and clothing worth $415 owned by George W. Gasperoni of 55 Wild Horse Valley, Novato, was stolen around 3 p.m. Sunday at the Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club, San Rafael police reported today.

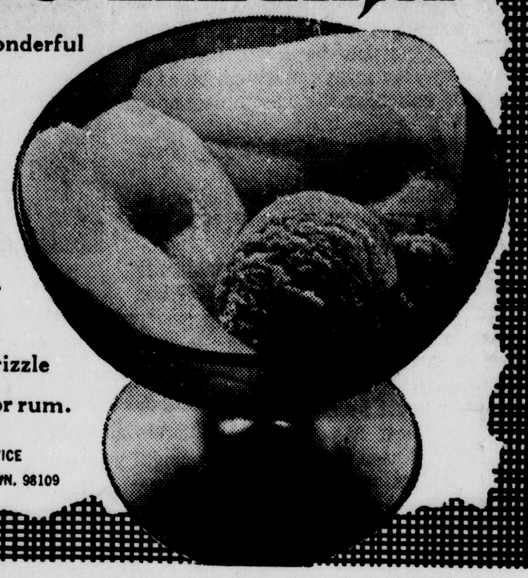

Stolen from outside the golf professional's shop were a $15 sweater, $30 golf bag, $30 golf cart, nine irons, four woods and a putter valued at $300, 24 golf balls worth $25, a $5 golf glove and a $10 rain jacket, police said.

Just over 5,000 miles on this almost-new Opel wagon that hasn't a mark of wear anywhere. Light green with matching full vinyl interior plus all the Opel luxury extras like w/w tires, heater, clock, luggage rack, etc. The big engine with the automatic transmission really gives maximum performance but at economy prices.

This car has never been licensed and will carry the balance of the General Motors new-car warranty.

This car sells new for over $2600 but we'll sell this close-to-new wagon for only $1995. 9164995

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Facial Expressions Can And Do Mirror Health Of A Person

The face reflects distress, weakness, anxiety, depression, and even minor degrees of indisposition. Severe pain is especially difficult to conceal. This is best demonstrated by children who tend to be uninhibited and less likely to put on an act. Youngsters wrinkle the brow when the head hurts, but adults are more inclined to hold the head, massage the eyeballs, and moan and groan.

Chest pain is associated with suppressed breathing and dilatation or sharpening of the nostrils. When distress originates in the abdomen, the upper lip is drawn in. Another example is th typical expression seen in a child with adenoids The open mouth and vacant stare detract from the appearance of the boy or girl. Cheeks and nasal bones are unduly prominent and the eyes look heavy.

PALENESS USUALLY is blamed on anemia but other disturbances also produce a washed out look. Office pallor stems from spending too much time indoors. A yellowish hue implies jaundice.

Ruddiness, on the other hand, may also be misleading. This complexion is seen in gout, high blood pressure, Bright's disease, and polcythemia (too much blood). The flushed, tense face and congested eyes of the typhus victim have led to colorful diagnostic terms such as "bull face" and "rabbit eyes."

LACK OF THYROID causes a bloated, heavy look with thick, dry, and scaly skin. Eyelid puffiness may be so marked, the victim is forced to try to see through tiny slits. These manifestations change when the gland becomes overly active. The eyes may bulge, and the expression is anxious and staring. The lips quiver and the individual gives the impression of being "all hipped up."

Many neurological disorders, such as parkinsonism (shaking palsy) and Bell's palsy, are recognized immediately. The same can be said of mumps and a stiff neck. Centruies ago, the characteristic expression of the deathly ill or exhausted was described by Hippocratic facies.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.

SMOKING

Mrs. C.Y. writes: Does smoking during pregnancy affect the child?

REPLY

Nicotine is absorbed thru the placenta. As a result, pregnant women are advised to use cigarets in moderation. It would be better if they stopped smoking. The babies of smoking mothers usually weigh less than normal at birth.

SORE SPINE TIP

REPLY

It could be but a more likely cause is injury to the coccyx or the soft tissues surrounding it. Coccygodynia often follows sitting down suddenly or sliding down stairs. Sometimes trauma to this bone can be traced to faulty posture.

BROWNISH SPOTS

Mrs. G. writes: I'm 63 and in perfect health but have developed large, brownish, unsightly spots on top of both hands .What can these be?

REPLY

Probably senile freckles, which are quite common in people your age. Should these lesions become rough and raised, we call them senile keratoses.

MOUTH PAIN

O.P. writes: What are some of the origins of pain in the roof of the mouth?

REPLY

Today's Health Hint—

Lab Files Big Medical Suit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A $24 million antitrust suit has been filed in U.S. District Court by an Oregon mail-order medical laboratory against leading California medical organizations.

United Medical Laboratories of Portland asserted in the suit, filed here Tuesday, that a fee-setting schedule adopted in 1969 by the California Medical Association discourages physicians from using commercial laboratories and results in higher costs to the public.

The CMA was holding its convention here when the suit was filed, and its attorney, Howard P. Hassard, said CMA's house of delegates directed its staff to re-study complaints filed earlier by the Portland firm.

To Superior Court

Robert Lynn Hall, 18, of no known address, yesterday was bound over to Marin Superior Court on a charge of burglarizing a Forest Knolls residence Feb. 28. He is to appear in court Monday for arraignment.

A $3 Million Park Bond Issue Decided Upon

A $3 million park bond issue for purchase and development has been decided on by the Novato Parks and Recreation Commission, according to director Edward W. Adams.

The commission increased the proposed purchase price of $500,000 for the 67 acre O'Hair property, to $600,000 so that the city could purchase two houses which are on one corner of the adjacent property.

Final plans for the park bond issue will be made by the commission at 8 p.m. Monday at the Novato Community House, Adams said. This will then go before the city council at 8 p.m., March 24.

The board accepted the director's monthly report that 15,389 attended recreation functions in February, an increase of 1,307 over the 14,082 in February of last year.

San Franciscans Accused Of Pot

Four San Francisco youths were booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall yesterday after they were found with beer, pills and drug paraphernalia in their car, Sausalito police reported.

Police stopped the four at 1:30 p.m. in their car to ask why the youths were not in school. The officer reportedly smelled beer in the car and found three bottles of beer. Further search produced three yellow capsules believed to be a barbiturate, and an opium pipe containing possible marijuana residue.

Arrested were Eddie Alvarez, 16 , and David Pei-Ching Lee, Howard Amin Scott and Michael Quecke, all 17, on suspicion of possessing dangerous drugs, alcoholic beverages and narcotics paraphernalia.

Argentine Air Force Commander Resigns

An announcement gave no reasons for the resignation. However, unconfirmed reports linked Zuviria's action with air force dissatisfaction with the amount of money allocated this year for re-equipment purposes. Zuviria, 48, was named commander in chief in August 1968.

Library To Ask For Extra Funds

The Sausalito library board has voted to ask the city for approximately $825 in additional funds next year to finance Social Security coverage for the library's part-time permanent employees and for microfilming of 40 volumes of the Sausalito News, according to Librarian Kathleen Worsley.

Mrs. Worsley said the requests will be presented to City Mgr. George M. Patterson later this week.

She said the volumes of the now-defunct newspaper, from 1885 to 1926, will cost $225 to put on film. The Social Security coverage will cost about $600, she reported.

In addition, the library board has agreed to ask that part-time employees be paid for library holidays as are full-time employees.

WHEN TIMES ARE HARD...

Recent snows in Washington, D.C., made foraging a chancy affair for the capital pigeons. This one has learned to help itself to handouts from the squirrels, who are able either to cadge peanuts from human passers-by, or to dig them out from hiding places beneath the snow.

A Black Leads Tennessee Students

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Although the student body is predominantly Southern, and more than 90 per cent white, the student government president at the University of Tennessee is an Afro-coifed, dark glasses-sporting black activist named Jimmy Baxter.

How was he elected?

"I made a simple assumption—that if I was the only one saying relevant things, the students would support me. I assumed students were intelligent and mature people, who were tired of hearing promises they weren't interested in and that couldn't be delivered anyway," Baxter said in an interview, adding:

"I don't think my election shows a decrease in racism, but a higher degree of sophistication on the part of the students. There were people who were ble to support mea who wouldn't want a black person in their fraternity or their neighborhood."

Baxter, a 26-year old senior majoring in economics, is now at work on a program to get students a greater role in university decisions. He recently threatened to call a student strike unless student reform demands were but says there's no such need for a strike because the Tenneset administration "appears to be working in good faith with us" and that reform proposals are being implemented.

"When we say student participation," Baxter says, "some people think we want to get rid of the faculty and the administration and run the university our selves. This is certainly not the case," he explains.

Faculty evaluation as one area where students should have a voice, he says, and students should be the ones to make decisions which affect only students.

What sort of background does Baxter spring from?

"My father was a laborer with a plumbing outfit. This was when I started realizing the effects of the system, at an early age not understanding it very much. But like my father was a plumber. He couldn't join the union. He worked for a plumbing company, and like he did exactly the same work that the plumbers did. Most of the time he did most of the work." Baxter said his father, who died in had earned about $50 a week, while the white plumbers were earning much more.

"The choices were very limited for me. I couldn't afford to go to school and I wasn't really sure that I wanted to, and when I tried to get a job, I certainly wasn't going to settle for that." So he joined the Air Force. "I went to computer school. I went up through the ranks (to sergeant in four years). For me, it was an opportunity, compared to trying to make it in Knoxville."

But he said he found himself surrounded by what he considered a great amount of incom-

Unsexy Moths Used To Protect Cotton

WASHINGTON (AP) —Scientists plan to drop about 192 million very unsexy pink bollworm moths over Southern California cotton fields this year to cool the ardor of more virle natural cousins romping in farmers' crops.

The Agriculture Department said Friday the adult moths will be sterilized by irradiation and then dropped from low-flying planes over cotton fields in the Coachella Valley and parts of Kern County.

Scientists say the sterile moths—both male and female—will upset the reproductive cycles of the natural moths, thereby reducing their output of destructive larvae.

Moths mate more than once, a Department spokesman said, but the sterile intruders are expected to reduce chances of fertiization by spreading out the action.

A female natural moth may mate with a sterile male and then be seduced by a fertile male. But effectiveness of the second union will be reduced by the prior experience, the spokesman explained.

Moth dropping will begin next week and will continue into October, or for about 240 days. Around 800,000 sterilized moths will be dropped each day, the department said.

This will be the third and largest annual moth-dropping program conducted in the Southern California area. It will be handled cooperatively by the USDA, state agriculture departments of California and Arizona, and cotton growers.

Female Tipplers Are Catching Up To Males

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ten years ago, statisticians figured there were five male alcoholics to each woman alcoholic. Now the ratio could be 3 to 1, or even 2 to 1, according to the National Council on Alcoholism.

Most alcoholic women attribute their drinking to boredom, loneliness, depression, marital troubles and unwillingness to accept getting older, the council says.

Heavy Barrage

NEW YORK (UPI)—During the last 10 days of the siege of Berlin in April, 1945, Russian artillery fire dropped 40,000 tons of shells on the beleagured city, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Saga Of San Rafael's Chicken Little

SAN RAFAEL (UPI) — It was not thes ky that fell on Chicken Little, it was Maggie, the neighbors' terrier who tore up the chicken's back and resulted in troublesome insurance claim No. 905-239650-90A.

The story starts with an egg. This egg was bought by David Noah, 13, San Rafael, and his sister, Kelly, 11. They put their egg in an incubator as participants in the Rock Ridge 4-H Club project at the Marinwood Community Center.

The creature pecked his way through the shell during the first week of July, 1969. Kelly and David promptly named the tiny yellow furry chick Chicken Little. He turned into a white rooster which did tricks, perched on the childrens' shoulders, ate out of their hands and had the run of the enclosed yard at their home.

BLOODLINES UNKNOWN

Nobody knows, says Leo Noah, the childrens' father, a car salesman, "whether Chicken Little is a leghorn or a white plymouth rock. Who cares?"

The Noahs live in a neighborhood of pets—horses, cows, rabbits, dogs, and cats, Capt. Richard H. Stansbury lives next door. One day his terrier, Maggie, jumped Chicken Little's enclosure, and attacked the bird.

"Mommy, Mommy," cried Kelly, "Chicken Little has been killed!"

THE FILE STARTS

The veterinarian's bill, dated Dec. 14, was $59. And so the correspondence on Insurance Claim No. 905-239650-90A began.

"This is a very unusual type of claim and we will need full details relative to this incident before we can advise you as to your legal liability',' the San Antonio, Tex., insurance firm wrote stiffly to Capt. Stansbury who had presented the bill. The company, United Services Automobile Association, asked him to fill out a liability form in Detail.

"Also, please advise where this fight between the chicken and your dog took place and whether either of the two animals was in a pen or confined in any form or fashion," instructions added.

Stansbury filled out his Policyholders Loss Report and attached the $59 veterinarian's bill, forwarding both Dec. 14.

'LITTLE UNUSUAL'

"The claim which you forwarded is a little unusual to say the very least," came the reply on Jan. 13. "A $59 hospital bill for the cure of a chicken is somewhat out of the ordinary and quite excessive. . .Your responsibility in this matter would be limited to the value of the chicken at fair market value.

"While I am not well acquainted with California prices of chickens," the insurance company spokesman wrote, "I would assume that is is somewhere in the vicinity somewhere in the vicinity of 40 cents or 50 cents a pound at the very most, and in all probability would be closer to 25 cents a pound. Please advise us at your convenience of the exact circumstances surrounding this attack by your dog on this chicken..."

Stansbury mailed Liability Report (Number etc.) form on Jan. 7, the company acknowledging.

"Would you please inquire of your neighbor, Mrs. Leo S. Noah, as to the fair market value of his pet rooster which was injured by your dog?" the company asked. "If the fair market value according to your neighbor is more than $5.00 or $10.00, I would appreciate having a detailed description of the animal in question as well as an explanation as to why the fair market vaule is in excess of that amount."

So, Noah wrote Stansbury and said, in part:

"The company attitude about the 'market value' of the chicken puzzles us greatly. How can one put a 'market value' on a pet — whether it be a chicken, a dog, a snake, a horse, or whatever? This particular chicken is definitely a pet, raised from the egg, and is not being raised 'for the market'." He said several other insurance companies had told him this was "a legitimate claim."

Noah added a little needle at the end of his letter. "Incidentally," his postcript read, "we have checked with claims departments of several insurance compaines, including our own, and also have an opinion from the Insurance Commissioners Office in Sacramento. They also concur that this is a legitimate claim."

Stansbury had a reply to his letter of Jan 26, with Noah's letter enclosed, from the insurance company spokesman.

"I was sorry to see that he (Noah) has been misinformed by some other insurance company as to your liability policy covering medical costs of a chicken," the reply read," . . .Property damage in this instance would be limited to the fair market value of the animal which was injured. I note from reviewing Mr. Noah's letter that he has an opinion from the Insurance Commissioners Office in Sacramento reference this loss. I would appreciate your having him forward a copy of this letter to the writer for his personal review and edification."

The letter went on to say that the insurance firm would "be willing" to reimburse Noah "up to a maximum of $10 for this loss" and enclosed release papers for Noah to sign. By now, however, Noah, was up tight, even if bemused by the correspondence. He now wrote to the company directly on Feb. 9.

"The subject animal which was grievously injured was acquired by my children while still in its shell," he said. "They lovingly incubated this bird and brought it forth into their lives. It has been loved, protected and cared for in a manner to make it a most important part of their daily existence. . . My children suffered a traumatic shock and great suffering at the sight of the pain inflicted on their pet. . .

"You may wish to measure the value of this chicken by the pound (35 cents at California prices) but the place that this bird fills in the lives of my children and their anguish and tears at the sight of this attack could not be measured at any price. . ."

A number of days thereafter Noah received an answer from the insurance carrier which read: "To amicably dispose of this matter you will find attached to this letter a release in full in the amount of $59.00.

"If you will sign this attached release and return it...we will promptly forward to you the association's draft in that amount."

Thus ends claim No. 905-239650-90A.

Israeli Air Force May Be World's Best In Quality

"The Israelis operate a system with a few of the best pilots rather than many average pilots," Rogers says. "I firmly believe that the Israeli Flight School has the highest washout rate in the world."

As a result, he says, Israel's air force is "far smaller than Egypt's."

"Numbers don't tell the story," he added. "Many experts, including some in the Pentagon, believe that the IAF is pound-for-pound the best combat air force in the world."

The producer says the exact size of the IAF is a closely guarded secret and censorship prevented him from showing the size of the flight school's graduating class.

Rogers and his crew who spent a month in Israel filming the report, flew over the country with the IAF. It was the first time non-Israeli newsmen were permitted to film a jet squad exercise in the air.

Deposits Unclaimed

NEW YORK (AP) — American motorists apparently seldom reclaim the deposit money they pay for soft drinks in bottles. They throw away three times as many returnables as they do one-way, no-deposit bottles, according to a national survey.

The survey showed that more than 40 per cent of all bottles littered along highways—beer and soft drink combined—are of the returnable variety.

Keep America Beautiful, Inc., the national anti-litter organization, sponsored the study of roadside litter, which was conducted by the Highway Research Board in cooperation with highway departments of 29 states.

The survey found that paper was by far the most common item of litter along highways, accounting for 59 per cent of the total. Glass and plastics were least common, each category amoutning to approximately 6 per cent of the litter total.

Prosperity, Heart Woes Are Linked

CHICAGO (UPI)—The higher the national income and the more cars in the nation, the higher the rate of coronary-related deaths in the United States, an Air Force doctor says in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

"Physical inactivity may well be a factor in these correlations," Lt. Col. Kenneth H. Cooper said, "and exercise may aid in the prevention of coronary and other types of cardiovascular disease and the rehabilitation of such patients."

But, Cooper said in an article entitled "Management of Exercising Patient," exercise should be undertaken only with the advice of a doctor. And what the doctor tells his patient may depend on the patient's age, as well as his general health.

For those 30 to 40, a complete physical with an electrocardiogram within the preceding three months.

For patients 41 to 59, he said, the electrocardiogram should be taken twice—once with the patient at rest and again while exercising. For patients 60 and over, the exam should be done immediately before exercise is undertaken, Cooper said.

At least two hours should be allowed between eating and exercise, he said. Maximum exercise to exhaustion should be avoided during periods of temperature extremes, a "recovery period" of at least ten minutes should be allowed after exercise, and sitting or standing still during the recovery should be avoided.

Dutch Dogs Rise

THE HAGUE (UPI)—Dogs are winning out over cats as preferred household pets, according to a nationwide poll. The poll said shortly after World War II 30 out of 100 Dutch families kept cats, but the number has dropped to 11. Dogs on the other hand have been gaining favor and are now in 18 out of 100 households, the poll showed.

PAKISTAN CHEWING GUM

British Hated It, But Pan Survives

KARACHI (UPI)—Indignant at the red betel stains on their railway coaches and waiting rooms, the British rulers of undivided India referred to the habit of "pan" (betel-nut) eating as "chewing the cud."

The scorn did not discourage the Pakistanis to whom life without a pan is unthinkable.

$70 MILLION HABIT

Pakistanis spend an average $70 million a year consuming pan which they claim soothes the nerves, aids digestion and has subtle therapeutic values.

To the uninitiated, the pan is composed of little slivers of hard betel-nut wrapped in a betel leaf coated with lime, a pinch of tobacco and, at times, a toouch of opium.

But it is only the uneducated Pakistani who spits out the scarlet juice mingled with saliva that stain most walls and floors.

MUST BE IMPORTED

Betel nut is shipped to West Pakistan from the East Wing, the original home of "pan" eaters. But in spite of 35,000 tons grown in East Pakistan in 1969, the country had to import an additional 2,500 tons of the betel nut from Malaysia and Ceylon.

Worried about the heavy expenditure, Usmani, chief of Pakistan's atomic energy commission, pleaded for an end to pan-chewing so that the money could be invested on scientific projects.

Pakistanis have paid little heed to the plea and would rather go without food than pan.

ADDICTION'S ORIGIN

The addiction to pan goes back a few centuries, and is attributed to India's courtesans who used to chew betel-nut in order to stain their lips a luscious red.

Today, Karachi, with a population of nearly four million, has more than 40,000 pan shops owned mainly by refugees.

TWO CENTS, TWO DOLLARS

The customers are often burly Pathan tribesmen, Sindhis and Punjabis who patronize the cheap pan-wallas (pan-sellers) for a two cent pan.

Prices of pan vary according to the ingredients that are used. An ordinary pan containing a touch of lime, a thick red mixture called "katha" chopped betel nut and cardoman sells for two cents.

Besides India and Pakistan, betel leaves and nuts are grown and eaten in parts of Ceylon, Burma, Thailand, the Malay Archipelago, the Philippines and even East Africa.

Everywhere, pan has its own traditions, meanings and ingredients.

SOCIAL STATUS

In Pakistan, pan-making has developed into a fine art, and its chewing is often a social necessity.

A boy's mother may ask her prospective daughter-in-law to make her a pan and judge the girl's refinement from the way she measures the ingredients and wraps the leaf.

African Dental Racket Bared

ARUSHA, Northern Tanzania (AP) — Bush "dentists" in the Kilimanjaro region of northern Tanzania have been making an easy living by telling mothers that their babies' first teeth are "nylon". They charge one pound to remove the teeth with a sharp knife.

An official warning poster issued by the regional medical officer says that a number of children aged between 6 and 12 months have been seriously injured by the self-styled dentists. The poster points out that the sicknesses which the "dentists" claim are symptomatic of "nylon teeth" are characteristic of normal teething, and warns parents not to be misled by the slick talking tricksters.

U.S.-Peru Tuna War Puzzling To Diplomats

LIMA (UPI)—The Peruvian Navy and tuna clippers from the United States appear to be conducting their own individual ship-to-ship diplomacy in the Pacific these days.

There have been instances in the last few weeks in which the Peruvian Navy has asked U.S. fishing boats to leave Peruvian waters if they didn't have the required fishing license.

But at the same time, two other fishing boats from the United States have been escorted into Peruvian ports and have paid the fees they claim they don't have to pay because they are fishing in international waters.

The difference in the way the Peruvian Navy is treating the different fishing boats has diplomats scratching their heads.

One of the instances involving the San Diego-based Hornet was significant, diplomatic sources said, because the ship was not asked to pay any kind of fine.

Under similar circumstances, the Western King from Seattle, Wash, was taken in to the northern port of Talara Feb. 24 and made to pay a $10,048 fine.

"It seems that Peru is exercising a hell-of-a-lot of restraint," one high ranking diplomatic source said.

But there have been indications some of the tuna skippers were "scrapping for trouble", said one source close to the fishing industry leaders. The source said these boats apparently were the ones which were not just warned, although others in the same waters were asked to buy a Peruvian license or get out.

"The navy might just get fed up", he said. "Personalities are involved in this thing".

The State Department under the Nixon administration has been handling the problem of fishing accomodations with the Latin American nations as gently as possible.

For example, an amendment attached to the U.S. Ship Loan Act says that nations which seize U.S. fishing boats must return boats on loan to them from the United States.

Diplomatic sources say the way the U.S. law is written it appears the United States could ask at any time for the return of the U.S. destroyer presently on loan to Peru.

But although the legislation is there, the State Department is not making any move to enforce it.

Another sore spot with Peruvians has been the protective U.S. taxes on imported tuna. The taxes serve to protect the U.S. tuna industry, but they virtually have eliminated competition from Peru which claims the waters where much of the tuna is caught by U.S. fishing boats. As a result, the Peruvian fishing industry has concentrated mostly on the non-edible anchovy which are used for fish meal, and the tuna are caught by foreign boats.

Historic Span Work Is Ordered

ANKARA (London Express Service) — The contract for the Bsphrus bridge to link Europe and Asia across the historic Bosphorus waterway has been signed in Ankara.

This project, which has haunted the imagination of men since the days when Leonardo da Vinci in the year 1499 wrote to Sultan Beyazit with the first design of the bridge, has now been firmly awarded to an Anglo-German group consisting of Cleveland Engineering of Great Britain, and Hochtief of Germany.

D. C. Dickson of Cleveland signed the contract with Turgut Gulez, Turkish minister of public works. The contract's foreign exchange value is worth $32.-640,000 of which $8,400,000 will be spent in England and for which long-term financing has been granted Turkey by the British Ministry of Overseas Development.

Eggs No Different Except To Housewife

LONDON (UPI)—The only difference between a brown and a white egg is the color of the shell but Britain's largest poultry firm has spent 25,000 pounds ($600,000) breeding a chicken which will lay the darker variety.

"For some reason housewives insist the egg be brown," said Roger Mills, director of Sykes International. "We spent six years perfecting a bird to meet the requirements although there's not a speck of difference between a white and a brown egg."

PRECARIOUS PERCH AT 1972 OLYMPIC SITE

Workmen in Munich, Germany, look like flies struggling in a spider's web as they climb a newly constructed tent roof at Munich Stadium to cover it with a plastic foil. Before the stadium can be used for the 1972 Olympic Games, tests must be made to determine best material for roof which won't interfere with live color television transmissions. London Bridge Is Going Up —In Desert

LAKE HAVASU CITY, Ariz. (UPI) — "London Bridge is going up, going up, going up..."

So sang the school children of Lake Havasu City on Sept. 23, 1968, when the lord mayor of London, Sir Gilbert Inglefield, presided at the laying of the foundation stone of London Bridge in the historic old span's unlikely new home—in Arizona sands along the Colorado River.

The song was a little premature then but today the transplanted bridge is in fact beginning to take root and ere long will begin to take shape.

With a few weeks, stone masons will begin fitting pieces of quarried British granite to the footings of the bridge, which will span a channel at the edge of Lake Havasu on the Colorado. Workmen are now putting the finishing touches on oval-shaped concrete footings which will form the bases for the five arches of the old bridge.

McCulloch Oil Corp., which is developing the planned community of Lake Havasu City, purchased London Bridge on April 18, 1968, from the Corporation of London for $2,460,000.

The bridge, dismantled stone by stone for shipment to the United States is to be replaced by a new structure over the Thames.

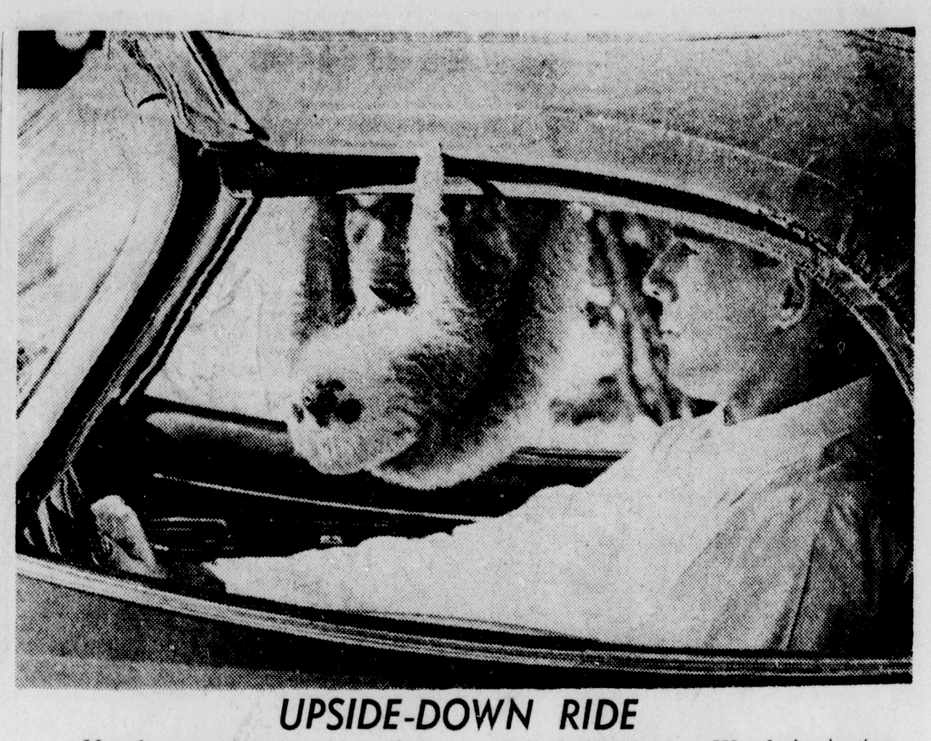

Not all of the stone from the original bridge will find its way to the Arizona desert, but much has and "London Bridge" in Arizona eventually will look virtually the same as the original to the casual observer.

There will be some changes between the old and the new. The bridge will not be as wide as the original because the pedestrian walks at the edge will not be needed here. And only the facing stones, decorative railing, balustrades and corbels will be used.

Whereas the entire bridge in London was built of quarried granite blocks, the new bridge will be of poured reinforced concrete, with the facing blocks fitted on the outside.

Carl Baker, who is directing the bridge construction project for McCulloch, said the target date for completion of the structure is May 1971.

The McCulloch firm is counting heavily on the bridge as a tourist attraction for the new community. It is estimated the project will cost nearly $7 million, not counting a planned multi-million dollar resort hotel and complex of shops which will surround the base of the bridge at the eastern end.

UPSIDE-DOWN RIDE

Nearly everyone at some time or other takes his or her pet for a ride in the family car, but few creatures could be comfortable watching the world go by upside down. The sloth belonging to Ward Arrington of Miami, Fla., however, thinks that's the only way to go.

Collegians Can Now Shoe Steeds

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP) — Now you can go to college and learn to shoe horses.

Idaho State University offered three 15-hour courses this winter in the dying art of shoeing horses. Courses were conducted at Pocatello, Twin Falls and Preston, Idaho.

Don Applegate, owner and trainer of race horses, taught the course using slides and visual aids for lectures. As a practical application of the instruction each student was required to shoe his own horse.

Theater Courting Beats Tossing Rocks At Screen

IPSWICH, England (AP) — Young men in this east Anglian town will be allowed into one local cinema only if they come with a girl friend.

The rule, made by cinema manager David Lowe, is aimed at stamping out rowdyism. He made his decision after several local lads had started letting off fireworks in the hall.

"My experience is that these young men behave a lot better if they have a girl with them," Lowe said.

Air Pollution Even Hits Nonsmokers

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — A professor studying the affects of air pollution on textile materials says living in polluted air is like "smoking an extra pack of cigarettes a day."

Dr. Victor Salvin, professor of home economics at the University of North Carolina, blames about 65 per cent of air pollution on automobile exhausts.

Finally Gives Up

SRINAGAR, India (AP) — Twenty-five years ago Raju, a herdsman, was told by a tourist that stones and sand in the Sonamarg valley near here were mixed with gold. Raju, now 50, recently announced he had given up his unsuccessful search for wealth and had gone back to his flock

Pill Warning May Stir A Storm

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration's announcement last week that it plans to require a warning of hazards in each package of birth control pills sets the scene for a classic industry-government struggle.

If recent FDA history and the early response of some drug industry and medical people are any indication, it may be a long time before leaflets mentioning the possibility of falta blood clots or cancer find their way into packages sold at the corner drug store.

"The text of the FDA's proposal raises serious questions about the relationship between the doctor and the patient," said the American Medical Association.

Although congressmen and senators generally shy away from overt attempts to influence a regulatory agency, the swirling storm aroused by the hearings may have changed that and added still another factor to complicate FDA plans.

Sen Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., a member of the subcommittee who repeatedly asserted the hearings were weighted against the pill, says he already has talked to Edwards once about the leaflet.

"I plan to visit with Edwards some more," Dole added.

"I'm not certain," Dole added, "whether this is something of a reaction to the hearings and whether the commissioner thought he had to do something."

This is a contention the subcommittee chairman, Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., vigorously rejects. He said the FDA action was one of the stated goals of the hearings when they began in January and that the subcommittee stands vindicated.

Despite all these comments, the FDA's general counsel said he expects no srious opposition and that drug makers will be required to include the leaflets within four months.

The proposed wording will be published in The Federal Register probably within a week. Comment will be invited for 30 days after which the FDA will evaluate the comment, then publish the final wording with a deadline for companies to comply.

Under current regulations, drugmakers are required to supply a package insert citing the various known and suspected hazards of the pill only in their shipments to druggists who then pass the inserts along to doctors.

The insert has been required since 1961, about a year after the pills went on the market.

The FDA action is unprecedented in the sense that no urescription drug as widely used as the pill—an estimated 8.5 million women take it in this country—ever has required such a warning.

"Oral contraceptives have generally been regarded more as a convenience for the patient than as a medication. The patient must share responsibility both morally and legally," the AMA added in a statement it asked to be attributed to an unnamed official at the Chicago headquarters.

A spokesman for the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association said the PMA is studying wording of the leaflet as proposed by FDA Commissioner Charles C. Edwards.

As proposed, it would be a reminder to women of a long list of known and suspected hazards Senate monopoly subcommittee that their doctors presumably already have warned them about.

Although the PMA spokesman said the association would have no immediate comment, a knowledgeable industry source echoed the AMA sentiment.

He said the leaflet would be "putting words in the doctor's mouth ... The government would be making a decision for the physician."

This source said also that while some drug makers might speak out individually or file an objection wtih the FDA, the industry most likely would follow its usual practcie of working through doctors.

This army of mostly private practitioners has periodically brought great pressure on the FDA through mail, telephone calls and personal visits.

A spokesman for G. D. Searle Co., largsst producer of the pill with a reported 30 per cent of the market, declined to say what if anything it would do about the leaflets.

Although a company spokesman said the firm has proposed giving the patient more information that she now gets in the pill package, he made it clear Searle is not happy with the proposed wording.

The spokesman said any leaflet listing hazards should include a comparison of the risks of taking oral contraceptives with the risks of other methods of contraception. He said it should spell out also the risks of pregnancy and the effectiveness of pills in preventing it.

The spokesman did not suggest how this could be done without making the proposed leaflet—already four pages long—so bulky that it would be impractical.

Computers Silencing Noisy War Games

A technique has been developed by Bendix engineers for simulating naval battle conditions so true to life that missile air defense systems can be evaluated without even a practice shot being fired. It's all done with digital inputs and computer printouts.

Storm Victims

A Dish Too Much

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) — The food didn't improve at Nick's restaurant, but truck drivers suddenly started arriving in droves. They came to be served by blonde Diane Belle, who waited on tables wearing a see-through negligee. The police forced Nick to scratch the added attraction off the menu.

Tennessee Collegians Elect Black Leader

petence and inefficiency in the military. So he got out and enrolled in the university.

What about being black on a predominantly white campus?

"I think the confrontation between the university and black students is yet to come."

"The type of black students who come to U.T. are generally pretty middleclass oriented. They still have a lot of faith in the system, and they're still attempting to w ork through the system.

"But they're beginning to stop apologizing for being black. They're realizing that this university is their university.

"The way the administration handles this awakening will determine thea ction that black students, as a group, will have to take."

Baxter feels there are few black-white conflicts among the students because there is little contact. He describes the relationship as one of "peaceful coexistence," but not really friendship.

Is there something in the black experience in this country that whites don't understand, and maybe never can?

"Definitely. Simply, it's just a matter of being a member of a group that's been oppressed ever since it's been here. Whose entire orientation toward life is how to make it from day to day. You learn to survive, you don't learn how to live. This certainly makes a different type of person.

"And if you're one who's never had to contend with this, you don't relate in the same way to similar circumstances. I think it comes very close to being impossible for white people to understand."

But Baxter says he thinks the system in a university can be made to work, at least in a university. "I think it's possible for the students, faculty and administration to work together in the best interests of the university," he says.

"I just don't know. I just don't have any idea where I'm going to end up," he says with a smile.

Students Await Steeds Of Spring

But the two Leadore high seniors said they'll ride their horses again next spring. They say they can make better time than by bus.

Tape Recorder Will Guide Park Tourists

JACKSON, Wyo. (AP) — This summer, visitors to Grand Teton, Great Smoky, Glacier and Rocky Mountain national parks and to federally protected Banff and Jasper parks in Canada, can take taped guided tours.

Tourists can get slip-in, prerecorded tape cassettes at these parks, and rent equipment to play them. Placed in the family car, the voice on the cassette points out sights not to be missed and provides information about natural history, human history, wildlife, park facilities, etc.

Kentucky Blue Laws Confusing To Courts

FRANKFURT, Ky. (AP) — Present confusion over the Sunday-closing laws in Kentucky could probably be summed up by a statement in a 1914 state Court of Appeals decision on the problem.

"The law regards that as necessary which the common sense of the country, in its ordinary mode of doing business, regards as being necessary."
